Celebrate 35th Wedding Anniversary

About forty relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. T. Hogg on Belmont Street, S'ide on Thursday evening to join with them in celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary.

Relatives were there from all parts of the Province. The first part of the evening was spent in games, after which Mr. George Hogg acted as Master of Ceremonies called on Mr. George Barbour, M. L. A., of Coleman to address the honored couple. A lovely silver tea service from the guests was presented by little Dorothy Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cannon of St. Eleanor and Grandfather of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogg both replied in suitable terms, expressing their deep appreciation of the gift and thanking the guests. They celebrated the 35th milestone in their journey through life together.

A buffet lunch was served followed by a general singing. At the conclusion of the happy party the guests all wished Mr. and Mrs. Hogg many more years of happiness together.

Among the guests were the bride's maid of 35 years ago, Mrs. Barbour, sister of the bride; and the groom's maid, Mr. George Hogg; also Mrs. Ellis Profit, who as Lily Casely played the role of flower girl at the wedding. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Stanley Thompson, Mrs. Westley and the Misses Gretha Barbour and Gwendoline Rogers, Charlottetown; Mrs. Harry Cannon, Miss Gladys MacNeill and Miss Blanche Hogg.—S.

anti-submarine actions were lacking, there was no such secrecy about the work of the contraband service in the stopping of goods consigned to the Nazis.

The minister of information said that the contraband control, operating under the blockade program during the week ended Sept. 8 in Germany including 28,500 tons of petroleum, 26,350 tons of iron ore, 3,400 tons of haematite ore, 4,900 tons of manganese ore, 7,300 tons of wood pulp, 6,000 tons of pebble phosphate and a number of mixed cargoes.

With British merchantmen scattered all over the world at the beginning of the war, naval experts said, some sinkings were to be expected. German submarines were fully started.

They added that some time had had to elapse before the convoy system could be introduced but the system "now is working and although it cannot be definitely said, the system will undoubtedly reduce the number enormously."

The Government also announced that its organization of the field forces in France was proceeding "much faster" than during the first Great War. It added that the rapidly growing French fleet was supplied with a vast industrial cushion in line with the war cabinet's plans for a long war.

The London Gazette announced, has approved appointment of the Queen as command-in-chief of the women's royal naval service, the auxiliary territorial service and the women's auxiliary airforce.

Convoys System
The Duke of Windsor, returned to aid his country after almost three years absence, called on Prime Minister Chamberlain and also conferred with War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha.

Queen Mary lunched with the King and Queen. It was the first time she had seen her son since the war began.

Civil defence problems also occupied Great Britain's leaders today.

The ministry of pensions laid before Parliament a plan for grants to civilians injured in air raids and pensions for dependents of victims. The pensions plan, it was announced, will be known along the lines of those applicable to private soldiers.

The ministry of agriculture disclosed a plan to give local authorities powers to purchase land and allot it for gardening and farming and to assist in the purchase of seeds and implements.

The information ministry charged German propaganda in Belgium had circulated reports in Belgium that a British landing on the Belgian coast was imminent.

There is fortunately no reason to believe that such crude German propaganda would be successful in the ministry said, charging it was designed to "sow distrust of Great Britain in Belgium."

Boy Scout Association Placed Unreservedly At Country's Service

Commissioner J. J. Morris of the Provincial Boy Scouts Association has received from Chief Executive Commissioner John A. Stiles, Ottawa, copies of correspondence between Sir Edward Beatty, Prime Minister MacKenzie King, relative to the service of the Association to Canada in war time.

Sir Edward Beatty's letter to Premier King, dated Sept. 5, follows: "My dear Mr. Prime Minister: "In this great hour I am writing you as president of the Canadian Council of the Boy Scouts Association to offer you the assistance of our one hundred thousand membership in any capacity in which Scouts can usefully serve."

"On my honour I promise that I will do my duty to God and the King. To help other people at all times, only to give me an opportunity to do my duty to God and the King."

"I think you will be aware that the special training and discipline which they undergo fit them for quite responsible work. You have your desire to enlist their services, and I shall see to it that representative of the Association will meet with you and other officials whom you may wish to delegate. I realize that offers of help are reaching you from every quarter. These before full advantage can be taken of them, but whenever you are ready and will let me know your views, we shall take the necessary steps."

"Yours very truly, (Sgd.) E. W. Beatty, President, The Boy Scouts Association of Canada."

The Prime Minister's reply, dated Ottawa, Sept. 8, was as follows:

Russians And Vatican Organ

distinction to all kinds of religious life and to Christian communities in general.

