BEG leave to acknowledge thanks to the public generally for the very liberal patronage extended to them since commencing business, and intimate that they have on hand a large and select stock of material for the manufacture of Sleighs, etc. They have recently received photos of all the latest prize sleighs of the Ottawa Exhibition. Parties requiring new sleighs would do well to call at their factory and examine before ordering elsewhere.

They keep on hand and make to order Top Buggies, Phaetons, the famous Dexter Spring Wagons, and carriages of every description. Repairing of all kinds done with neatness and despatch, and warranted to give satisfaction to those who favor them with a call, at prices to suit the times.

N. B.—Parties having their Sleighs repaired and painted would do well to leave them at once in order to have them in time for the first snow.

Wagons stored at moderate charges. Parties having their wagons repaired and painted in the spring will have them stored free of charge for the winter.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.

Secretary Schurz has received the following despatch from Gen. Hatch, President of the Ute Commission:

Los PINOS Agency, Nov. 26.

All investigation was stopped this morning by runners from the White River Utes, who stated that runners from the Wintah Utes say that troops were moving to Wintah Agency to make prisoners, and that all the Wintahs had left for the camp of the White River Utes, who now refuse to come in until assured that this is not the fact. The Indians have been informed by us that the report is false and that the troops are instructed not to advance during the present negotiations. An advance of troops would close any further business here. Ouray thinks the story was an invention of the Mormon element who are doing all in their power to create a disturbance. This will delay the commission six days until the White River runners return from the White River agency. Signed "Ab. Hatch, Commissioner."

EUROPEAN.

LONDON, Nov. 28.

At Sligo, to-day, the magistrates decided that the evidence which Rea proposed to call in favor of Killen was irrelevant, and decided to close the case and commit Killen for trial, admitting him to bail. Killen refused to leave the Court and was carried out. The Court was ordered to be cleared, but Davitt and Rea remained in defiance of the order. When the telegram containing the above was despatched, Killen was in jail and Rea addressing an excited crowd. Killen has stated to a reporter that some startling measures will be taken in his behalf in the law Courts. Several Sligo gentlemen were ready to bail him to day.

LONDON, Nov. 28.

In consequence of some technical points in the inquiry having been omitted in the confusion, it is intended to apply for a writ of habeas corpus to bring Killen before the Court of Queens Bench, and to attempt to quash the magisterial proceedings on various points.

The assizes will be opened at Corrick-on-Shannon, on the 11th prox., when the bills will be sent to the Grand Jury. The Crown will then suggest the removal of the case to a special committee of the Queens Bench at Dublin.

BERLIN, Nov. 20.

The Postmaster General proposes to Reichstag that his Department take charge of all Railway freight traffic.

Western Notes.

(From the Progress.)

The bark Malinco, Capt. Gallant, cleared from Summerside on Friday last, for Queenstown, with a cargo consisting of sixty-four thousand bushels oats, and twelve hundred and twenty-four pieces deals, shipped by the owner, Angus McMillan, Esq.

A correspondent from West Point informs us that an addition of 219 feet in length has been built to the wharf at that place. The contractor, Mr. Patrick McLellan, has finished his work in a manner highly creditable to him. Mr. Joseph McNeill was inspector, and the public will receive good value for the money expended. The addition will render the wharf of great service to the people of the surrounding country.

Shipments per Str. St. Lawrence, from this port for the week ending Nov. 29th, 1879:—162 barrels oysters, 44 cases eggs, 440 pounds leather, 800 do pork, 250 do feathers, 487 bushels barley, 521 do potatoes, 78 do oats, 7 barrels flax seed, 2 do geese, 2 do oatmeal, 1,104 sheep, 75 pelts, 2 horses, 100 yards cloth.—Total value, $5,395.00.

MORE PIGS.—The following heavy porkers were raised in Avondale, and the Halifax Mail will be very much surprised if these weights can be beaten:—

One of Bismarck's Little Dodges.

An amusing anecdote, of which Prince de Bismarck and Lord Odo Russell are the heroes, is published in the Vienna Neue Freie Presse. One day when the English Ambassador was calling on the Chancellor the conversation happened to turn on the numerous and annoying visits the latter had to undergo owing to his high position. "How do you manage to get out of them?" asked Lord Odo. "Oh! I have several little dodges," replied the chancellor, with a smile. "For instance, I have arranged with my wife to enter the room and request my presence elsewhere on some pretext or another, whereupon of course, my visitor has to leave." Hardly were the words out of his mouth when Princess de Bismarck opened the door and told husband not to forget that the hour for taking his medicine had arrived. The effect of this announcement on the Prince and his visitor may be imagined, but Lord Odo took the incident in good part, and, after exchanging a laugh and a cordial shake hands with the Chancellor, took the hint and his departure.

