TEACHERS HOLD Workshop At Stella Maris H. S.
A number of teachers from Stella Maris High School and surrounding districts met at the high school for an evening workshop recently. Mrs. Jennie Stevenson very capably acted as chairman.
The principal of the High School demonstrated the use of filmstrips as an excellent teaching aid. The film library issues a catalogue which lists filmstrips for all curriculum subjects. As the High School had recently bought a projector, the teachers were making fitting use of it in all classes.
Chief topics were the problem of the child and the marking of spelling, drawing, writing and composition. Trying to answer pertinent questions and solve individual problems kept interest at a high peak throughout the evening.
EXAMS MISLEAD
It was noted that pupils who sometimes make high marks in a spelling examination can be most careless regarding spelling of common words of everyday usage in their ordinary written work. Is this downright carelessness? Should marks be taken off for spelling in all written work? It was generally thought that a spelling examination should include dictation and copying a poem or paragraph from reader. Teachers were still "talking shop" over tea cups as the meeting came to a close in the Home Economics Department. Next meeting is scheduled for mid-November.