The Vatican organ also criticized interference with the Catholic press.

"We may remark," it said, "that five periodicals for a total of more than 30,000 Catholics cannot be justified by a paper shortage, especially when it is remembered that there is no daily Catholic paper in Germany."

"As far as we know, no non-Catholic publication has so far been affected."

The Observator concluded by quoting Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement that "we must do away" with the Nazi regime.

PARIS, Sept. 15 (CP)—(Havas)—Pope Pius' criticism of armed action in the settlement of political disputes was a formal condemnation of German aggression, even though he did not mention the Reich by name, the newspaper Le Temps (Independent) said tonight.

The Pope deplored such action in a peace appeal yesterday at Castel Gandolfo during the presentation of the new Belgium Ambassador's Credentials.

"The Pope's words will realize that this is a formal condemnation of German aggression," said the paper.

POUND STERLING DOWN
NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—The British pound sterling, transferred into "official," "free," and "blocked" denominations something in the manner of the German mark, wandered about to a variety of quotations today, touching a low of 7-8 cents lower than yesterday at 53.88.

Dear Sir Edward:

"I thank you for the letter which you wrote to me on Sept. 6, in your capacity as President of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association, in which you offer the assistance of the Scouts in any capacity in which they can usefully serve their country."

"On behalf of the government, I wish to express our appreciation of this generous offer, and also of your realization of the necessity of correlating the many offers of assistance which have been received, before it would be possible to take full advantage of them. Meanwhile, careful consideration will be given to the best method of employing the special training and discipline which the Boy Scouts have enjoyed."

Yours sincerely, (Sgd.) W. L. MacKenzie King

P. E. I. SCOUTS READY
The following letter in the same connection is self-explanatory:

Hon. Thane A. Campbell, K. C., LL. D., Premier of Prince Edward Island, Charlottetown.

Dear Premier Campbell: On behalf of the Boy Scouts Association of Prince Edward Island I beg to offer the services of the Boy Scouts of the Province to assist your government in any work to which they can be adapted during the present conflict.

"I will be recalled that during the Great War, Boy Scouts rendered valuable assistance in many patriotic activities such as acting as guides and messengers, substituting for recruits suddenly called into service, assisting at recruiting stations, and in various ways at that time."

"For these and similar activities the Scouts stand ready to give their service freely and to the best of their ability as the need may arise. Yours respectfully, (Sgd.) H. L. Palmer, Provincial President."

TIMELY NOTES ON TOPICS CONNECTED WITH Silver Fox Farming

tion so that each vixen was studied in view of the males at hand upon the ranch to mate her. These males were set forth in order of performance and during the mating season every operator managed the mating of his vixens with close adherence to this program.

Production this spring was satisfactory in general. At O'Leary from 20 vixens there were 80 pups; at Montague from 20 vixens, 43 pups and at Chatham Head 30 vixens produced 83 pups. These were the largest producers of the eight stations.

Breeding pens were built according to design. Supervisor Mack and they worked very well upon the O'Leary and Bridgetown stations. At some of the stations there were losses thought perhaps due to insufficient insulation.

Altogether the report of Supervisor Jack shows that he has been most conscientious in his duties and has brought to bear a wealth of knowledge of breeding and management which will no doubt have a very excellent effect in raising the standard of foxes in the three Provinces.

From different parts of the Province there are indications that some of our fox farmers are getting panicky and are offering live foxes, adults, and pups, at ridiculously low prices for immediate sale. There is nothing in the present situation to warrant such pessimism. The recent Montreal auction showed an advance of from 10 to 25 per cent over the price of the same foxes from the Prince Edward Island Fur Pool, Ltd., Summerside, that they disposed of 800 pelts this week in London at their own marked prices.

The word from the heart of the Empire where people are more au fait with European events than we are, is to say the least most encouraging. Then the news from New York is excellent, Herbert A. Nieman & Company's offering being practically all sold at prices reflecting a very strong market.

General feeling was that prices were about 10 to 15 per cent stronger than the last New York Auction Company's sale on Nieman's which was in May. The sale goods which were in the room at the room that the war situation in Europe might tend to restrict activity.

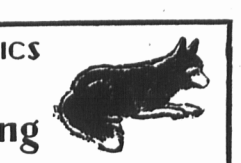

A meeting of the Advisory Committee on Fur Farming and the Dominion Fox Breeders' and Exhibitors' Association was held in the Legislative Assembly building on Thursday with a representative attendance of fox farmers present. Hon. W. H. Dennis occupied the chair. The Secretary, W. R. Shaw, explained the purpose of the meeting and referred to the representation at Ottawa of the two Provincial delegates to the Dominion Fur Council, J. Walter Jones and D. O. Stewart.

