Airline Said Ignoring P.E.I.

Since Eastern Provincial Airlines took over from Maritime Central Airways, the feeling has been building up that the Island is being ignored.

Passengers on recent flights to and from the Island have observed that four tourist brochures placed in the back of each seat tell widely of the attractions of Newfoundland.

But literature relating to Prince Edward Island is nonexistent.

WIDE-RANGING

Plans for housing and feeding the multitude of visitors expected to arrive in P.E.I. for the 1964 Centennial celebrations, were the main topic of discussion.

The lack of private telephone communication between rural centres has proved to be a major drawback in the tourist association's plan to have a base of operations in Charlottetown where data on available accommodation could be compiled and released to tourists.

The tourist traffic and accommodations committee, headed by A.B. LePage, is at present working on the proposed plan to use a point to point radio system to overcome this lack of communication between the five key centres in the province concerned with organizing the accommodation situation.

An emergency accomodation committee will be formed at an early date to supplement the work of the main base in Charlottetown.

MOSQUITOES, LOBSTERS

Ranging in subject from too many mosquitoes to too few lobsters, a brief discussion period following the regular business session saw many tourist resort operators voice opinions.

It was obvious the lack of quantity and the high price demanded for lobsters was cause of considerable concern. One woman stated lobsters could be purchased cheaper in Boston than here; a man said the same condition held so far as Montreal is concerned.

A.W. Gaudet, secretary treasurer, stated fisheries people felt the problem was not shortage of lobsters but the asking price. He said the price at the shore here was dictated by buyers from New Brunswick and they set it high.

Primary concern of restaurant and resort operators was that during the peak tourist season fresh seafood was unavailable and they particularly mentioned oysters, scallops and lobsters. Some worry was also expressed over the possible non-operation of the lobster pound at Victoria with some speakers feeling a possible solution might be the establishment of several small pounds in different resort areas.

POUND PROMISED

Hon. J.D. Stewart, minister of tourist development, said there would be a lobster pound in operation in this city next year.

The Minister also stated the government would have in operation a course for cooks next spring in vocational schools and if possible another course for waitresses. In reply to a question he said such classes would be operated both in Charlottetown and Summerside provided there were a sufficient number of applicants.

Mr. Stewart also said New Brunswick authorities had told him the road from Aulac to Port Elgin would be practically abandoned next year to permit completion of rebuilding. But there would be a completely paved roadway through Shediac and another parallelling the present route. He admitted to worry over 'our own road from Borden'.

North Shore operators were worried about the prevalence of mosquitoes and one man said "we can't have both mosquitoes and tourists" as he urged a combined program by provincial and federal governments to end the nuisance by early season spraying. Another operator proposed the association itself contribute to the cost.

RAPS CHICKEN HABIT

LONDON (AP)—Residents of Britain were warned Tuesday they must abandon the practice of keeping live goats and chickens in their homes. Dr. G. Hamilton Hogben, a medical officer of the London borough of Hornsey, said he had come across immigrant families who were keeping live chickens tied to their bedposts. In his annual report, Dr. Hogben said: "That the practice is unsanitary as well as cruel is not easily grasped by a people who have been used to such habits."

P.E.I. Is Leading Legion Campaign

The Island Command Royal Canadian Legion now leads all of Canada in membership increase.

F. Pius Smith, provincial membership chairman, returned last evening from Ottawa where he attended a two-day meeting of the national committee for membership where it was learned that with an increase of 16.6 per cent the Island command is leading all of Canada in the present drive for members.

The P.E.I. Command therefore has a good chance of winning the trophy which is to be presented at the Dominion convention in Winnipeg next May.

Mr. Smith warned, however, against any complacency. "It will not be easy for the larger commands to see the dominion trophy go to little P.E.I. and we can expect them to go all out to prevent this", he said.

He added that the splendid showing made by the Charlottetown Branch was in great measure responsible for the position in which the Island command finds itself.

Taxi Rates In Outlying S'side Area To Be Increased Friday

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Taxi rates in the outlying areas of Summerside will be increased by 25 cents, effective Friday, it was announced yesterday by one of the two stands in Summerside, Town Taxi.

