"is this seat taken?"

On a train, you're in a little, warm and lighted world, sharing in an experience of which memories are made...

In the diner the young man said: "I do a lot of travelling by car, but whenever I can, I hop aboard CNR. I can think on a train, I can work if I feel like it, but mostly I enjoy that wonderful feeling of relaxing completely. Nowadays, the only two places I can really relax in are my home and on a train."

The older man said: "I love travelling by train... you know, today is an important anniversary to me." Before the young man had a chance to say anything he went on: "Many years ago I was a salesman, too. I was cocky. I was our firm's biggest producer and I knew everything. One day I got a letter from the president raking me over the coals for what I thought was a small mistake. I was on a train in ten minutes, roaring mad. I was going to quit, but first I was to tell the old boy off. "In the diner, still fuming, I was seated opposite a pretty girl. She radiated a sort of quiet dignity that seemed to calm me down. The six hours we travelled together changed my life. The next day I apologized to the president, and four months later I married the girl. In sixteen years, I was president. On every anniversary of that meeting, my wife and I have managed to be on a CNR train."

By CNR, travelling is a relaxing, rewarding experience — that's why every week more and more Canadians go CNR on such famous "name" trains as the Super Continental, the Continental, the Ocean Limited.
