Prepare For Canadian Conference On Education

J. GORDON MacDONALD

Organization in respect of the Canadian Conference on Education, which is to be held in Ottawa on February 17th to 20th, is gaining momentum on Prince Edward Island. It has been announced that J. Gordon MacDonald has been appointed Chairman of the Public Relations end of the Conference for the Province and in this connection the following committees have been set up under the chairmanship of: Robert F. Large, Radio and Television; Stanley M. McInnis, Films; H. E. Hyndman, Speakers'; L. D. MacKay, Press; and Mrs. J. P. Lantz, Women's Committees.

The Canadian Conference on Education was first discussed officially at a meeting in November, 1956, attended by persons from a group of widely representative national organizations. This meeting grew out of a strong conviction on the part of many people that the time had come for a truly national conference of both educators and laymen to in Canada. The Conference is under the sponsorship of 19 educational patriotic and industrial organizations and representatives of business and labour.

It is being financed under a Finance Committee headed by Trevor F. Moore, an Imperial Oil vice - president, by contributions from the sponsoring organizations, industry and labor. Financial support for the Conference through these sources is assured and no other appeal is being made for funds.

ALL EDUCATION

The Conference is unique in Canada in size, in the scope of its subject matter, and in representation. Laymen interested in education will represent labor, agriculture, business and industry, French Canada, women's and professional bodies and other groups. All areas related to education will be represented — from primary school to university, the school trustee to parent-teacher groups. It is said it will be of proportions, relatively, of the White House conference on education in the United States.

Some 700 delegates will attend, including representatives not only of the sponsoring organizations but of other groups, such as the Canadian Bar Association and the Canadian Medical Association, which have asked that they be allowed to participate. It is the duty of the Public Relations Committee for the Province to give this very worthy project as wide publicity as possible and, in this connection, Merle N. Schneckenburger, President of the Canadian Advertising Advisory Board, said recently: "We have been carefully examining potential public service campaigns. We are convinced that education represents Canada's number one national problem. And we are prepared — through the Council — to harness all of the power and skills of advertising to assist in its solution."

AMONG THE FARMERS

Federation of Agriculture Newsletter

C.F.A. MEETING

In view of the introduction of new price support legislation in the House of Commons and other legislation effecting agriculture the Canadian Federation of Agriculture has decided to hold a meeting of its Board of Directors on December 5 and 6. While there is no way of knowing just how significant or far-reaching the new legislation may be the Federation is acting wisely in examining it carefully and will no doubt make its views known to the government.

While there is in certain quarters undoubted opposition to price supports and deficiency payments (and they are certainly something less than ideal as a means of maintaining farm income) yet their opponents do not come forward with any alternate plan which will bridge the gap between income and expenditures on the farm and give the farmer something close to the cost of production. Certainly no one can argue that Canada has gotten into any serious trouble either in stored products or unwieldly surplus as a result of price supports.

Listeners to Farm Forum last Monday evening had the opportunity of hearing the views of Canada's Minister of Agriculture on matters of farm policy generally and farm credit in particular. The Hon. Mr. Karkness in discussing supervised farm credit it suggested that general acceptance of this idea would be necessary to make it workable. Mr. Karkness appeared to be frank in expressing his views and his pleasure in meeting with farm forum members.

IMMIGRATION

During the first six months of 1957 over 180 thousand immigrants came to Canada and almost one half of these settled in Ontario. Of the total slightly over 8 thousand were classified as agricultural workers. Out of this large number of settlers Prince Edward Island received 59, Nova Scotia 1,870 and New Brunswick 1,200. Quite surprsingly almost 24,000 went to British Columbia. The small number coming to this province may indicate different things but it appears to indicate that agriculture is not in a very good position to attract workers.

COLD POTATOES

The cold wave of Tuesday and Wednesday found many farmers with potatoes still stored in barns and other out buildings. Many made valiant efforts to get the potatoes moved quickly to safer storage but certainly there will have been many potatoes damaged. In spite of the fact that almost double as many potato pickers were imported into the province this year the weather hampered digging operations and we know of one farmer who finished up by digging two acres of potatoes last Sunday.

Recently of the press is "Progress and Prospects of Canadian Agriculture" a study prepared by the Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects. The volume runs to over 400 pages and is a storehouse of information on Canadian agriculture and its prospects. As a sample of the type of information which may be found we quote the following with respect to farm income on Prince Edward Island.

"Despite the generally high level of farm product prices which prevailed at the time, the gross value of products sold in 1950 was less than $2,500 on 76.8 per cent of the farms of Prince Edward Island. Another 12.9 per cent of the farms sold products to a value of between $2,500 and $3,750 per farm while the remaining 10.3 per cent had a product value of over $3,750. Indeed this latter group included 169 farms which sold products varying in value from $7,500 to $20,000 and over per farm. On the other hand of the large number of farms which sold products worth less than $2,500, 2,185 sold less than $1,200 worth, while the value of products sold by each of 1,372 more was actually less than $250. Still another 1,321 were classified as part-time farms."

In short, there is practically kind of information imaginable in this publication.

CONVENTION

Last Monday evening eight farm forums converged on the Uigg hall as guests of the Uigg-Kinross forum. Over seventy persons representing eight forums from as far away as Mermaid and Whim Road were present. If the gathering did nothing, it demonstrated the fact that farm forums are a means of getting people together in larger meetings for relaxation and gaining of information.

The fact that seventy persons met and listened together to a broadcast featuring the Federal
