L.P.U. CARD PARTY — A very successful card party was held Monday night at the L.P.U. Hall, sponsored by the Women's Social Club. There were 15 tables playing. The winners were: Ladies first prize, Mrs. Ralph Ye; ladies second, Mrs. Helen Connor and Mrs. Ben Shepherd. Gents first, Mr. Blair Ryan; second, Mr. H. A. Ebers; door prize, Mr. William Girffin; freezout, Mrs. MacLeod and Mr. MacLeod.

LEGION COLLECTING BOOKS — The Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion is at present collecting pocket size books to forward to the fighting men in Korea. At present two boxes have been gathered together, and these are being sent to the Dominion Command who forward them to the war zone. Books requested for this purpose are regular pocket editions, which include such small magazines as Coronet and Reader's Digest. These can be left at any branch of the Canadian Legion in this Province who will forward them to the Provincial Command.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL — Messrs. Joseph and Brendon Flood of South Melville, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Donahue of Cornwall, left by motor on Wednesday last en route to Lowell, Mass., to attend the funeral of their uncle, Ernest J. Ready, whose death had occurred there suddenly the previous day. The late Mr. Ready had a host of friends in this province besides many relatives who will all regret his untimely passing. He was more than an annual visitor to the Island, having made several trips these past seasons and had spent the month of October last with his sister, Mrs. J. D. Flood, South Melville.

RETURN TO ALASKA — Mr. Ben Luque and Mrs. Luque have returned to their home in Alaska, after having spent a brief holiday in this province and in New York. Mr. Luque is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Luque of Crapaud and New York.

83-YEAR-OLD HUNTER — 83-year-old Goldie Smith of Cornwall brought home a couple of wild ducks last week-end which he shot near the home of Lea Howard. Smith has a steady hand and a keen eye despite his 83 years and when he brought down the quackers, they fell in the water. Undaunted, Smith got into a pair of hip rubber boots and rescued his prize.

TRUCKS COLLIDE — Two new half ton trucks collided at the intersection of Fitzroy and Weymouth early on Monday afternoon. A Government truck being used by the Cotton Nursery, Southport, was being driven south on Weymouth when it was struck by one owned by a resident of Johnston's River. The Government truck was hit almost in the centre and both vehicles were carried to the south-east corner of the intersection by the force of the impact. No one was hurt, but both trucks were badly damaged.

TRINITY MISSION CIRCLE — The December meeting of Trinity Mission Circle was held in the Social Hall on Monday evening, December 19th. This being the Christmas meeting, the worship service was a Candle Lighting Service centered around the story of Christmas, and was conducted by Marion Martin, Nan Kirby, Blanche Howatt, Jean Kennedy and Louise Cox. During the ser-

IN MEMORIAM
NEIL R. MACLEOD
There passed away unexpectedly in the P. E. I. Hospital on November 4th, 1950, Neil R. MacLeod in his 73rd year. His death was a great shock to his family and also to the community of Hunter River where he was a life-long resident on the old homestead.

The deceased was a man of sterling character, noted for his fair dealings and honesty with his fellowmen. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife (nee Katherine Nicholson) two sons and three daughters, namely: George and Carlisle at home; Jeanette (Mrs. Henry Pollock) North Wilshire; Christine in Toronto and Beatrice at home. Also left to mourn is one brother, John Alexander, New Mexico. His funeral which was largely attended was held at the home on November 7th and was conducted by Rev. Howard Christie assisted by Rev. Donald Nicholson. The remains were then conveyed to Hartsville Cemetery, there to await the glorious resurrection.

Card Of Thanks
Mrs. Katherine MacLeod and Family, Hunter River, wish to acknowledge great thanks and appreciation to all those who helped to lighten their burden of sorrow in their recent sad bereavement by sending flowers, messages of sympathy and cards.

Thoughts For Our Time

By His Eminence Cardinal McGuigan (Copyright)

When the first atomic bomb was dropped upon Hiroshima, it was a terrifying announcement that a new era had dawned. Through scientific experimentation, man had entered into the secrets of the physical world and freed the most powerful energy that had ever been held.

