

Employment Pickup In Queens And Kings Noted

During the past ten days employment in Kings and Queens Counties has picked up considerably according to the Charlotte-town National Employment Office. Many of those returning to work are construction tradesmen and labourers and the prospects for the building trades this year appears to be excellent.

The total number of people on claims is also dwindling rapidly, but not all who are being dropped from the list of claimants are obtaining work. Many of them have drawn all of the money that was due them. It may be several weeks before most of these people are employed again.

Mr. John B. Murley, manager of the local office, wishes to emphasize that although the employment situation is improving it is no better here than in many parts of Canada, and at no time during the winter was the local office able to make the claim that the Charlotte-town office area was better off than other parts of Canada.

"Only lately," said Mr. Murley, "has there been any distinct back-to-work movement. There would, said he, "be more than 1500 people returning to work in the fishing industry beginning the first of May." Most of these were fishermen, but hundreds of them would be employed in lobster and fish processing plants.

From a peak load of claims totalling more than 4000 the figure has now dwindled to 2897. This, of course, includes the two counties of Kings and Queens which come under the jurisdiction of the Charlotte-town office. The number of people in Charlotte-town alone still drawing benefits totals 781.

It will be seen that the claims total, from a high of more than 4000, is now approximately 2900. In mentioning these figures Mr. Murley cautioned again that perhaps only one-third of the people who were no longer eligible to draw benefits had found work. There was good prospects, however, that those who had not found work would do so very shortly. This was particularly true of the fishermen and those who normally work in fishing plants.

Local Lionettes Elect Officers

The regular monthly meeting was held on Thursday, April of the Charlotte-town Lionettes 24th, at the Charlotte-town Hotel with 14 members present. Election of Officers took place and the following Lionettes will hold office for the coming year: immediate past president, Mrs. Vernon Williams; president, Mrs. Joe Molloy; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Younker; secretary, Mrs. Jack Stevenson; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Henning.

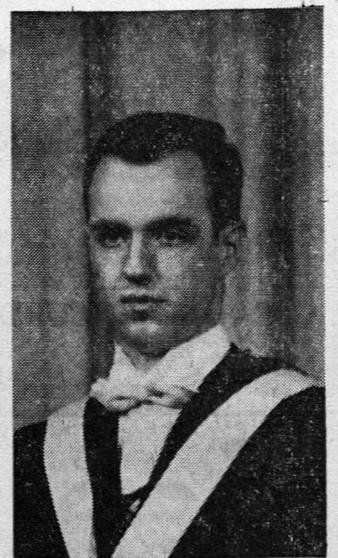

Committees: Press and Publicity, Mrs. Eddie Michael; Ways and Means, Mrs. Ernest H. Lord, Mrs. Lou Bagnall, Mrs. Chas. Michael; Sick and Visiting, Mrs. T. Knudsen.

The remainder of the evening was spent reading essays on "Care of the Eyes" which were sent in to the Lions Club from various schools in the city and surrounding districts in response to the contest being held throughout the province. Several very good essays were picked out for final judging by the Lions Club.

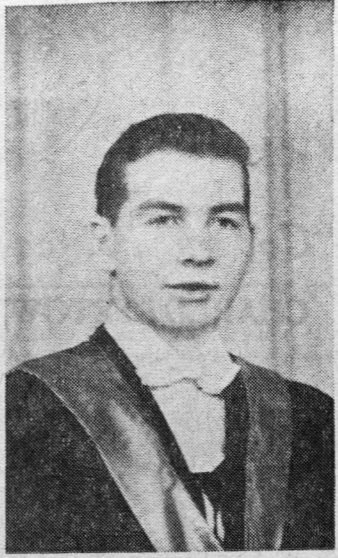

At the conclusion of the meeting delicious refreshments were served.