On Oct. 26, following a revision of a town by-law, the rates in the immediate town area were increased, and it was felt that an increase in rates for the outlying areas was needed also.

Roy Grady, manager of Town Taxi, said yesterday that the reason for the increase was the extra rise in operating costs over the past few years.

Cab rates in Summerside were believed to be among the lowest in Canada, and local drivers, faced with higher fuel costs, garage labor and car depreciation are finding operating costs prohibitive.

Gas, for example, has gone up 4½ cents per gallon, garage labor is $3.50 per hour, and depreciation on a new car is at least $1,000 in the first year.

Hospitality Is Keynote Tourist Ass'n Informed

By GAIL REDDEN

Hospitality is to be the keynote of the 1964 Centennial, according to Dr. Frank MacKinnon, chairman of the Provincial Confederation Centennial Directors, and guest speaker at the P.E.I. Tourist Association banquet at the Charlottetown Hotel last night.

Dr. MacKinnon remarked that there are two sides to hospitality, the negative and the positive, and he hopes that all hotel managers will concentrate on the positive side.

One element that all of the Fathers of Confederation testified to after their session on the Island was hospitality. Dr. MacKinnon suggests that the best way to bring and keep tourists on the Island is to offer them the utmost in hospitality.

There are three phases to the centennial: historical, entertainment and business. None of these phases will be neglected in the program being arranged for the celebrations.

"The Centennial is not just a matter of getting in large amounts of people, it is an event; it should be something that will be remembered for years after. Visitors should be able to return home saying, 'Their celebrations made them really worth being named the Cradle of Confederation,'" says Dr. MacKinnon.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

In the discussion period following Dr. MacKinnon's speech, the problem of the lack of alcoholic beverages in the Island restaurants came up. Someone from the floor remarked that there were more drunks in Charlottetown than there are in Montreal. "That's because there's no room in the Jail - no place to put them," screamed a voice from the back of the room. "I'm going to start bootlegging," cried another.

On being questioned on the subject, Hon. J. David Stewart, provincial secretary and minister of tourism, said, "We have existing laws which we have to obey but if they were changed there is no one in this room who would be happier than I to announce it."

He also said that "we as a government have never had any representative group asking for a change", and that there should be a broadening of the laws so that liquor and wine can be served in his personal opinion.

$9,000, NOW SPENT

Mr. Stewart announced the amount spent by tourists in the province last year as being $9,000,000, with the amount rising to $10,000,000 this year, making an increase of 9.7 per cent.

The directors for the coming year are Creelman MacArthur, Summerside; Ross MacKenzie, Summerside; James MacLean, Summerside; James MacLean, Charlottetown; Charles Downe, Charlottetown; Gordon Shaw, Brackley; and elected in Wendell Mutch's place for a one-year-term was Jack Anderson, Southport. Mr. Mutch has retired.

Charles Linkletter was re-elected president; Frank Pellerin, vice-president; Alan Holman, second vice-president; and A.W. Gaudet, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Mutch was made an honorary life-member of the association, the first in its history.

Separatism Seen Doomed By Robichaud

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Louis Robichaud said Wednesday that separatism is doomed to extinction in contemporary Canada.

The New Brunswick premier was interviewed after he and Mrs. Robichaud were welcomed at Montreal City Hall by mayor and Mrs. Jean Drapeau. He was to speak Wednesday night at a reception on St. Helen's Island, mid-St. Lawrence River site of the 1967 Montreal World's Fair.

Separatism "is a movement born from time to time but destined to disappear," he said. "Perhaps geographic boundaries are made to be broken—but certainly not in our lifetime."

The premier said there is also no reaction to events in Quebec province by French-speaking residents of New Brunswick.

"We neither marvel nor worry about separatism because we believe it will disappear.

UNLIKELY SITUATION

"I am sometimes asked what New Brunswick would do if Quebec goes separatist. My answer is that I've never even asked myself the question because I consider it so unlikely."

Driver Is Fined For Impairment

SUMMERSIDE — James Hall, Summerside, was found guilty yesterday by Magistrate R.S. Hinton in police court on a charge of impaired driving and was fined $125 and costs.

The accused was represented by Melville Campbell and evidence for the Crown was given by Cpl. Champion and Cnst. Arsenault.

