BUILDING.—Ground is being broken to-day on the Connolly estate, at the head of Connolly's Wharf, for the foundation of a new stone house.

BROKE THROUGH.—This afternoon a man broke through the platform around the pump on Market Square. He recovered himself just in time to escape a tumble to the bottom of the well.

A GOOD WORK AT HIGHFIELD.—The Rev. D. D. Moore, A. M., received about thirty persons into the church at Highfield on Sunday last, some of whom received the Sacrament of Baptism on the occasion.

Any old ornament, or article of furniture, wood, earthenware, metal or glass, may be made beautiful by Aspinall's Enamel, which a child can apply. Surface like porcelain, colors exquisite. The following colors may be had at Watson's Drug Store: white, black, grey, peacock blue, turquoise, scarlet, garnet, olive green and old gold. a306w

A NUISANCE.—Attention is again very respectfully directed to the stagnant water on Water Street, near the Railway House. This nuisance is inimical to the health of Mr. Bolger and his household, offensive to the sight, and, altogether, disgraceful to the city. The Councillors for the ward will surely use their influence to have it abated.

Why is it Gay's seeds are so reliable? This question has been asked time and time again by good sensible farmers, that should be in the secret as well as themselves. The reason is Gay & Son will not sell a seed they would not plant themselves, and, moreover, their extended experience in the cultivation of garden and farm products has fitted them to select seeds best suited to our Island climate. See their advertisement in another column of seeds, fruit and ornamental trees, blooming pansies and daisies, plants, etc.

BOSTON STEAMER.—The steamer Worcester sailed for Boston this morning at four o'clock. She carried a general cargo and the following passengers: Miss A. McLeod, Bella Bowles, Sarah McDonald, D. A. McLeod, Jessie McRae, Miss Enman, Miss Ross, Mrs. McCannell, Miss McKenzie, Annie Martin, Staney Wood, John Wood, Geo. Wood, D. McDonald, P. Gordon, M. H. McLeod, R. B. Sutherland, J. P. Irving, Geo. Ross, C. R. Burke, A. Robertson, Mary Stewart, Mrs. John McMcNevin, Mrs. Campbell, Annie Campbell, Annie Reddin, Louisa Reddin, Rachael Gillis, Chas. Lawlor, F. Morrow, Mrs. Wood, Maggie Wood, Florence Wood, W. Wood.

A DARING THEFT.—Between eight and nine o'clock last evening, a lad named Alexander Carpenter, about 16 years of age, entered Reddin Bros'. drug store and asked for a few cents' worth of salve. While Mr. Reddin was getting the salve in the rear shop, Carpenter reached over the counter and pulling out the till took $25—one $10 and three $5 notes—therefrom. Shortly after Carpenter left the shop, Mr. Reddin missed the money, and at once set about finding the youth with the salve. He found him on Queen Street, and induced him to return to the store, where he searched him and found the money in his possession. He at once turned him over to the police. This morning he was arraigned before the Stipendiary Magistrate and given six months' imprisonment with hard labor.

HOW THEY ESCAPED.—It appears that Brown and Parsons, the men who escaped from Prince County jail, between Sunday night and Monday morning, as already announced in THE EXAMINER, were confined in one room, in the upper part of the building. The Journal says they cut through the window casing, at the left hand side, close to the sill, first using their table knives, which are not to be found, and then a saw. They cut one board, about six inches wide and one thick, and sawed through the adjoining one, about an inch and a half thick, taking a piece about eighteen inches in length from each. There being an empty space of from six to eight inches between the brickwork and the casing, and no bar next the casing, they had then plenty of room, by raising the window and doing a little cutting on the outside, to crawl through. From the window it is only three or four feet to the top of the coal shed, which is flat-roofed, and from which the descent to the ground is comparatively easy. It is yet a mystery, however, how they got over the wall surrounding the jail, unless they had outside help, which is the supposition of those who have examined the place. It is thought that Brown escaped to the Mainland in a boat.

The foreman struck his head against the transom and announced that the ceiling was coming down, but the judge refused to release the prisoners. Rather then stay in the room any longer they at once came to a decision and returned a verdict for $700.

The Closing Hours.

OTTAWA, May 2.

The closing hours of Parliament this morning were devoid of interest, except so far as the defeat of the Short Line Bill by the Senate was made use of by the Opposition members to chaff the Government.

Sir John was not in his seat, but Sir Hector, in reply, said the Senate would consider the situation during recess.

Mr. Trow, Opposition Whip, thanked God there was such a body as the Canadian Senate.

Exaggerated Reports.
