Insurance Bill Passes

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's revised unemployment insurance legislation was given final Commons approval Tuesday after a defeat of Opposition attempt to retain the present 51 weeks as the maximum period of coverage.

Members voted 108 to 61 against a Progressive Conservative motion for reconsideration of the provision setting 36 weeks as the maximum period in which unemployed could draw benefits.

The measure, which also would increase the ceiling on the amount of payments, then was passed and sent to the Senate for approval.

Top weekly payments would be $30 for married persons and $23 for single unemployed, compared with present ceilings of $24 and $17.10 respectively.

KEEP IN TRIM

Run To Slim Down

By Ida Jean Kain

When a teen-ager has tried for four years to take off bulging pounds and just gets fatter, the thing to do is to take a fresh approach and tackle the problem from an inspired new angle.

"When I was 15, I started dieting, and since then I have tried constantly to lose weight — but have gained instead. I am now 19 and weigh 155 pounds. The doctor has told me to lose 25 pounds, but somehow I just can't stick to the diet."

"Probably you'll think I haven't really tried, but please believe I have. I actually hate myself for not being able to do it. I want so badly to slim down and form good food habits, and I want to do it now while I'm still young."

"I don't know how to slim down and form good food habits, and I want to do it now while I'm still young. I make promises to myself and to my mother (who wishes I'd lose), but so far I've broken every promise. I've often thought it might be an emotional problem, but the only problem I have is not being able to lose. Oh, won't you please help me?"

"Yes! Is there another chubby girl among your acquaintances — in school, where you work, or at your church? Ask her to be your reducing pal. You can help each other and have fun streamlining together."

To double check, I talked with a psychiatrist and asked his advice as to the best way to help change your failure pattern into a winning routine. He pointed out that she is steadily regaining her health.

Michael-McKarris Wedding

The principals in the Michael-McKarris wedding, which took place on May 23 at St. Peter's Cathedral, Charlottetown, are from left to right: Mr. Harry Shama, usher; Mr. Edward Michael, best man; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lorne Michael, the groom and bride; Miss Sally McKarris, maid-of-honor; Miss June McKarris, bridesmaid; Miss Dot Michael, bridesmaid; Mr. Paul Kays, usher. In front is Miss Louise Ghiz, flower girl. — (Meyers Studio)

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a lovely spring wedding on May 23 when Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKarris, and Francis Lorne Michael, son of Mr. Thomas Michael and the late Mrs. Michael were united in marriage.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon G. E. Moffatt. The wedding music was played by Miss Suzanne Brenton.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of white hand clipped Chantilly lace and gossamer nylon tulle over shimmering white satin. The fitted bodice featured a scooped neckline embroidered with iridescent sequins and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. The full skirt had handkerchief panels of lace flowing into a slight court train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a half hat of tulle embroidered with iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Sally McKarris, maid of honour, Miss Dot Michael, Miss June McKarris, bridesmaids were attired in gowns of turquoise-velvet and mauve net over taffeta with crinoline skirts and matching boleros and head dresses. They carried nosegays of poms and carnations.

Miss Louise Ghiz, niece of the bride as flower girl wore a floor-length white taffeta dress with pink sash ending in streamers at the back, and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece blue dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The best man was the groom's brother, Mr. Eddie Michael, and the ushers were Messrs. Paul Kays and Harry Shama.

Following the ceremony and dedicated Mrs. Weeks conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. J. W. Waugh reported three missionary books read and Mrs. Bonnyman gave the following report of Community Friendship Work: 32 home calls, 10 Hospital calls, 18 cards, 18 treats and one bouquet of flowers.

Plans were made for the next meeting when Mrs. Bonnyman will be hall hostess; Mrs. Fred Leard will lead the Worship Service; and Mrs. C. H. Weeks will present the study.

Mrs. Aubrey then led the study period for the day. The program describing the financial policy of the W. M. S. took the form of a panel discussion in which the leader was assisted by Mrs. Waugh, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Ramsey and Miss Annie Leard.

By questions and answers the whole financial set-up of the organization was explained and an insight given into the use made of the money raised. It reception was held at the Queen Hotel for 130 guests. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake and attractively decorated with silver candelabra and vases of poms.

The newly-weds then left on a honeymoon trip to Montreal, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Boston.

The bride's going-away costume was a pale blue suit with white hat and purse with which she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Out of - town guests present at the wedding were: Mrs. Stanley Leftly, Toronto, and Mrs. Peter Cleve and daughter Mary, Kentville; Mr. Victor Cleve, Windsor N. S.; Mr. Isaac Cleve, Berwick N. S.; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Sarge, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sarge, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hitz, Amherst, N. S.; Mr. and Mrs. George Aillick, Mr. John Aillick, Lily Aillick and Mr. Ed Joseph, Springfield.

Dramatic Dotted Dress

Oleg Cassini, one of our most outstanding designers, created this perfectly delightful frock for the summer season and it is a charming example of his great sense of design.

Simple, smart and cool this version of the shirt-dress is made of coin-dotted cotton which makes the dramatic effect. A perky collar and push-up sleeves set off the long torso, which is emphasized by the low-waist fullness.