He also stressed the seriousness of sending pelts to the Government because of war conditions and suggested that storage until some future date would be profitable and desirable. A questionnaire was submitted to the presenters and answered by the Department before the meeting. George Callbeck stated that the Canadian National had provision for about 50,000 skins until April. He suggested that the Dominion Fur Council should be done at three County demonstrations or field days instead of going from ranch to ranch. J. Walter Jones said that due to food shortage in Scandinavia, a large number of their pelts would be placed on the markets interfering with the disposition of Canadian pelts and advised contacting War Prices Board at Ottawa re orderly marketing of skins.

Col. Dawson agreed with Mr. Callbeck in regard to the continuing of field days, etc., and stated that such educational features as can be wisely and not too expensive carried out should be given all the support that can be rendered them. He also agreed with Mr. Callbeck's suggestion re central places for grading, as it was difficult for a grader to go from ranch to ranch and maintain the same grading standard.

L. W. Hancock suggested one central storage place for furs, assistance to be given by the Provincial and Federal governments. He suggested that the Council should co-operate with the Department of Trade and Commerce to create wider markets for furs. He advised traders certain South American commodities which we require, such as canned meats for furs.

D. O. Stewart thought that a great number of pelts would reach London markets rather than South and Central American markets.

George McIntyre advised South American trade if at all possible is to block influx of Scandinavian pelts.

P. G. Clark said our Province is one of production disposition is our problem. Establishment of trade with South America is impossible without going through the London market. He stressed the importance of the middleman in disposing of product and urged continuing of Departmental assistance even in present crisis. Major A. B. Robertson was of the opinion that field days should be continued and strongly in favor of storing pelts and later pelting.

W. Fred Burke said that regarding field days, games must be curtailed but not activities. He did not agree with the idea of central grading depot as this would not be of service to the owner of smaller ranches.

P. G. Clark suggested that if advances were made it would be purely a matter of accommodation and pelts would be held as security until such time as they would be placed on the market.

The following resolution (in part) was moved by George A. Callbeck, seconded by Col. J. G. Dawson and passed unanimously: "Whereas the average price of silver fox skins has declined nearly 80 per cent during the past few years, dropping from more than $95.00 in 1929 to about $20.00 in 1939, and during the same period the costs of production have considerably increased, and whereas the double reverses of declining prices and increasing production costs, silver fox ranchers have been hard pressed to make any profit from their labors to say nothing of their investments, —considerable numbers even failing to make ends meet; whereas owing to these conditions a still further handicap will be placed on the silver fox rancher by the increased food costs which are sure to prevail, and as this demand will affect London, our largest and best market, and as this demand will be especially pronounced in the early stages of the war as to greatly lessen the marketing of furs at this great fur centre and as no other market or markets seem available to absorb during the season of 1939-40, more than two-thirds of the total silver fox pelts which will be in the 1939 take-off from Canadian silver fox ranches:

Resolved that the delegates, J. Walter Jones and D. O. Stewart on their attending the Dominion Fur Council conference to be held in London, September 25th and 26th, that they lay before the Council an outline of the present very critical condition prevailing in the Canadian silver fox ranching industry and that they urgently request the best endeavors of the Council to press upon the Federal Government the necessity of relieving the conditions above referred to.

Zaleski, in southeastern Poland near the Rumanian border.

The Germans were attempting to push further east 3000 widely-separated spearheads in northern and southern Poland. The northern thrust had reached the lake and forest region near Bialystok while the other threatened Lwow and other areas close to the Rumanian border.

These columns have reached positions considerably ahead of invading troops operating in the central part of the front near Warsaw. Inside this broad pincer movement the Germans are pressing a number of smaller enveloping drives, one of them against Warsaw.

South of the Capital German forces have crossed the Armpole River in a drive threatening its city, about 35 miles to the east.

Twenty men, women and children were killed and 30 injured Tuesday. Polish dispatches said, in a German air bombardment of the unfortified city of Kremeniec in the Polish Ukraine.

As Tuesday was the eve of Rosh Ha-Shanah, Jewish new year, the market was crowded when Nazi planes bombed the central square and the workers districts and reported, machine-gunned the city square after the bombardment. Kremeniec, a city of 25,000 and generally considered to be without military importance was temporarily capital of Poland until yesterday when the Government moved to Zaleski.