The charge arose when the town police were called to investigate an accident on Central Street at approximately 12.30 Oct. 25.

Benjamin J. Gallant, Summerside, on a charge of failing to supply the name of the person in charge of his vehicle at the time of an accident when requested to do so by police, had his case adjourned until a later date.

would determine whether one cent or two cents per 100 pounds is desirable.

Several producers at Montague were sharply critical of the potato marketing board, while several at the Charlottetown parley said emphatically the board should be composed of all farmers. Others said the members named should be approved by farmers. The board is composed of three producers, three dealers and three named by the co-operative union. That requirement is a part of the marketing act and cannot be changed except by an act of the legislature, it was explained.

Ships being loaded on an auction basis—the reference here was to the Greek order—was sharply criticized at Montague. It also came under fire in the Queens meeting and at Summerside where suggestions for promoting Island potato sales on American and foreign markets was advocated.

AIM AT ONE MARKET

Mr. Reid suggested at Charlottetown the best approach to promotion might be to select a given consuming centre and concentrate the advertising effort in that area. Dispersing the advertising effort over too wide an area would mean that effective work could not be done in any area with the limited budget available, he said.

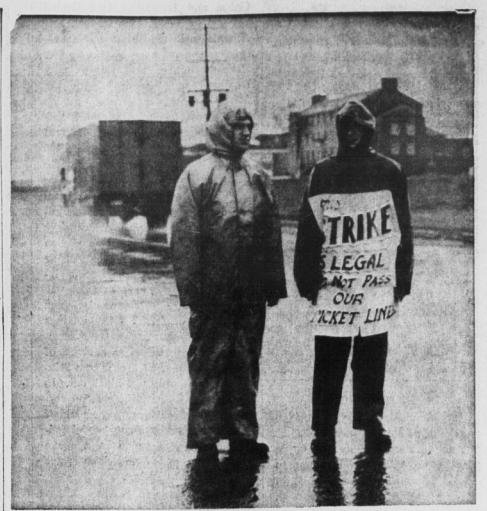
A one-cent levy would leave approximately $20,000 for promoting the sale of potatoes, after paying administrative costs of the board. A two-cent levy would leave $70,000 for promotional use, Mr. Reid said.

There was widespread discussion at the meeting in Charlottetown though most spoke from their seats and did not rise to be identified. Main speakers were George Howatt, French River who presided and Mr. Reid, both members of the marketing board; Dave Rogers, P.E.I. department of agriculture and Dennis MacFarlane, president P.E.I. Federation of Agriculture.

Speakers at Montague included R.L. Burge, Five Houses, who is chairman of the marketing board, S.C. Wright, deputy minister of agriculture, Leo Mcisaac, Mermaid and Leith Townshend, Rollo Bay, who presided-both of the latter are board members—and J.L. Dewar, New Perth.

Kenneth MacLean, Central Lot 16 presided at the Summerside meeting. Special speakers included Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae and Herbert Myers, Linkletter.

Several speakers at Charlottetown urged strongly that farmers should get together and form their own organization to control their activity, while others pointed to the fact only 34 voted when the question of supporting or rejecting a levy was placed before them.



PICKET LINE REMAINS FIRM

The picket line remained in position despite the strong winds and heavy rain caused by Hurricane Ginny Tuesday. The picket line is in front of the A. Pickard Machinery Ltd. plant on Malpeque Road. Members of Local 721C of the International Union of Operating Engineers have been on strike for a week in an effort to obtain a working agreement calling for time-and-a-half pay for overtime beyond 50 hours a week.

550 Short Lobsters Results In $100 Fine

ALBERTON — George Kinch, Alberton South, was fined $100 and costs by Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald at Alberton yesterday on a charge of possession of 550 undersized lobsters. Kinch's record showed six previous convictions since 1952 and he was sternly warned by the magistrate that any further violations of the fishery regulations would result in a stiff jail term.

Louis Francis Gavin, Tignish, charged with driving while impaired was fined $75 and costs or 20 days.

Leslie Heber Hardy, Elmsdale, was fined $10 and costs for improperly parking a motor vehicle and Carl Ellsworth, Tignish, was given a similar fine for double parking.

A resident of Pleasant View was fined $30 and costs for intoxication in a public place.
