Rotary Speaker Outlines 4-H History, Importance

"Today there are over 5,000 4-H Clubs in operation across Canada, a huge network which had it's humble beginning 51 years ago at the village of Roland, Manitoba." J. R. Racine said as guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of Rotary held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday."

In these clubs over 70,000 young people in our rural areas carry on a wide variety of projects", he said. "As we travel the roadways through the rural communities of every province, we see these signs "4-H Club Member Lives Here".

The speaker went on to explain the 4-H's symbolize the training of "my head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service, my health to better living—for my club, my community and my country." All of which is contained in the pledge taken by every 4-H member.

The sign has a very significant meaning Mr. Racine continued. To the farmer it is a mark of distinction. He knows that through 4-H many of the skills of agriculture have been introduced to the farming areas everywhere, better livestock, better grain, better forage crops, better farm management, better poultry production.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

"To the 4-H member the sign signifies a kinship with fellow young Canadians who work together in an organized fashion to learn skills and in so doing educate themselves in matters of leadership training and good citizenship," Mr. Racine said. Over 70 countries of the world participate in similar activities.

"To that dedicated group of extension workers, agricultural representatives and home economists whose job it is to teach and help our farm people to upgrade agriculture, 4-H has assumed a very significant role, the speaker stated. "On the most part farm parents are most co-operative and helpful in encouraging their children to participate in 4-H.

"Now 4-H Club work is taking on a new role," the speaker said and went on to explain that in early stages raising a better calf, growing a better variety of grain, making a better dress was stressed. In due course it was realized that the project was not an end in itself but rather a means of working with youth. "Now 4-H is one of the great educational forces in Canada. The responsibility of carrying out the 4-H Club programme at the farm level belongs to the province."

Since 1931 the Canadian Council on 4-H Club has been united in assisting in this great educational movement. "Government and private enterprise are united in this project," the speaker said.

Events sponsored by the Council at a national level include: national 4-H Conferences each year, exchange with the U.S., Interprovincial plan, and under the Freedom from Hunger program in 1963, 4-H members raised funds to pay transportation, board and tuition of a student from Bechuanaland to study in a Canadian school.

GREATEST RESOURCE

"The role of business in the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs has a simple answer", the speaker stated. "The progress of business, like every phase of our country's welfare, is dependent upon the intelligent use of the resources of the country. It has been said that our young people are our greatest resource and with them lie our hopes for a bright future".

Therefore it behooves all of us to give it some serious thought and attention". We must be concerned with these young people, with who they are, and where they live, with what they are thinking and saying and with what we are saying to them," the speaker said.

Mr. Racine, who was introduced by chairman R. C. Parent and thanked by co-chairman W. N. Black, represents his company, the Mutual Life of Canada, on the Board of Directors of the Canadian Council 4-H Clubs.

He is past president of the Rotary Club of Brampton, Ont., and a past president of the Brampton Chamber of Commerce. He is a graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture from the University of Manitoba.

President W. R. Jenkins read a letter from the secretary of the Quebec City Rotary club announcing the election of Euclid Gaudet, a former Charlottetown man as president.

James Allan, chairman of Easter Seals Campaign announced a total of $9,325.00 raised and was confident that when outstanding coin boxes are received from school children, the $10,000 objective will be reached.

Guests of Rotary were: Hon. Philip Matheson, minister of highways; Mark MacPherson and Rundell Seaman, Jr., Charlottetown; Miss Theresa MacLeod, director of home economics and Douglas McLaren, Montague. J. R. Racine was a visiting Rotarian.

Conduct Dedication Service At Montague United Church

Representatives from the Christian Education Groups participated in a Dedication to Mission ceremony during the regular service at Trinity United Church, Montague, last Sunday morning.

Seated with their leaders were the following groups: Messengers led by Marlene Fraser, Ivor Rourke and John Aitken; Explorers by Joanne Ings and Annabel Hilchey; Tyros by David Briand and John Moar; CGIT by Joan Coffin and Ruth Annear; Sigma-C by Gordon Ferguson and George Inman; Hi-C by Marjorie Clark and Keni Shaw.

One representative from each group gave a brief account of its missionary project while the other presented a donation to Mrs. Lorne Wigginton, treasurer of the M. and M. Fund.

The mens choir led in the service of praise and sang as an anthem "Trust and Obey".

Rev. Russell F. Burns delivered a challenging message on the text "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

He said, that, generally speaking, we are too interested in our own well being and that our contribution to missions is small compared with our own spending.

He stated that the mission of the church is three fold: To proclaim to the world that there is one God; that there is only one human race and all are equal in God's sight; that the words of the text which is the commission of our Lord are just as meaningful now as they were long ago and that with God's help we must use our talent, ability, and resources into a store and living quarters, He did most of the work himself.

