

THE DAILY EXAMINER

MAY 22, 1894.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An intelligent German subscriber of the Breeder's Gazette notes the difficulty of obtaining competent hired men on the farm, and comments on the "armies of the unemployed" now attracting public attention.

—If the cap did not fit Mr. A. McDonald he should not have put it on. The Examiner desires only to impress upon the public the importance of attention to every regulation for the prevention of the spread of infectious or contagious diseases.

—Values of Short-horn cattle are well maintained in the land of their nativity. At the late sales of the herds of the Duke of Northumberland and Sir Jacob Wilson an average of nearly $250 was made upon eight-one head.

—Information has been received from Washington by an eminent member of the Canadian Senate, that the Government of the United States has in contemplation the erection of extensive works for the smelting of nickel ores, which would give a great impetus to mining in the Sudbury district.

—Charles Dickens: "Whatever I have devoted myself to, I have devoted myself to completely; that in great aims and in small I have always been thoroughly in earnest. I have never believed it possible that any natural or ordinary ability can obtain immunity from the companionship of the steady, plain, hard-working qualities, and hope to be in the end a successful happy talent and some fortunate opportunity may form the two sides of the ladder upon which some men mount, but the rounds of that ladder are made of the same stuff to stand wear and tear, and there is no substitute for thorough-going ardent talent and sincere earnestness.

—Smallpox, as well as cholera, is going the rounds this year. No reasonable precaution against the invasion of either of these diseases should be neglected. Let cleanliness and vaccination be attended to in respect to smallpox. The situation now in regard to this disease, while in no way such as to give reason for any alarm, is grave enough to make precaution advisable.

—So the Patriot will not admit that the competition of the Canadian manufacturer which the National Policy has fostered into life has tended materially to the reduction of prices of goods purchased abroad. —The Owl, for May, contains an interesting study of the life and character of Mr. Gladstone, now a resident of Ottawa. In respect to his subject, Mr. Tranter quotes the lines: "I mark not one revealing to mankind, A larger nature or a nobler mind," and says: "As we look back through the long vista of years, a contemplation of his career is almost a contemplation of the century, blending in a preceding vision the wiser glory of the century whose forecast is already distinct.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the City Council was held last evening to pass the assessment by-laws and consider the appointment of city scavengers. Mayor Dawson and all the Council members were present.

Councillor Haszard moved that the by-law respecting the assessment on real estate and personal property for general city purposes be read a third time. Councillor Tanton moved in amendment that the bill do not now pass, but that it be referred back to the committee of the whole Council for the purpose of amending it by striking out the words "one per cent." as they appeared in the first and second clauses, and inserting the words "seven-eighths of one per cent." in lieu thereof.

The amendment was declared lost on the following division:—Ayes—Tanton, Douse—2. Nays—Haszard, Fennell, Robertson, Hooper, Taylor—6. The main motion was then put and carried, and the bill was read a third time and passed.

The bill respecting the rate of discount and the waterworks tax were also read a third time and passed. All the bills were ordered to be printed for two weeks in THE EXAMINER and Post newspapers.

The advisability of appointing city scavengers was then taken up, and after considerable discussion the following resolution moved by Councillor Haszard was put and carried:—Resolved, That the Street Committee by the Mayor be authorized to arrange for the appointment of two or more city scavengers whose duties and scale of charges shall be regulated by this Council, and to report to this Council at a meeting to be called for the purpose. Council adjourned sine die.

THE EAST ATLANTIC LINE.

The London Times publishes a description of the four steamers. The London Times publishes a description of the four steamers that are to be employed in the Anglo-cable service in connection with the Pacific line. The dimensions of the four Atlantic vessels are: 372 feet in length, 62 feet beam and a depth of hold of 43 feet, with a draught of 30 feet, making them the deepest vessels afloat. They are two feet deeper than the Cunard line Lucania.

The greater depth of the new steamers allows of a stronger hull, rendered possible by the fact that the Canadian and English harbours have deeper waters than the harbor of New York. At Paris, on Sunday morning at day-break, Emile Henry, the anarchist who was condemned to be decapitated for the explosion in the cafe of the Hotel Terminus in February last, was led from the prison De Larocquette to the instrument of death that stood just outside the prison walls in the place De Larocquette.

In front of the prison there were animals that the police had had work to remove. The crowd present was made up chiefly of the unemployed. At 12 o'clock the little gates of the prison swung open and the public executioner passed through, followed by a priest, although the condemned man had refused to accept his ministrations. The man Henry in his shirt sleeves and with his arms pinioned. His eyes glittered like those of a maniac, and he was deadly pale.

At the same moment Henry cried out again, "Vive l'Anarchi!" and then there was silence. The head of the anarchist dropped into the basket in front of the guillotine, while a torrent of blood flowed on to the deep vessel placed at the head of the guillotine.

The heaviest trunk was hardly deposited in the coffin prepared for it when the coffin, with the remains, was hurried to the burial place of executed criminals, where it was interred. As the van was driven away the crowd, laughing and joking, dispersed.

GOLD IN NEW SOUTH WALES.

