Montreal Club Breaks Slump

By JIM CULLEN

The management of the National Hockey League's Montreal Canadiens must have breathed a sigh of relief when they found out that, at least, "The Flying Frenchmen" still are capable of handling the lowly Boston Bruins. Going into Thursday night's contest, against the Bruins, the Blakemens were experiencing a five-game losing streak. The opposing teams had been scoring at will against the Blakemens while the Montreal forwards were putting the National Hockey League goalkeepers asleep with their feeble attempts to blink the red light.

A fellow columnist seemed to feel it was necessary to devote a full column to explain why the Hector 'Toe' Blake forces were being hammered around the National Hockey League, at will. This humble observer thinks the solution to the problem is very simple in that the Montreal team just isn't composed of championship material. The "Flying Frenchmen" have a sprinkling of supposed super-stars who have been producing on and off and the remainder of their roster consists of 'fancy danc' who are attempting fashion their styles after players like Beliveau and Richard rather than sticking to the business of skating, hustling and shooting, and in general failing to make up in drive what they definitely lack in ability.

We think the Canadiens' reign as a top NHL contender is rapidly drawing to a close and with this we have the feeling the Montreal organization will slap the blame on one Hector 'Toe' Blake. It will be easier for them to fire one coach than 18 hockey players.

The Leafs put an end to any thoughts the Montreal team had of Hodge being the cure for their ills, when they bombed him for six goals Wednesday night and Mr. Blake promptly called back Lorne 'Gump' Worley.

Charlottetown's Forbie Kennedy got a tough break Thursday night, against the Habs, when he suffered a broken collar bone that will put him out of action for the remainder of the season. Forbie's wife, mother and young brother, Jamey, were in the stands at the Boston Garden when the accident occurred.

Tid Bits From Here And There

The St. Dunstan's High School team didn't have much difficulty disposing of the North River junior club in the first game of their semi-final series. The Saints walloped the North Rivers 9-1 in Charlottetown and District league playoff action at the Charlottetown Forum, Thursday night.

The Toronto Maple Leafs will be without the services of veteran netminder Johnny Bower for at least two games. He pulled up lame with strained groin muscles. Frank Mahovlich is also on the limp with a bad shoulder, but the big M won't miss any games as a result of his injury.

Peter Snell, considered to be the fastest middle distance runner in the world today, has announced that he plans to call his track career quits at the end of this season. With Snell out of the way Canada's Bill Crothers should be capable of inheriting the top spot. Crothers finished second to Snell in last season's Olympic games at Tokyo.

A fellow staff member make the remark to us yesterday that Bobby Hull had gone into his scoring slump just about the same time that his young brother, Dennis, began to find the range in the National Hockey League. We thought it was rather interesting point.

The St. Dunstan's Varsity hockey team will tangle with St. Thomas Tommies at the SDU rink this afternoon in the Red and White team's second last home game of the year. The Saints will be going after their eighth straight win in the Maritime college loop when they take to the ice today.

PEERLESS TEAM GOES TO ST. JOHN
John Morris, president of the "Peerless" Pee Wees, announced last night that his team had accepted an invitation to participate in Saint John's minor hockey day today at the Lord Beaverbrook Memorial Rink.
Coach Brian Lewis was more than a little pleased at the opportunity to play the cream of Saint John's booming minor hockey crop, as he feels the trip and the strange rink and spectators will climatize his charges for their coming Quebec jaunt.
Mr. Morris feels that this game will do much to create goodwill between these two great minor hockey organizations, and hopes to entertain the port city youngsters here at a later date.
The Charlottetown club were forced to turn down invitations within the past fortnight to Sydney and Kenville due to a tight schedule and studies.
The locals will be greeted in Saint John by a committee of sports dignitaries, headed by the Mayor.
Face-off time is 3:30 p.m.

MANAGEMENT OF ARENA ASKS CO-OPERATION
SOURIS - Unless the management of the Souris Arena gets the co-operation of the parents of pre-school children the Sunday skates for these kiddies will have to be stopped they say.
Every Sunday the pre-school children have a free skate period and the older children take advantage of the situation by taking the young ones to the rink, skating a few rounds with them and then leaving them.
The management feels it is not safe for the little ones to skate while the older ones are racing around.

