THE CLINTONIA.

In California, where great redwoods grow,
The tall clintonia stands—a stately sight, Shedding in ferny ways its scarlet light—A lily in red robes, as if to show A life more royal than pale lilies know.
The brooding firs through winter's fog and gloom Dream of the time when these bright torches bloom.
This flower of cheer was loved by great Thoreau Through Matop's dark pines and lakeside greenery—
By our beloved Thoreau, ordained to be A priest to lead us to God's temples grand, Whom the wonders of his skill are spent In forest of these, the tall clintonias stand, The altar candles of a continent.
—Lillian H. Shuey in Overland Monthly.

POCKETS.

Thirty of Them Made in a Pair of Breeches of the Year 1611.

Perhaps the best proof of the advance of the Japanese in civilization is to be found in their use of pockets. The people of that country have usually six or eight pockets cunningly inserted in the cuffs of their wide sleeves. These pockets are always filled with a curious miscellany. As common as the twine in the pockets of young Americans is the prayer amulet written on sheets of rice paper and composed by the bonzes. In accordance with their faith, these amulets are swallowed like a pill in cases of mental or physical distress. Another essential seldom missing is a number of small squares of silky paper. These are put to unexpected uses, such as to hold the stem of a lily or lotus, to dry a teacup or to wipe away a tear. Among the Chinese and other nations a pouch is used instead of a pocket. This was also the case in western Europe in the middle ages and for some time afterward.
The pouch was attached to the girdle, along with a dagger and rosary. It was called an almonero or gipciere. It was often ornamented with curious patterns, gold and silk threads, coats of arms and religious sentences. A dramatist of the time of Henry VIII wrote:

From my girdle he plucked my pouch;
By your leave he left me never a penny.

Breeches, however, had pockets at an early date. In an old play written about 1611 it is mentioned that a man had his breeches plaited as if they had 30 pockets. But pockets did not attain their proper position until the adoption of the modern style of men's garments.
With waistcoats a great opportunity for pockets presented itself. Later they were made very broad and deep and were covered with embroidery and buttons.
In the reign of George III waistcoat pockets reached such size in England that they became objects of ridicule, so that they soon began to resume more moderate proportions.—New York Post.

HOLSTEIN.

One Cow With Unusual Markings For
One of Her Breed.

In the handsome Holstein-Friesian cow in the picture we find that the white triangle in the forehead which characterizes this breed of cattle has spread all over the face and head. In other words, her head and face are white, with only her dainty ears black.
A family of Holstein-Friesians spread

WHITE HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN.

through the eastern states have much more white than black in their colorings. One famous bull in New Jersey is almost white, with some bluish spots upon him.

These white Holsteins are excellent dairy cattle. It will be observed that the lively calf beside its mother has her markings to a dot and is also nearly white with black ears.

This cow is owned in New Hampshire. She is a famous prize winner.
She proved the great dairy qualities of the white Holstein-Friesians by making 17 pounds 8 1/2 ounces of butter when she was only 2 years old.

MESSAGE TO MEN

Proving that True Honesty and True Philanthropy still Exists

If any man who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell, and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-beings to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c silver to cover postage and address Mr. G. Strong, North Rock and, Mich 135 p&w.

added variety to this method by hanging herself on her own front door knock-
