

JOCK TALK MICKEY PLACE

Moncton 6&5 UPEI 5&3

When we were young (and contrary to some of our detractors, that was long after Confederation) there was a popular song "What Can I Say Dear After I Say I'm Sorry?" and that title summarizes very well our feeling about the two one-goal losses (throw out the score on an empty net) that we suffered over the weekend. We felt our Panthers played well and gave their very best efforts in both games but we must concede that Moncton earned their wins and, as their own coach observed, played their best games of the season. For the excellent way we played we don't think any excuses or apologies are necessary. We were greatly distressed however, at the loss of Donnie Murnaghan whose broken collar bone puts him out for the season. He will be sorely missed in the UNB series & hopefully, in the playoffs at Moncton if we succeed in knocking out Gerry Bell and his Red Devils. Any team would miss a player of Donnie's calibre.

We usually like to make light of events but, this time, we'll depart from pleasantries and comment adversely on the manner in which some fans used the Mon-

FOR SALE:one soggy piano

Bernadine Hall finally got their piano back from the Barn last Wednesday. It took only two weeks of begging on the part of Laurie Quigan and others to the Maintenance Department to achieve this feat. Remember the weather on Wednesday - windy, pouring rain, etc.? Maintenance decided that it would be a perfect way to move pianos. So the piano arrived at Bernadine via half-ton

Such actions may be excellent therapy for those with psychiatric troubles but we can't see why normal people should descend to that level -- particularly so when contrasted with the deportment of the large number of spirited but polite fans who root for the Blue Eagles. One of their Radio Announcers told me they are used to it -- they get it in almost every rink they visit!!! Ever wonder why there is a Separatist Movement?

truck, four maintenance men and NO tarpaulin. The result was one soaking wet piano. Does one realize what happens to a varnished, perishable object when it sits on the back of an open truck in the driving rain? Rain certainly does nothing for to rust strings. The men were politely asked if Maintenance had a tarpaulin in a varnished finish, but it is excellent if one wants

Our final basketball game of the season ended with Dalhousie winning by 11 points after we led at the half. Next year, with the experience now acquired, we look for great improvement.

As this is being written we are looking forward to making the Moncton playoffs -- if we do, we hope a large number of supporters will be on hand to root our Panthers on -- after all, in hockey, you do get a second chance if you finish high enough and it would only take two wins!!!

Wonder if we'll be called ----Shanty Irish,-----Limeys, -----tight Scots???

their possession and the answer was "no". Did they have any plastic coverings and again the answer was "no". So here's to Mr. Whitlock & the Maintenance Department - A job well ---- done????