ALMOST GAVE UP

The first year they were in this country Mr. and Mrs. Halupa made application to have their children come to Canada and two years later they tried again. The application was approved by the Canadian Immigration Department, and the Red Cross gave what assistance it could, but the Hungarian authorities refused to consides giving the children passports. It was very discouraging and the Halupas almost gave up hope of seeing their children again.

Last Spring letters from their relatives in Hungary led them to believe that some of the restrictions on immigration had been relaxed and they made another effort with assistance from Mrs. A. C. Green, vice-president of the Red Cross for Prince County, and from V. F. Chisholm when he opened a branch office of the Department of Immigration in Charlottetown in July. This time the outlook was encuraging and now, after ten months of waiting and hoping and praying, their great desire is almost fulfilled. It will be completed when daughter Maria joins the family circle.

So far as they know, Mr. and Mrs. Halupa are the last of the separated Hungarian families in the Maritimes to be reunited with their children. A family in Dartmouth has been joined by their two children, and two other families, one in Halifax and one in Dorchester, N.B., have each been joined by one child.

LOVING PREPARATION

These last days of waiting have been filled with loving preparation — new bunk beds for the boys, a German shepherd puppy, toy cars and pistols. There have been moments of deligatful anticipation and moments of fear lest, at the last moment, something should happen.

Friends in Halifax invited the family to stay over night but they have refused the gracious hospitality. This is a time when the family must be alone and in their own home. Saturday evening Maria said, "It will be late when we get home. After they get through the customs we will drive home slowly so they won't be frightened. In Hungary everybody does not have cars as they do here, mostly there are only taxis. The children are not used to driving and even 40 miles an hour will seem very fast to them."

Mr. and Mrs. Halupa have made many friends in Alberton and the whole town has been awaiting this day of family reunion with eager anticipation and sympathetic joy.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD

Expansion Is Considered By Central Farmers Co-op

President of the Central Farmers Co-Operative Association Ltd., Malcolm MacKenzie said at the annual meeting last night the committee appointed by the directors to consider the possible ways in which our business might be expanded, met during the past year and a business consultant was engaged to make a survey of the feasibility of the proposals of the committee.

In speaking of the proposed expansion of the Co-op, Mr. MacKenzie said that "the balance sheet shows the acquisition of additional land at a cost of $50,000. Though many details of the planned expansion are still undecided, definite policy statements cannot be made at this meeting. A general meeting will be called when something becomes definite."

Speaking in the same vein of the expansion, a member of the expansion program committee, M.F. Hagan, who spoke in the absence of committee chairman Lorne C. Callbeck, said serious consideration has been given to plans for expansion as the present facilities are inadequate for good service. There is an immediate need for expansion and tentative planning shows a possibility of a new store. Nothing else can be said until matters become definite.

Co-op manager William C. Ball stated that during peak periods, the store at Queen and Richmond streets cannot adequately handle the volume of shoppers and there is a definite parking problem.

BUSINESS VOLUME UP

It was noted in the president's report and financial statement that he Co-op did about $1.8 million volume in grocery business last year with an increase over the previous one of $171,904. dent of the Co-Op and two new board members were elected; B.B. Jones, Bunbury and Wallace Coles, Parkdale. Charles Jones replaced retiring vice president Wallace J. Andrew and the other retiring board member was Walter MacMlln.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by secretrary Edgar Hogan and the financial report was given by manager William C. Ball.

A motion was passed where It was also stated that the Co-op employs 50 full time and 20 part time workers with an annual payroll in excess of $137,000. He noted that when the store began there was a net share capital of $6,000 and 38 co-op members and that has expanded to a $1.8 million business and nearly 1,800 members.

Malcolm MacKenzie, Charlottetown was re-elected as president W. R. Doane and Company were retained as auditors for the coming year. A motion to continue the five percent rebate on purchases and six per cent on share capital was upheld.

MEMBERS SOUGHT

Some discussion by the members was heard on the financing of the newly purchased property and expansion finances.

Manager Ball introduced a contest for present members to help gain new members saying that the objective of the contest would be the 2,000 member mark passed. He noted that if there was to be an expansion program new members would be a help in plans.

J. G. Dennis, Charlottetown, supervisor of P.E.I. Co-ops addressed the meeting.

The meeting was held at Birchwood High School.

Lobstermen Receiving High Prices

SOURIS — A price of 50 cents for canners and 55 cents for market lobsters was being paid in Souris yesterday as early lobster catches began coming in. The early morning prices were 42 and 47 cents but this changed during the afternoon.

Speculation in Souris is that the price may go even higher although this is an unusually high price for this early in the season. Catches in Souris have been averaging a pound per trap. Some boats landed 600 pound loads but most were around 300 pounds.

At North Lake, a couple of boats landed 800 pounds per load and the average per trap was a pound and a half. In that area only 60 percent of the traps are in the water as fishermen have been experiencing ice at the harbor mouth and heavy seas. They hope to finish laying their traps tomorrow.

At Naufrage, a pound per trap was the average, but there are a number of traps not yet in the water due to heavy seas in the area.
