The Stars Say

For Tomorrow SUNDAY'S horoscope promises an enjoyable day. Seek relaxation with cheerful companions and in pleasant surroundings. It is not a day in which to worry about the future or to undertake new ventures. Take it easy, preparing yourself both mentally and physically, for the active week ahead.

You may have the opportunity of giving assistance to a friend or relative who is encountering difficulty. If so, be generous in your efforts. Not only will it bring you personal satisfaction, but showing your confidence and faith in another at the right time may change the pattern of his entire life — for the better.

For the Birthday If tomorrow is your birthday, the year ahead should be unusually stimulating — and prosperous. Business and professional matters should be on the upgrade if conservative methods are followed and if you will go out of your way to maintain the good will of business associates and superiors.

Those engaged in the arts may gain exceptional prestige as a result of original and imaginative ideas, and scientists and inventors should also profit by unusually fine aspects during the next six months. Sentimental relationships should be harmonious and domestic matters should prosper despite a brief period of stress during the middle of March.

A child born on this day will be clever, intuitive and endowed with a magic personality.

The Day After Tomorrow An active, lively and constructive state of affairs is promised for this day, with the energies and emotions keyed to aggressiveness.

Morning Smile A little boy got a watch for Christmas. After a few days of rough treatment it stopped, so he took it apart and found a dead bug inside. He then announced to his mother: "Now I know why my watch won't run. The engineer is dead."

ISLAND GROVE, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Margaret Sherman, known as "granny" to this community at the southern end of Lake Simcoe, died Tuesday night at the age of 101. Mrs. Sherman was born in Egypt, Ont. She married Heamon Sherman at an early age and went to live at nearby Roches Point. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Day.

Ten Umbrellas In A Drought

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Miss Mildred Taylor Sanderson said today she has never purchased an umbrella — and she won't have to start now. She received 10 of them for Christmas, some from friends as far away as California and New York. Miss Sanderson, director of public health nursing for the city, believes the selection of the gifts was just coincidence. St. Louis, incidentally, is in a drought.

That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

MANAGEMENT OF DIABETES There are some diseases in which the symptoms are so clear and outstanding that they are readily diagnosed by the physician. Thus stomach ulcer causes pain two-and-one-half hours to three-and-one-half hours after eating and in tuberculosis the skin is hot and there is always afternoon temperatures. On the other hand, there are some cases of cancer of the stomach in which the symptoms are so mild that the patient complains of only slight indigestion.

In Geriatrics, Dr. Reed Harwood, Chief of Diabetes Clinic, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, states: "Few physicians will fail to make the diagnosis when a patient presents the classical symptoms of diabetes: frequent urination, excessive thirst, weight loss and weakness. But what of the patient who has no symptoms? The physician should be particularly alert to the possibility of diabetes when the patient's complaint is one which is commonly seen in diabetes, for example, carbuncle, infection of the foot, pyelonephritis (inflammation of kidney) and falling vision."

Dr. Harwood states further that a trace of sugar in the urine doesn't always mean diabetes but since diabetes is by far the commonest cause of sugar in the urine, the finding of sugar should be followed by tests which show definitely whether or not diabetes is present. I have written before of the physician with no apparent symptoms of diabetes who made a test of his urine and found sugar present. He immediately started daily injections of insulin and cut down on starch foods. Within about a year, he was able to control his diabetes by diet alone with no need of insulin.

What about treatment of a "new" case of diabetes? "The mild case is easily recognized as the one with no symptoms, with only a moderate degree of sugar in the urine and a blood sugar in the range of 120 to 200 mg. per 100 cc. These findings suggest the need for insulin but if the history shows a gross intolerance in starches and sweets, it is possible that cutting down on starches, sweets and the total amount of food eaten, will suffice to control the symptoms and bring the blood sugar down to normal."

Showing the value of following the diet strictly in using the prescribed dosage of insulin daily, it is known that physicians themselves who have diabetes are the best patients.

Fortunately, Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, Harvard University, has published the 9th edition of his book "Diabetic Manual for Doctor and Patient." This well-known book has become familiar to diabetes and their families so that even children are able to follow the advice as to diet and can inject insulin when necessary.

Canadian Women Leaders In Literature, Music & Radio

In the 1948 list of outstanding women chosen in a Canadian Press poll, Dr. Hilda Neatby led the literature and art class on basis of her indictment of Canadian education in a challenging book, "So Little For The Mind." She maintains progressive education has failed to meet the needs of our "brutal, dangerous, but stimulating age" Dr. Neatby, only woman member of the Massey royal commission on arts, letters and sciences, charges progressive education is anti-intellectual, anti-cultural and amoral.

Leader in the music class, Miss Lois Marshall, who also topped the music section last year, added new laurels in 1953 by singing the solo soprano parts in Beethoven's Missa Solemnis conducted by Arturo Toscanini in New York's Carnegie Hall. Critics lauded her performance as a brilliant triumph.

She was also chosen by Leopold Stokowski for the one vocal selection when he conducted the first major concert of contemporary Canadian music in the United States Oct. 16 at Carnegie Hall.

Miss Gisele MacKenzie, who headed the stage, screen and radio class, had one of the best years in a career that started in 1941 when the French-Canadian violinist — turned-singer — came to Toronto as a scholarship violin student to the Royal Conservatory of Music.
