Co-op Housing Project Under Study In Souris

SOURIS BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
A co-operative housing project may get underway in the Town of Souris next spring should a project be undertaken this fall and winter prove satisfactory.

Speaking at the first preliminary meeting of interested parties held in St. Mary's Hall last night, Reid Sangster of the St. Francis Xavier Extension Department described how the project developed in Nova Scotia and outlined the various steps required in the organization of a building co-op.

Other speakers at the meeting attended by over 40 citizens included George Labelle of the SDU Extension Department, J.G. Dennis, provincial superintendent of co-operatives; Wendell Birt, Mayor of Souris, and Wilfred Wright, a member of the town council.

Harry Verhoven, co-op supervisor for eastern Kings, was chairman. A second meeting will be held next Monday night. It will feature the election of officers, an outline of the history of co-op building, and a question and answer period. It is hoped that the guest speaker will be Mrs. Dunn of Pictou, N.S., who has been extremely active among similar groups in Pictou County.

Mr. Labelle warned that a considerable time should be spent in study before venturing into such a project.

Atlantic House Duties Described At S' side

SUMMERSIDE — H. Watson Jamer, Agent General at Atlantic House in London, England, was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Summerside Rotary Club held yesterday afternoon with the president, R.E. Ellis presiding.

Mr. Jamer stated that because of the opening of this office, which was attended by such notables as Sir Winston Churchill and Lord Beaverbrook the Atlantic Provinces were raised to a position of prominence in the eyes of industry, finance, transportation, etc. in Great Britain as well as other countries.

He described Atlantic House as being an observation post of the Atlantic Provinces in Britain and Europe; as a line of communication between businessmen in this country and those on the other side of the ocean and also as a base away from home for business men who wish to use it.

Mr. Jamer was thanked on behalf of the club by Rotarian Thane A. Campbell, Chief Justice. He was also thanked by Dr. Roy Grant, on behalf of his wife and children, who were the recipients of a gracious hospitality shown by Mr. Jamer and his wife during the doctors trip to England recently while attending the medical
