Recollections.

There was a time, when all around—
When sky and sea,
When flowers, and trees and tender grass—
Seemed beautiful to me.

I saw the sky a brilliant blue,
The white clouds floating here and there,
The dandelion's downy bloom
Then seemed so fair.

The sunset's brilliant coloring,
The red and gold,
The dark, grey clouds encircling,
I saw enfold.

The sky is still as bright and fair,
But not to me;
For want of time, for sight and thought,
As used to be.

So much my life is taken up
With works of duty,
That after all I have not time
To think of beauty.

Easter Meetings.

MILTON AND RUSTICO

The Easter meetings of these joint parishes were held on Easter Monday, when the reports of the Church Warden and Treasurers showed that the temporal affairs had been most successful during the past year. The Treasurer of Milton reported that all the bills had been paid; the Rector's stipend had been promptly paid; that the weekly Sunday offerings showed a material increase over last year, and that he had a handsome balance in hand to begin the new year with. The officers for the ensuing year are: Messrs. A. Holroyd and C. Coles, Wardens; J. Seaman, John Hooper, G. Younker, W. H. Horne, James Hooper and David Hooper, Vestrymen. James Hooper was re-appointed Treasurer, and Thomas Foster, Sexton, Arthur Holroyd and W. H. Horne were elected regular representatives to the Synod, with W. Dunbar, Esq., and Lawson Fenerty, Esq., of Halifax, substitute representatives.

Rustico Parish meeting decided to undertake the repair of the Church building and also to build a Vestry, and a committee was appointed to raise the funds necessary for the purpose. Fred Bulman and W. Duncan were elected Wardens, and Stephen Coles, John Dunson, Duncan McMillan, Robert Craswell, William Craswell and Ed. Carr, Vestrymen. Mr. Bulman was re-appointed Treasurer.

Obituary.

A correspondent of the Provincial Wesleyan (April 3) furnishes the following obituary notice of an esteemed resident of this city:

"John Thomas Richards died at Charlottetown, P. E. I., Jan 8th, in the 30th year of his age. For three years he battled bravely and well with the insidious disease and, times it did appear that human skill was about to triumph and his life would be spared. Hopes of returning health never forsook him until a short time before his death, but when the last prospect died away he cheerfully laid down the weary task and burden of life, called his wife and loved ones to his side, bid them all a quiet and Christian farewell, with a request for all to meet him in heaven.

For indeed were the murmurings that ever fell from the lips of our dear brother through all that lengthened affliction. He did not wish to throw the sorrow of his own life upon others; so patiently and without complaining he passed through the painful process that was to end his life.

His religious experience was undemonstrative, but none the less real, as his consistent walk for years testified. The prosperity of the cause of God, whether spiritually or temporally, was to him a matter of deepest satisfaction. For some time he was a member of the Quarterly Board of the Upper Prince Street Church, and his great diligence as financial steward was admired by his brethren.

For 17 years he was in the employ of Messrs. Doid & Rogers, Charlottetown, and by his untiring industry and warm interest in all that pertained to the prosperity of the firm it is no wonder that he won their highest appreciation and esteem. But in life's early manhood his plans were broken, for the summons came bidding him to rise and go hence—hence to that world where all that can bless and crown the good man's life alone is found, and where in Heaven's undimmed day the overshadowing mysteries of earth can never come.

Passed peacefully away, on February 11th, 1890, Sarah M., beloved and only daughter of Benjamin and Annie Farrow, of Victoria, Lot 29, aged 17 years. Deceased went to Charlottetown on a cruise to see her many friends when she was taken suddenly ill, and although the best medical advice was procured and everything done for her possible death claimed one of our fairest daughters. Deceased was known for her many amiable qualities, and is, by her many friends, deeply regretted.

Sleep on in thy beauty,
Thou sweet angel child,
By sorrow undelighted,
By sin undelivered.

Like the dove to the ark,
Thou hast flown to thy rest,
From the wild sea of strife
To the home of the blest.
Victoria, Lot 29, April 7, 1890.

DIED.

OF A BROKEN HEART—A young woman named Maggie Black arrived in Cloyne, Ont., recently to marry a widower. The widower refused to marry her, however, and she has since died of a broken heart. She made a statement to this effect before her death.

City School Board.

A meeting of the City School Board was held at four o'clock on Monday afternoon. Mr. J. B. Macdonald was the only absentee.

It was ordered that Miss Laura K. Scott, teacher, be transferred from West Kent Street School to Prince Street School on 1st May next, to take the place of Miss McKinlay, who has resigned.

Mr. William A. Thompson, Principal of York School, was appointed a teacher for West Kent Street School.