Sir John at the Ottawa Banquet.

The following is the concluding portion of Sir John A. McDonald's speech at the banquet given at Ottawa in his honor:—

RECIPROCIITY WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

The Government of Canada felt that, if it were going to introduce any system of encouragement to manufacturers, it must look for new avenues of trade, and we have directed our studies to that matter. We don't feel that we are flies on the wheel. We believe that a Government has a powerful influence for saving a country, for relieving commercial depression. (Applause.) We sent Sir Alexander Galt, a man whom some of you perhaps know as being the man who taught the Americans to the value of Canadian fish. (Laughter.) We sent him and Her Majesty's Government helped him as an ambassador to France and Spain for the purpose of opening up those markets. He laid the basis of

SUCCESSFUL NEGOTIATIONS

with both countries. We have the most cheering accounts from Madrid and Paris of an early reciprocal commercial intercourse. (Applause.) We have also opened negotiations with the Brazil country which would furnish a market for all our fish, a large portion of our lumber, our agricultural implements and everything we can manufacture in return for the opening market to the products. I have the satisfaction to announce here to-night that, but a few months ago, I received a letter from our agent in Rio Janeiro stating that the Legislature had passed a bill for reciprocal trade with all countries; that it was introduced with a view to Canada, and that in a few days he expected to be able to inform me that arrangements would be completed for a steam line running monthly between Brazil and Canada. (Enthusiastic cheers.)

To show you, gentlemen, how fast our trade is increasing and how by our energetic action we are attracting the attention of the world to our position, only a month ago I received a letter from Japan, signed by a gentleman with an unpronounceable name, the direction manager of a line of thirty steamers that run between Japan and Hong Kong, offering to put on at a reasonable subsidy a line of steamers between Japan and British Columbia. (Applause.) Wherever we can press the commercial interest of Canada and open new markets for her manufactures and products we will do so, (enthusiastic applause.) Mr. Blake in his speech says—and I am glad to see he is evidently coming back to Parliament a wiser and sadder man—he deprecates the use of abusive language. He deprecates the merely because they are brought forward by a party opposed to him. I am glad to get him back to Parliament and to know that he is taught a lesson that those by whom he is surrounded greatly needed. He declares that he is independent and that he will be independent, but in his speech I find that his independence is limited to three theoretical questions which will never be carried into law in his own time or in the time of any gentleman here. No matter what the Globe may say, when we come down to the working of the Protective Tariff we find that he is still in the gall of bitterness in the bond of iniquity. He is still engaged in the worship of Gannulet & Swablos, the nostrums of Free Traders, as humbly as he did anything in his life. Well, we must be satisfied with anything we can get. We must as Sancho Panza says, not look a gift horse in the month, but we will pardon him if a stronger nature than his whips him into voting when he is wanted to vote or to run away. Discretion is the better part of valor. Mr. Blake declared at once that he was in favor of free trade and left it there. This subject has been discussed for years in Parliament and in the newspapers. It has been in the Globe so much so that the Grits themselves say that they only read the New York news, as the only other news that the Globe contains is most N. P. His early training did not qualify him to discuss a commercial question like that. Drs. Johnson and Boswell went to the theatre one night. It was a little noisy, and Boswell being elated with the applause, commenced to imitate other animals, but was not successful. "My dear Boswell," said the doctor, turning to him, "I think you better confine yourself to the cow. I believe that Mr. Blake had better confine himself to Chancery, and leave the cow to others. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen,

I THANK YOU! EXTREMELY,

on behalf of my colleagues and myself. I thank you in very inadequate terms. Let me repeat that the way I have been sustained in Ottawa and in the Province of Ontario commands my deepest gratitude and claims my most earnest thanks. Never can I forget, while yet holding the reins of office, the warm hearted support, whether from the agriculturist, the workman or the manufacturer, that I have received in all parts. I can use, Mr. Chairman, truly the language that Burns used to his noble friend, Earl of Glencairn:—
"The bridegroom may forget the bride that was made a wife yesterday;
E'en the monarch may forget the crown that on his head an hour hath been;
The mother may forget the child that sits so sweet on her knee,
But I'll remember thee, Glencairn, and that thou hast done for me."
