Souris Father-Son Banquet Attended By More Than 100

SCOURIS — The more than 100 who attended the annual Souris Scout father-son banquet, held Thursday night in St. Mary's Hall, made the occasion the biggest such function ever held in the Kings County town.

The evening got underway with the viewing of a number of displays staged by the scouts, which included wood-carvings, knots and a campfire.

The highlight of the evening was a display of paintings done by each of the five units, which were judged by Mrs. Vernon Poole.

The Tiger patrol was declared the winner of the display, winning with a painting by Garry Driscoll, with a scene depicting waterfalls in the Rockies. The main points sought in the judging were color and originality.

Scout Master Charles A. MacPhee presented a plaque to the Tiger patrol, which was accepted by the young artist.

The guest speaker Cpl. C. Craig, RCMP, gave an address on the value of scouting in preparing a young lad for good citizenship, particularly in regard to training rules and the benefits of knowing who is your neighbor.

Brief addresses were also given by all of the head table guests, who were, Chairman George Mullally, Rev. P. Dunphy, Rev. Elton Adams, Cub Master Irene Kassner, Scout Master Charles A. MacPhee, scout John McQuaid and Cub John Corbin.

The various toasts proposed were: The Queen, George Mullally; the memory of Lord Baden-Powell, Donald White; to the fathers, David Kassner.
