

Sun To Be Probed By Scientists

SUNNYVALE, Calif., July 15 (AP)—With two big, weird looking instruments being built here, scientists will probe the sun for facts which may permit them to forecast which seasons or even years might be good or bad for agricultural productivity.

Liquor Reported Seized On Eskimo

A Canadian Press despatch from Grand Bank, Newfoundland, dated July 14th, stated that the R. C. M. P. at Grand Bank had advised that they had raided the P.E.I. Government owned supply ship Eskimo and seized contraband liquor from St. Pierre. Police were quoted as stating that this was the second time in a year that the Eskimo had been raided for the same reason, and that a charge will be made later.

The Guardian has been informed locally by no officers of the Eskimo, nor any officials of the Crown, the P. E. I. Industrial Corporation, which operates the ship, were involved in the seizure.

Apparently the liquor, two quarts and 13 pint flasks, was seized by the R. C. M. P. in the seamen's quarters. In addition there were a few cartons of cigarettes bought by the seamen in St. Pierre.

Mr. C. P. Reddall, shipping manager of the Corporation, stated last night that all seemen on the ship had been warned to declare any purchases made at the French ports. A notice to this effect, was posted on the ship's notice board. He also stated that all seemen had been notified that any violations involving the ship itself would be definitely placed as a responsibility of the individual concerned.

They were also told that any offences involving fines would result in the Corporation taking any action under the Canada Shipping Act it is entitled to take. This would of necessity be done to secure recompense for the Corporation.

Mr. Reddall pointed out that the Canadian Press report failed to mention that the first time it was alleged there were contraband goods on board the ship, the same goods had been properly searched by customs and declared at a previous port. They were later returned to the owners.

Hong Kong Builds For War And Peace

(By William Parrott) HONG KONG, July 15 (Reuters) This British colony, uncertain what the future holds, is building both for war and peace.

Parallel Construction Programs provide on the one hand for safety against attack and on the other for normal civic development. Anti-blast walls are being built outside the offices of key government departments and public utility companies.

At the same time, millions of dollars are being spent on developing the colony. Government plans include a city hall, blocks of apartments, hospitals, schools, administrative offices and new police and fire stations.

France Displays New Tanks, Motor Weapons

PARIS, July 15 (AP)—France displayed new tanks and motorized weapons in a Bastille Day parade Saturday which President Vincent Auriol hailed as affirming the country's "material and moral" rebirth.

In a reply to President Truman's message on the national fête day, the French President asserted that the country is united around the army of the republic.

"I assure you again of our will to make our effort side by side with all the free nations to discourage aggression," he said.

The two-hour parade of renewed French strength—the biggest military show in Paris since the war—was largely by courtesy of the U.S. military aid program.

But most of the 7,000 men in the parade marched in the British battledress they have worn since the end of the war. Even the once-colourful North African Spahis were in sober khaki and rode light tanks instead of plunging Arab horses.

Meters Tested, Fried, Frozen And Bashed In Toronto

TORONTO, July 14.—Toronto proposes to install 1,300 parking meters, costing, in total, $92,000 to $146,000. Before city council approves the meters, however, they want to know what they're getting. So the city is spending $200 to test the meters.

Prof. I. W. Smith, Prof. W. A. Wallace of the University of Toronto mechanical engineering department and Ted Simms of the Toronto traffic engineer's office are doing their best to ruin a dozen sample meters.

The final test—it has to be final because there may not be too much meter left—is to slug the specimen with a five-pound leaden ball swinging in a six-foot arc. The meters, to gain perfect scores, have to operate through all these tortures. Some $25,000 worth of university equipment is being used on them, and $300 worth of special devices have been built for the tests.

In addition, Prof. Wallace and his co-workers spend odd moments checking whether the meters can be fed slugs, or tricked into letting people park for free. The professor's lips, unfortunately, are sealed on this subject, but he hints that there are wavs.

The professor had a locksmith and a clockmaker check them over on that point, too. Of the six types of meters, two are automatic, and have to be wound by the policeman who comes around to collect the dimes (10 cents per half-hour downtown, one hour uptown).

The other four are manually wound by the customer when he puts in his dime. The meters under study are calibrated, most of them, for pennies and nickels. They have been converted, somewhat hastily, to meet the higher cost of parking in Toronto.

Miss Stanley Willis has been released from the P. E. I. Hospital and is now recuperating at her home at Cornwall. Mrs. Willis was the victim of an automobile accident which occurred on the mainland during the Apple Blossom Festival Week.

Mrs. F. L. Hennessey and her three children, Patricia, Frank Jr., and Maureen, who have been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Saunders, are now vacationing for the summer, at Tracadie Beach. Mr. Hennessey will join his family in August for a holiday.

U. S. A. visitors now enjoying holidays at Kingston and vicinity include: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aldrich of Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Newer of New Hampshire; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Newton and their two children of Chicago.

Irrigation Dam To Be Opened In Alberta Today

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., July 15 (CP)—One of the largest crowds to assemble in Southern Alberta for a single function in many years is expected to attend the official opening tomorrow of the $7,000,000 St. Mary River irrigation dam by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Officials are confident that, barring adverse weather, more than 10,000 persons will congregate at the dam site. Representatives of at least six provincial governments and many members of parliament and senators will be present.

Before opening the biggest and highest earthen dam ever built in Canada, Mr. Gardiner will be ceremoniously admitted to the blood Indian tribe as an honorary chieftain. He will take the name Klis-Tskum-Ina-Thunder Chief.

The St. Mary River dam is the key structure for the 510,000-acre, $30,000,000 St. Mary-Milk Rivers Federal-Provincial irrigation project.

The over-all scheme will tap four international rivers to provide irrigation waters for fertile lands lying from the southwest of Lethbridge to a few miles beyond Medicine Hat. Jointly developed by the Federal and Alberta Governments, it is the largest irrigation project ever attempted in Canada and will take a number of years to complete.

Quemoy Still Focal Point

QUEMOY, China, July 15.—(Reuters)—This barren island two miles off the Chinese Communist coast and 300 miles north of the British colony of Hong Kong, today remains a tensely-peaceful focal point in the Chinese situation.

Under the muzzles of sporadically active Communist guns, 60,000 of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's best combat troops wait uneasily to defend this last Chinese Nationalist link with their lost mainland.

Once the base of operations for generations of bloodthirsty Chinese and Formosan pirates, Quemoy's occupants today have taken on a purely defensive role. Pirates' look-outs have given place to pillboxes, barbed-wire entanglements and machine-gun nests.
