English Elections.

THE English elections will be fought out very closely. The candidates are settling down into their places, and with the exception of the party strongholds, no seat will be undisputed. Mr. Gladstone has been put up in nomination for Leeds, in anticipation of a defeat in Midlothian, and Lord Hartington for Radnor, in the event of a like catastrophe in Northeast Lancashire. Not many men famous in art or letters are found amongst the new candidates for Parliamentary honors. Mr. John Morley, the editor of the Fortnightly Review, Mr. Borthwick, the editor of the Morning Post, and Mr. Bowles, editor of Family Fair, are the only literary names at present announced. Successful lawyers and merchants, and scions of noble and wealthy families supply the majority; and as another feature of the elections it is noticed that a very small number of the sitting members resign their seats—a fact which may be accounted for by the low number of new members, 140 in all, who have found their way into the House through bye elections.

Northwest Notes.

(From the Rapid City Enterprise.)

It has been decided by the men of B. Troop, Mounted Police, to get up a small printing press, and establish a weekly newspaper devoted to police news and subjects of interest in the Northwest. It will be edited by three members chosen by the shareholders, and will no doubt prove an interesting sheet.

Latest information from the Souris River coal-fields, located one hundred and fifty miles west of Emerson, brings the cheering intelligence that at a depth of sixty feet the miners struck a vein of coal seven feet thick, which is exactly the same thickness of the vein now being worked in the "Baby Mine," forty miles west of Bi-marck, Dakota, and about one hundred and fifty miles south of the Souris River coal fields, and coal from which is being used in the locomotives on the Yellowstone and Dakota Divisions of the Northern Pacific Railway.

The investigation directed against the Nihilists by Melikoff is still being carried actively forward. The theory has been broached in St. Petersburg that all these revolutionary movements have their origin among Jewish speculators. This is based on two facts. The first is that all the circulars issuing from clandestine printing offices are written in the imperfect Russian spoken by the Jews. The second is that when the attempt was made at the Winter Palace, a telegram, giving a Bourne order and addressed to Berlin, announced the crime a few minutes before the explosion took place. The person who deposited it been arrested. The commission of inquiry has also made this remark—That if the Nihilists boast of having adherents among the higher classes, it is always poor people who make the attempts at assassination. From this the inference is deduced that the drawing for the choice of the murderers is not conducted with much fairness.

As to the situation in general people now seem inclined to make light of it. Another attempt was seriously anticipated for March 8, and as it failed to come off we begin to disregard the threats of the Nihilists. Certainly St. Petersburg never appeared to be more tranquil than now. Numerous arrests, however, continue to be made.

An extraordinary case of persecution is that of Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, of New York, who has been relentlessly pursued by an enemy for some weeks past. The method of the persecutor is to send letters, to which the name of Dr. Dix is forged, through the post office, to friends of that gentleman in the city, inviting them to dine with him, attend a reception, spend the evening, &c., which engagements are kept to the dismay and astonishment of the past or and his family. Tradesmen, also, are ordered to send samples of their wares to be inspected by the Doctor, and in various other ways the peace of mind of Mr. Dix is seriously disturbed. As yet all efforts to detect the authors of these letters have proved futile. Every person who can be supposed to have a grievance with Dr. Dix, consequent on the official position of the latter, has been "shadowed," interviewed and investigated, but at present without the slightest contribution towards the elucidation of the mystery. The post office detectives, however, are as confident as they ever were that they will be successful in the long run, and are at work in a very zealous and intelligent manner.

At Danville, Pa., on March 18th, a terrible railroad accident occurred by which several persons lost their lives and a number of others were injured. A few minutes before 9 o'clock a passenger train bound east was switched off from the main track to allow the fast express bound west to pass, as it does not stop there. A number of passengers left the cars and strolled up and down the track in the vicinity of the train. The express train, going at a tremendous rate of speed, dashed through the crowd, scattering them on either side of the track. Three persons were killed outright, and it is feared several of the injured will die.

MISS BERTHA VON HILLERN, THE CELEBRATED PEDESTRIAN.—The only remedy used by her after long and continued exertion, and in fact, during her matches, is Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia. It not only relieves her relaxed muscles and cords, but gives her strength and endurance. She is never without a supply of the Liniment.—Giles' Pills cure Liver Complaint. Sold by W. R. Watson.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

MARCH 31, 1880.

