Grain

WINNIPEG, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Oats and barley prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Saturday developed a firm trend under aggressive commercial demand. The commercial demand also appeared in the other commodities.

Fairly liberal offerings were well-absorbed. Rye saw some American interest while local buyers sought flax.

The market was governed by unfavorable weather conditions over the prairie grain belt and late shipment of grain.

Class two wheat, for export to countries outside the International Wheat Agreement, was unchanged.

There was no export business reported.

Climbing Prices Give Boost To Sheep Farming

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—Climbing world prices for wool and buoyant prices for meat have stirred sudden popularity for sheep-farming in Canada.

J. W. Graham of the Agriculture Department's Production Service, anounced that the demand for breeding stock has been "terrific." There wasn't enough to go around.

Demand for stock also was sweeping the United States, he added. He had an order for 500 head from an American source on his desk and "it can't be filled."

The Canada-wide scamper for sheep, said Mr. Graham, was caused partly by the world wool situation. Canada normally consumed about 100,000,000 pounds of wool a year. In some years she has been able to produce about 20,000,000 pounds on her own land. This year, it was doubted whether she would produce more than 7,900,000.

Stocks of sheep in Canada have slipped from about 4,000,000 head during the second world war to about 2,000,000.

"I think it's the lowest in 20 years," said Mr. Graham. "In the United States stocks have declined from a one-time 60,000,000 head to about 30,000,000."

He blamed the high wartime demand for bacon and the "intense campaign that was waged for higher pork production" for the slide in sheep development.

It might take years, he added, before Canada would gain a solid footing in the sheep business. A great deal of breeding would have to be done in Canada. Australia and other Commonwealth points would have to be scoured for stock imports.

Steel Situation Getting Tight

WINIPEG, Oct. 21 — (CP) — Spokesmen for four large steel companies with Winnipeg offices said today the steel-supply situation is getting tight.

They said sheet steel is scarcer than other types. They expressed belief construction work soon would be affected.

The Winnipeg Free Press says defence allocations of steel in Canada and the United States "are cutting sharply into consumer steel products and a shortage of cars, refrigerators and other domestic goods was forecast today for 1951."

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Honesty may be the best policy but sometimes its rewards are small.

Billy Pilot, a house painter, found a wallet containing $2,000 in cash on St. Catherine Street. He reached the owner through an identification card and returned the lost wallet intact.

His reward was $20.

Conduct Secret Research For Armed Forces At 8 Canadian Establishments

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21—(CP)—Secret research for the armed forces—from chemical and germ warfare to defence against insects—is being done at eight Government establishments between Halifax and Esquimalt, B. C.

Their story was outlined tonight by Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board. He said national safety kept him from giving details.

He did not mention in his speech to the Manitoba Chamber of Mines the atomic research known to be under way in the Dominion.

This was his description of work at the boards' eight research projects:

Halifax—the naval research establishment is working on anti-submarine warfare, including "possible new types of naval craft which would have greater speed and other special characteristics."

Valcartier, Que.—the Armament Research and Development Establishment is experimenting with guided missiles and other new weapons. It recently perfected a "greatly improved anti-tank round (shell) for the 17-pounder anti-tank gun which will be used by Canada's special force."

Ottawa—the Chemical Laboratory dealing with "the defensive aspects of chemical and biological warfare," with special attention to chemical warfare in the Arctic.

Ottawa—the Radio Progation Laboratory, doing radio research in the far north which is of utmost importance since "no country but Russia is in a position to make the observations that can be made in Canada."

Ottawa—the Electronics Laboratory which is studying military signals problems and the electrical problems involved in proximity fuses which explode shells before actual contact with a target, in guided missiles and in automatic bombing systems.

Kingston, Ont.—a small bacteriological warfare research laboratory which is doing "splendid work on some of the basic problems of defence . . ."

Toronto—the Defence Research Medical Laboratory which is studying medical problems of the air force and will gradually expand to include the three services.

Fort Churchill, Man.—a research laboratory which is the hub of Arctic research, including problems in use of weapons in the far north—work so secret that Dr. Solandt said it can't be discussed.

Suffield, Alta.—the Suffield Experimental Station which in 10 years has "become world famous for its field trials in chemical and biological warfare." It also does flame-warfare tests.

Esquimalt, B. C.—the Pacific Naval Laboratory studying anti-submarine warfare on the Pacific coast.

Transport Case In Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct 21—(CP)—Whether Canadian National Railways should base its rates over the Cabot Strait water route on mainland or Newfoundland rail fees was argued yesterday before the Board of Transport Commissioners hearing here.

Under the terms of union which brought Newfoundland into confederation as a 10th province, the gulf service is said to be an extension of the rail line. But the terms do not say which line.

The Newfoundland Government claimed today that it was an extension of the standard-guage mainland line.

The C. N. R., however, says it is an extension of the narrow-guage Newfoundland line and that the higher rates of this line should therefore be used in fixing the water charges.

The first phase of Newfoundland's case in its appeal for an adjustment in the C. N. R. Tariffs ended today and Knox Dysart, C. N. R. counsel, began his cross-examination.

Much of today's evidence centred around the difference in guage—width of the tracks—on the mainland and in Newfoundland.

Government witnesses claimed that the narrower cars could carry as much freight as those on the mainland.

Mr. Dysart admitted that this could be so but contended that the number of cars would have to be split into two trains, making an additional charge on the railways. This, he said, justified a surcharge.

Every peace officer who anywhere in the Province finds fireworks shall forthwith seize the same and bring them before a Stipendiary Magistrate or a Justice of the Peace, who shall thereupon issue a summons addressed to the person or persons in whose apparent possession the fireworks were at the time of seizure, commanding him or them at the time and place therein named to show cause why the fireworks so seized should not be confiscated, and upon the matter being heard unless the Magistrate or Justice of the Peace is satisfied that the same are permitted or authorized under this Regulation, he shall proceed to make an order declaring the fireworks to be confiscated to His Majesty in the right of the Province, and the Justice shall have power to make such order whether or not the person named in the summons is the owner or otherwise entitled to the possession of the said fireworks,