MAY GO TO SASKATOON

This is the rink that could represent Prince Edward Island at the Dominion finals in Saskatoon in March. Doug Cameron stands at the top with a record of eight wins and no losses. His rink is composed of Bob Dillon - lead, George Dillon - second stone, Allen Smith - mate, and Doug Cameron - Skip.

Cameron Scores Close Win Over Art Burke Foursome

By DAVE MILLER
Doug Cameron snatched a thrilling extra-end victory over Art Burke, to remain undefeated in the Prince Edward Island Curling Championships at the end of the third day's play. Cameron's rink of Allen Smith, George Dillon and Bobby Dillon were behind 5 nothing at one point, but the fine shotmaking and keen ice combined to force the extra end.
Many observers felt that it was all over in the twelfth end, but Burke made a fine wick shot to cut Doug out of one. This set the stage for an extra end. Burke called for take outs from his foursome, but Joe Saunders missed a guard, and George

Dillon made no mistake when he drew to the "four foot" to count one. Burke called for a takeout on the guard, and the rink's traded rocks, until Doug Cameron laid a perfect draw with his last stone. Burke's only chance was a draw to the button, but he left a trifle narrow and Cameron notched one to score the victory. Cameron now leads the playdowns with a record of 8 wins and no losses.
Two teams remain in the "B" section. George MacPheerson's RCAF quartet dropped a game to Danny O'Rourke's foursome, but made no mistake when they downed George Nicholson's Montague rink 16-4. The other team remaining is Gord Spicer's rink from RCAF Summerside. These two teams meet in a playoff tomorrow morning at 9:30. Spicer set up the playoff when he defeated Danny O'Rourke's rink 10-9. Spicer notched the victory with a fine take out to count two in the final end.

Through the luck of the draw, Cameron's rink had to play three games yesterday. In the 10:00 a.m. draw, they defeated Red Robertson's Montague rink 15-7, and disposed of Dr. Wen MacDonald 8-4 in the 3:00 draw.

The rink to represent Prince Edward Island in the Dominion finals in Saskatoon will be decided today. Gord Spicer tangles with George MacPheerson in the 9:30 draw, the winner to meet Cameron's rink at 2:30 in the afternoon. If necessary, a draw will be held at 8:00 in the evening.

A Full Six Game Schedule For NHL On Weekend

By JERRY GLADMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A full six - game schedule in weekend action in the National Hockey League could produce such a jam a traffic cop may be needed to separate the top four clubs.

Tonight's slate has Detroit Red Wings visiting Toronto Maple Leafs, Chicago Black Hawks at New York Rangers and Boston Bruins playing host to Montreal Canadiens.

Montreal is at Chicago Sunday while Toronto visits Boston and New York is at Detroit.

Only five points separate the fourth - place Red Wings and the first-place Black Hawks. The Hawks have 61 points, two more than Montreal. Toronto has 57, a slim one-point margin over the Wings.

The two major clashes of the weekend are the Detroit-Toronto game Saturday and the Montreal-Chicago match Sunday.

SNAP LOSING STREAK

The Canadiens could make things interesting, having snapped out of a five-game losing streak with a 7-1 triumph over Boston Thursday night. With a pair of games in hand on Chicago, a weekend sweep would give the Habs a good shot at retaining the league championship.

Canadiens are looking toward veteran centres Jean Beliveau and Henri Richard to spark them to the title.

Souris Teams Top Geo'town

Souris Pee Wees and Bantams defeated two Georgetown teams. The Souris Pee Wees blanked Georgetown's Pee Wees 9-0 while the Bantams from Souris shut out Georgetown's Bantams 7-0.
John Gallant, Bernard Praught, and Dwight MacAuley scored for Souris in the Pee Wee game.
Angus McCormick scored the hat trick for Souris Bantams while Eddie Power added a pair. Tommy McAuley and Gerard MacDonald scored the other Souris goals.
This two game total goal series resumes in Souris today with the first game getting underway at 9 a.m.

Wide open hockey in the final frame saw the Aces score to tie up the game until the last minute of play on goals by Leo Richard, Gerald McCarthy, Terry Gavin all with singles. For Tyne Valley R. MacArthur got a pair and E. Perry a single.
Penalties for Tyne Valley went to D. Berch, C. MacDonald, J. Gorrill, C. MacDonald, J. Gillis. For the Aces I. DesRoches (misconduct) and A. Fennessey.