But the blinding flash which signalled the advent of this age was not like the light of the Star which shone over 1,900 years ago announcing to a troubled world that a Saviour had been born. The Star that shone in the east brought hope. The light of the atomic bomb brought fear. And the shadow cast upon the earth on that fateful day has now entered into our lives and blighted us with a pessimism that has no equal in history.

Who can analyze the tragedy of the present moment and not be filled with anguish? Europe, that has yet to rebuild its cities and towns, is once again bristling with fears of an approaching conflict. The cold war has become warm and with it there comes back to memory the scenes of concentration camps, of the separation of families, of night bombing and of vast destruction, the killing and the crippling of little children, the humiliation of occupation.

Hate Went On
Men had hoped that time would heal the scars that World War II had left on the minds and bodies of men, women and children. Surely men would now learn to live together in peace and harmony. But the horrors of Europe are now echoed in Korea. Dunkirk has lived again with a new evacuation. And once again in Canada we bid farewell to troops, and tremble with the thought that other lands streaked with blood—God forbid—may be the resting place of our youth. As these scenes flash before our minds it almost seems as if the war never ended. In truth it didn't, for men did not escape from their hearts selfishness and hatred. They went on as usual.

The pessimism of the moment is increasing for it is now realized that we have been escaping from reality in relying on the myth of the atomic bomb. It has not protected us and the enemy has continued his course with a pace as relentless as the movement of time. Now that we are challenged, we realize our incapability of controlling the situation. Our fears are evidenced by the threat to use the bomb when we know full well that dropping it will not stop a conflict. It may postpone the critical hour, but it will not bring about peace. It is a weapon of destruction, but not of construction.

The tragic error of the moment is the notion that the enemy Communism can be defeated by atomic munition. This is a fallacy for Communism does not travel by jet propulsion through the air, nor by any other modern conveyance. It is an idea and its battleground is the mind of man, which is beyond the reach of any weapon of war. The method of defeating Communism is by an idea—the positive answer of the Christian way of life. But, unfortunately, we are unable to present this in all its vigor for we have lost contact with its source. There is a hollow ring to our protests on behalf of democracy, freedom, the dignity of man and so on. Why? Because we do not realize that they are grounded on God. Man today does not know God. That is why he is pessimistic.

Only One Way Out
There is only one way out of the morass in which we find ourselves at this time and that is by changing our every thought, word and deed. It is necessary to renovate our souls, to repress our passions and to replace selfishness and hatred with a love for others—in brief, to sow the seeds of true peace.

Here we can take a lesson from those who silently endured the bombing of their homes and cities. As a general rule they do not desire to wreak the same savage destruction on others. Those who survived the horrors of the concentration camp are not today the armchair strategists who suggest at the first moment of despair that we use an atomic bomb. No! They have seen the very depths to which war can bring men, and from those depths they found that there is only one way to cure hatred and that is by learning to love God through prayer. They have learned to say "Out of the depths have I cried unto Thee, O Lord: Lord hear my voice."

In this hour of crisis we must become men of prayer. But to do this we must first learn how to pray. It is not simply a matter of bowing our heads once a week or once in a while. Nor does it consist only in asking for things. It does mean asking for things, though it means far more than that. Technically speaking, prayer is an elevation of the mind and heart to God, an intimate and loving conversation with Him, in which we adore Him, praise Him, thank Him for His benefits and beg His mercy. To pray is to ask as a lover of God and as a lover of the world. We pray not only for ourselves but for all the world which God Himself loves. What prayer will teach us is humility. It will make us realize that the source of all power of life of peace, of hope is not primarily in ourselves, but in God.

When man has learned to pray truly, which is to know God through love, then he will forget himself. He will have the vision of the oneness of the world in God. He will begin to think of others, to love them. In that way peace may result.

In this gloomy hour of history hope may shine as a beacon of confidence, if only we will learn to build in God's way. We will do this when he starts to pray.