Mr. Ewen Campbell, who has been teaching in West Kent Street School during the past three months, was re-appointed for the balance of the school year, ending 30th June next.

The purchase of Prince Street School building and grounds will probably be concluded at an early date.

More Poisoning.

A HUSBAND THIS TIME THE VICTIM—A FOUL CRIME OR STILL FOULER PERJURY.

Goodrich (Ont.) advices of the 3rd say: At the assizes to-day the case of Elizabeth Edwards, charged with having, in March, 1888, administered arsenic to her late husband, Hugh J. Whitley, with intent to cause his death, was partially heard. The most important witness for the Crown was a young woman named Minnie Johnston, who had lived with the Whitelys as a domestic. She testified that she had purchased arsenic for Mrs. Whitley, and had seen her, on several occasions, put some of it in her husband's food; that Whitley always became very sick after partaking of the food thus tampered with, and that on her remonstrating with Mrs. Whitley about her conduct, she said she did not think it was any harm to put a man like Whitley out of the world. If the evidence of this witness is true, the crime was one of the most cold-blooded on record. The defence denies the truth of the girl's story, and alleges that Whitley died from natural causes. The druggist from whom the girl alleges she purchased the poison denies having sold any to her, and the doctors called to-day differ as to the cause of death. A later despatch says: The poisoning case was concluded this forenoon. His Lordship Judge Street charged strongly in favor of the prisoner, and took the ground that the girl Johnston, who was the principal witness against Mrs. Edwards, if her story was true, was an accomplice, and that her unsupported testimony would not warrant a conviction. He also pointed out vital discrepancies in the story told by the girl Johnston. The jury retired and returned in about ten minutes with a verdict of not guilty. The result of the verdict harmonized with the feelings of the audience, who completely filled the courtroom.

Personal.

At the recent meeting of the Marine Board in Halifax, Mr. Frederic E. Nelson passed as muster.

Says a London despatch:—"The Marquis of Normandy is dead at Brighton. He was in his 72nd year. At different times he held the governorship of Nova Scotia, Queensland, New Zealand and Victoria." The marquis was governor of Nova Scotia thirty years ago. During his term of office there were some very stormy political battles.

Mrs. Anna Carr died at Geary, Sanbury County, N. B., on April 1st, aged 100 years and 23 days.

Judge Balfour, of Moncton, is dead. On the evening previous to his death he accidentally fell from a window fifteen feet above the ground. He was a heavy man (about 190 pounds) and was so badly injured that he could not recover. Judge Balfour was one of the oldest residents of Moncton and the pioneer lawyer of the place, having gone there as an attorney in 1836.

BOSTON PRICES.—An official circular of the 4th inst. Receipts of eggs have been moderate for the week before Easter, but the demand has been unusually light. Buyers have been holding off, and it has been hard work to sell the best Western at any time at over 14c cents, but a good many have been worked off during the week at 15c cents. Eastern extras are slow at 15c cents. The receipts of potatoes have been light. The market has made a sharp advance and prices at the close are ruling from 10 to 20 cents higher than a week ago. Demand is not very active at the high prices, but there is enough doing so that the feeling is very firm. Island Changelings are selling at 15c cents. There is not very much doing in fish; mackerel holds steady but are not very active.

AN HONEST MISTAKE.—An Englishman once boasted that he had been mistaken for a member of the royal family. A Scotchman, hearing this, replied that he had been addressed as the Duke of Argyll. Whereupon an Irishman said that he had been taken for a far greater person than either, for as he was walking along the street one day, a friend came up to him, exclaiming, "Holy Moses! is that you?"

MORE ENGLISH BOYS.—The steamer Sarnia, which arrived at Halifax on Friday last, brought out from Fagan's home 300 boys, of whom 150 went to Fagan's home, Toronto, and 97 to Stevenson's home, Hamilton, Ont., by the C. P. R., and 120 to the boys' home at Belleville, Ont., by the G. T. R. The steamer Parisian brought 150 boys for Toronto, and 40 for Russell, Manitoba, from Dr. Barnardo's home.

SAFE IN JAIL.—A Stellarton (N. S.) despatch reports that James McLeod, the Whitey Hillman, against whom a verdict of poisoning his wife was rendered, and who was bailed on $5,000 security, was arrested this evening at Stellarton on a warrant issued by John McGilivray, barrister, Crown Attorney. His bondsmen went back on him, as it was rumored he was going to skip his bail.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.—A farmer named John Ross has been arrested on suspicion of being the person who placed the sleeper upon the railway track for the purpose of wrecking the Pictou train the evening last week. He denies the charge.