THE office of the Boston Herald was burned on the 21st inst. Loss over $200,000.

MR. EDISON sold his patent on the electro-magnetograph to the Western Union Telegraph Company on Saturday for $100,000.

THERE are nineteen bachelor farmers in Walnut township, Pike county, Iowa, who are farming and doing their own cooking.

SWISS journals estimate that the use of the St. Gothard tunnel will take annually $150,000,000 worth of freight business from the French railways.

BOB INGERSOL "don't see how it is possible for me to die worth $5,000,000 in a city full of want." Egad it is difficult, Bob. It is hard to die worth even $1,000,000.

THERE are 60,000 locomotives in the United States, and each contains 2,800 different pieces, requiring renewal every ten or twelve years. This conveys a notion of the industries which railroads foster.

LARGE as is the number of new buildings erected in Toronto last year, the population has increased faster than the house room. There are 116 less houses vacant now than there were a year ago.

THE life saving stations at Big Sandy Creek, Mexico Bay, Oswego, Charlotte, Buffalo, Erie, Fairport, Cleveland and Marblehead went into commission on Saturday. The service saved 600 lives last season.

HANLAN'S new hotel, now building on the Island, Toronto, was blown down on Saturday afternoon, and fourteen men who were on the building were buried in the ruins. Some of them had their shoulder dislocated, legs hurt, faces cut, and otherwise injured.

LEADVILLE, COLORADO.—Says the Truro Sun: "One young man from Pictou, writes home from Leadville, Colorado, that he never saw so many idle people in his life as in that place. Other reports are equally discouraging."

MOVEMENTS OF CATTLE FOR EXPORT.—Yesterday 4 car loads of cattle, the property of Ald. McShane, of Montreal, came down by the Intercolonial, have left Chauderie Junction on Wednesday at noon and were housed in the Government freight house. A lot of 135 head also left this station for Halifax, and another lot of 103 head, the balance of a shipment that has been at this Station for some time, were to have started for Halifax this morning.—Moncton Times.

THE LATE DUKE OF PORTLAND AND NEWSPAPERS.—A newspaper bill of £1,300 a year is a privilege enjoyed by few. Yet this amount is said to have been expended on newspapers alone for many years by the late Duke of Portland. He subscribed to an immense number of daily and weekly journals, having four complete sets supplied of each—one for each of his Scotch houses, one for Welbeck, and one for Harcourt House. Some of them were bound up into volumes every six months. Principally in all his doings, the late Duke probably excelled royalty itself in his press expenditure.

ORATORY IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.—The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Star sends the following to that paper: Oratory, as an art, is at a very low ebb in our House of Commons; indeed, I do not know of more than three in parliament who could lay claim to that character with justice. Nor do they seem to make an effort to improve themselves; on the contrary, they have become confirmed in their ungraceful habits of utterance and gesture. Altogether, there is a greater number of stammering, stammering, jirking, aw-awing, speakers in the House this parliament than ever before in recollection. As bad habits are catching, the example is being followed and bids fair to be perpetuated unless the rising generation follow purer morals and cultivate better taste.

DAVE RITCHIE, an Indian, well known in the County of Bruce, Ontario, is at present in the Walkerton jail for threatening to shoot a man. This has encouraged a friend of his to give the following revelations:—In the year 1876 a quantity of lumber came ashore on the peninsula of Bruce, and Ritchie took possession of it, some of which was, however, stolen during his absence. In the same place, shortly afterwards, being in company with this friend, three Indians were seen approaching the land in a boat, whom Ritchie declared to be the parties who stole his lumber, and he said he would shoot them. The friend remonstrated, but Ritchie said he would shoot him too if he said anything about it. He then with one shot killed two of the Indians, and with an oar broke open the skull of the third. The bodies were then put into the boat, to which they were fastened, and sunk in a great depth of water. Constable Briggs, of Port Elgin, is working up the affair, and will doubtless obtain sufficient evidence to make Ritchie swing—something that has long been predicted for him.