A recently published return from the Sydney Royal Mint shows the gold yield of the colony for 1893, as compared with that of previous years. The total output for 1893 was 171,097.07oz. as against 145,239.48oz. in 1892, and 142,470.23oz. in 1891, showing an increase over 1892 of 26,857.59oz. The gross value for 1893 (for coinage) was $419,071. The western district yielded in 1893 54,896.03 oz., as against 57,748.83oz. in 1892, and 45,522.23oz. in 1891. The southern district gave 28,001.35oz. in 1893, as against 23,118.10oz. in 1892, and 24,506.06oz. in 1891. The northern district produced 44,893.27oz. in 1893, as against 43,791.59oz. in 1892, and 39,651.99z. in 1891. It will be seen that each district shows a material increase in the output, as judged by the quantities sent to the Sydney Mint for coinage. Gold is more abundant in New South Wales than in generally supposed. From Port Macquarie, 273 miles north of Sydney, to the Queensland border, the central district is one continuous gold-field. It is hundreds of miles in length, several miles in width, and there are in it millions of tons of alluvial deposit, containing gold to the extent of a few pennyweights to ounces per ton, and a fair percentage of nearly every known mineral. Gold is being continually washed upon the benches by the sea, along the coast, and is being carried to the sea by the "back terrace" work, probably. And behind the terrace are conglomerate beds, which require crushing machinery. But there are immense masses of material crushed by nature and ready to be operated upon, and which need the simplest machinery only to work.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

An East Cambridge Man Kills His Wife and Then Cuts His Own Throat. On Saturday evening, James Wilson, 40 years old, living at 225 Vine Street, East Cambridge, murdered his wife by cutting her throat with a razor, and then cut his own throat three times. Wilson, who is a laborer employed at John P. Seiple & Co.'s pork-packing warehouse, has until lately been an inmate of the inebriates' home at Foxboro, but was allowed to return home about three weeks ago. Both Wilson and his wife were drinking on Saturday and Sunday. While both parties were in the attic on Sunday, Wilson was taken with a fit of horrors. He seized a razor and made for his wife. She saw what his intentions were and tried to run down the stairs, but just as she reached the top of the stairs he caught her by the hair, pulled her head back, and drew the razor across her throat. She fell down the stairs and was found dead at the bottom. Wilson returned to the attic and took up his position before a looking-glass, made three gasps in his throat and fell over on the bed. Their daughter, the body of her mother a short time afterwards and sent for a doctor. Wilson was found in bed perfectly conscious. He was taken to the hospital, where his wounds were dressed. The doctors say that he cannot live.

During the past week Wall Street has found nothing to lift it out of the prevailing inactivity. The opinion that Lord Roselyne's administration will be a short lived one seems to gain ground daily. The annual report of the Savings Bank of New South Wales shows the end of 1893 the number of depositors was 65,657, having at their credit a sum of £1,302,468. The amount at the credit of the reserve fund was £227,202.

The financial depression reduced the contribution box collection of the Massachusetts Congregational churches last year by $185,000. When a crisis arrives that necessitates economy on the part of the church is generally the first to become practically aware of the fact and to feel most seriously. Professor Goldwin Smith has returned to Toronto with no very high opinion of the Canadian home rule member of the house of commons. He tells the Mail that Mr. Blake's mission to the British people everybody to be a failure. His oratory is allowed to be in a certain sense good, but it is ineffective. He has nothing particular to say. The supposed alliance between the Canadian self-government and the home rule, of which he was to be the grand exponent, is now clearly seen not to exist. If it was expected that he would obtain the control of the Irish party over the heads of the "Irish" leaders, that expectation has proved utterly unfounded.

DIED.

On the 2nd inst., after a protracted illness borne with patience and Christian resignation to the divine will, and fortified by the rites of her church, Catherine Haloren, aged 49 years, wife of Patrick Power, Souris Line Road, leaving a husband and a family of five girls and two boys to mourn the loss of an affectionate and devoted wife and mother.

Another morn than ours. Her quiet eyelids closed—she had. At his residence, 375 Drummond Street, Carlton, Melbourne, William Pethick Rowe, husband of Elizabeth B. Rowe, deeply mourned by his sorrowing family. The deceased was a brother of John T. Rowe, Esq., of this city. He was an architect and builder, and built many important buildings in the city of Melbourne. He retired from business in 1886, one of his last works before retiring being the erecting of a Unitarian Church. The deceased was in Charlottetown in 1840-41, and sailed from Plymouth, England, in 1853 for Australia.

Brief Wives' Bliss.—A late New York dispatch says: Kathie Beveridge Coghlan, the sculptress began proceedings to-day for an absolute divorce from Charles Coghlan, the actor and brother of Rose Coghlan. She sues on the statutory ground. She gives her age as 19 years in October last, and says she married Coghlan on October 25, 1893.

To-day the grand annual May Musical Festival opens at the Music Hall in Cincinnati, Ohio. The programme, which will be concluded on the 26th inst., comprises seven performances, with matinees on the 23rd and 26th. To-day's attraction is Handel's oratorio, "Elijah," while to-morrow Parker's "Hora Novissima," which stands pre-eminent as an American choral work, will be produced, with Chadwick's Columbian Ode.

The STAR TAILOR is evidently creating a manifest feeling amongst our good citizens in favor of the cash system. Yes, the people see that to save a few dollars on a Suit means something from a financial point of view. Every man who patronizes us under our new regime, we guarantee to sell cheaper than anybody else dare to and run heavy risks. Call to-day.
