JOSEPH ASSEF AND COUNSEL RIDDELL

Mrs. James Shearon, who had "just enough" of "this Windsor police refusal to do anything" and of "corruption in high places," has promised to tell everything to the board of inquiry. Investigation was touched off when Magistrate Haurahan sentenced Joseph Assef to six months on liquor conviction and hinted at laxity in Windsor law enforcement.

MAGISTRATE A. McMULLAN

CHIEF CLAUDE RENAUD
Under fire is the Windsor police force of which Claude Renaud is the chief constable.

CITIZENS HONOR GIRL WITH A SMILE — Mrs. Gladys Harman, "the girl with a smile," was honored by a benefit dance at Holland Landing, Ont., by citizens of the community who collected over $500 for her. She lost her arm in a tannery accident last month, has done the housework for husband and son "as if nothing had happened."

tion of tram at Richmond and Yonge. Turning street car struck grandmother, knocked her to ground.

Five people from Delhi, Ont., claim to have seen an object like a "flying saucer." Hovering "like a helicopter" for a time, the strange object was viewed for 20 minutes by the quintet driving home from a party at Burford. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hertel tried to draw a sketch comparing it with moon, while daughter Margaret looks on.

LAND CLEARERS GET "ON THE BALL" — Giant 4 1/2-ton steel balls, eight feet in diameter, are trucked to the 23,000-acre site of the Hungry Horse, Mont., reservoir for use in a novel scheme of land-clearing. Big diesel dozers, hooked together with logging cables, will drive the heavy balls down steep hillsides to scrape off small trees and brush.

PROTEST CLOSING OF COUNTY HEALTH UNIT — Decision of Prince Edward County council to close down the county health unit has raised a storm of protest from women's organizations and farm groups. The protests charge that the reason for the council decision is not economy but because the health unit was very active in enforcing preventive health measures. Mothers particularly had confidence in the children's services such as inoculations, shown here by Rosemary Barriage, nine, right, who claimed "It didn't hurt a bit." Every child in the county was entitled to free inoculations.

"A MAN GETS MAD SOMETIMES" — Emanuel Silva wrecked his cement truck on a hillside near Martinez, Calif., and escaped unhurt. Then Silva saw red. He dashed to his sedan parked at the top of the embankment, gunned it and crashed into the burning truck emerging from his wrecked car unhurt, Silva said: "A man gets mad sometimes."

"WHAT'S UP, DOC?"—Well, Easter is coming, and Bugs Bunny and all the other bunnies are getting set for the annual Easter egg hunt. This was a pre-Easter hunt staged by a Wilmette, Ill., florist and the raft of bunnies you see are mostly kiddies in rabbit clothing.

BEWILDERED
Major and Puddy, two pets of Mrs. R. A. Wilson of Aurora, Ont., wonder why their mistress is not at home to look after them. Mrs. Wilson stepping from a bus, walked across the highway to greet the two dogs when she was struck by small station wagon and instantly killed.

"BRIDAL" PATH — The marriage of Holly Johnson and Evan Coward at St. Lawrence church, Uppminster, Essex, England, got off to a fast pace. Coward is seen leading his bride mounted on her favorite horse, "Iron Duke," after the wedding. The couple met at a riding school where both are pupils.
