

Hull-Ottawa Canucks Find Berth With OHA League

By ARTHUR WILKES
Canadian Press Staff Writer
HULL, Que. (CP)—Hull-Ottawa Canucks, less the orphans of Canadian hockey this season than previously, will have contending teams for both Allan and Memorial Cups, emblems of senior and junior supremacy.

The Habitués, shunted from city to city and half in and half out of junior, senior and professional competition, will play a full league schedule for the first time in more than three years, making the new arena here a permanent home.

The senior club begins a more settled existence when they tangle with Cornwall Chevies to-night in the opening game of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A eastern division which has produced the last two Allan Cup champions.

The parent Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League moved the club to Ottawa three

Benguala Wins Steeplechase

NEW YORK (AP)—Benguala defeated Neji by a head Wednesday in the $35,425 Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase but all the cheers of the Belmont Park crowd were for the gallant runner.

Neji, who won the gruelling 2 1/2-mile race over 13 jumps last year under 173 pounds, packed a staggering 176 Wednesday. It was just too much.

Benguala, owned by the Montpelier Farm and ridden by Albert Foot, the French jockey, carried 147 pounds. This was 29 less than Neji, who got second place by 4 1/2 lengths over John M. Schill's Tarboots, with 133.

Benguala won $34,850. Neji, greatest money-winning steeplechaser in history, collected $10,000 for second place and sent his winnings to $267,664.

Daily Double A Big One

TORONTO (CP)—The largest daily double of the Ontario racing season was recorded at New Woodbine Wednesday when Win Gal and Corran's Warrior won the first two races to combine for a pay-off of $2,058.10.

There were 11 tickets on the winning combination.

Win Gal defeated Rough Wave in a photo-finish to win the first race and pay $19.30.

Corran's Warrior charged from far back to defeat Dr. After by a head in the second race and pay $230.10, $74.30 and $19.60.

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

MOUNT ALLISON UNIVERSITY football coach, Gus MacFarlane, is a real cagey guy. His work with the Mounties has proved that and he has really only begun his chores with the Sackville students.

Gus had a real powerhouse last year but graduation cut badly into his football ranks and left him with quite a rebuilding job. MacFarlane went about this task in a workmanlike manner and as a result has come up with a team that is highly regarded and most likely to capture Maritime Intercollegiate honors.

REPORTS OUT of Sackville indicate that five of Gus's starting offensive squad and five of the defensive unit are making their debut in intercollegiate football. However, you notice we say intercollegiate football. What experience these ten men had outside the intercollegiate ranks, we are not able to say. Perhaps they had plenty, perhaps they had very little.

Nevertheless, MacFarlane has moulded them into a formidable machine, and it's going to take a mighty good football team to halt the Garnet and Gold.

GUS IS NOT the type who goes around claiming that his boys are going to sweep all before them. On the contrary, he's most conservative and like singing the praises of other teams in the intercollegiate loop. Before he took his team to Fredericton to meet the University of New Brunswick in the opener, Gus all but predicted a victory for the Red Bombers. He had watched them play Saint John Wanderers and liked what he saw. He claimed the Fredericton boys were playing at mid-season form. He praised their smart line and their excellent timing in the backfield and added that this could be the year for the Capital City lads.

Then he took his own collegians into Fredericton and proceeded to beat the team he had so warmly praised a few days earlier. Perhaps his commendation of U.N.B. was merely to fire his own boys who may have thought their coach should have saved his tribute for them. If that was his scheme, it worked out 100 per cent.

WELL, MacFARLANE takes his Mount Allison boys to town hold decisions over Saint Mary's and Acadia in their only start, Saturday to battle Saint Dunstan's who have surprised everybody with their excellent showing to date. The local collegians with the triumph over the Santamarians a really big upset. Sains, like Acadia, are infants at this Canadian game, and not too much was expected from them. But A. J. McAdam's charges are playing like real veterans and the rest of the league has grown to respect them.

Among those who treat Saint Dunstan's with the greatest respect, is Gus MacFarlane. The Mount Allison coach isn't coming here with any ideas that his powerful squad is in for an afternoon tea. Undoubtedly, he doesn't think that Saints are his equals but they are efficient enough to cause you a lot of grief if you give them the opportunity.

WE BET that Gus is pounding it into the heads of his players that this trip to the Island is a mighty important one. He has heard of the great rivalry between these two institutions of learning and is keeping that foremost in his mind. College teams have a habit of going at their very best against their arch rivals and that's what Mount Allison and Saint Dunstan's have been for a long number of years.

Sure, Mount Allison should be at least three touchdowns better than the locals this Saturday. We base such a statement on Saints and Mount Allison's showing to date. U.N.B. blanked Acadia 41-0 and Saints triumphed over the Axemen 45-20. U.N.B. fell victims to Mount Allison at Fredericton, so on these figures we make our call.

BUT GIL COLLINS and company aren't interested in our statistics or our predictions. They'll play these intercollegiate games one at a time and Saturday's tussle is merely number three on the schedule. They know they will enter the game as underdogs, but that isn't going to keep them from trying to upset the powerful squad from Sackville. Saint Dunstan's teams in the past have had a habit of doing the unexpected and Saturday could be another of those days.

Coach MacFarlane knows all this and he'll be looking for a really stern battle when his team takes to the gridiron against the Red and Whites.

Saturday afternoon is the date and the place is Saint Dunstan's football field. A really bumper crowd should be on hand for this one.

BIRDIE TEBBETTS, once a great rival of Milwaukee Braves, is a front office man now with the National League champions. Birdie's exact title is executive vice-president. At the same time that Tebbetts inked his contract, Fred Haney signed a one-year pact to manage the Braves.

There had been many rumors of personal differences between Haney and Birdie but these were spiked, at least for a time, when the two put their names on contracts. Haney denied the rumors of personal differences but did admit that he didn't sign until assured that he would have not front office interference from Tebbetts. Haney said he was told that Tebbetts would work only in the front office and "would have nothing to do with the way I run the ball club".

HANEY WOULDN'T say if his contract called for a pay increase it's likely if he did, that Fred would have been happy enough to make it public. After all, Fred Frick could hardly fine him for it, the same as he did to the Braves who made the announcement concerning their world series split.

Tebbetts claims he's not interested in managing. He praised Haney's ability as a team pilot and termed him "a great manager". Birdie claims he had four offers of front office jobs before the Milwaukee bid came along. When he was tendered the invitation to Milwaukee, he accepted it quickly.

Birdie, who will be 47 in November, managed the Cincinnati Redlegs four and a half seasons and was voted manager of the year in 1956, when his club finished only two games off the pace, in third place. Before managing, he spent thirteen years in the American League as a catcher. And a mighty fine one he was, too.

This season's senior team is made up of players from the NHL Canadiens' farm system who have passed their 19th birthday. They include half a dozen who were junior Canadiens last season.

But coach Sam Pollock stresses that he wants to keep the average age in the neighborhood of 21. He'll rely on six junior-age players until he finds seniors to replace them.

OLDEST ON YOUNG CLUB
His oldest players on the senior club are 21-year-old defencemen John Longarini, with junior Habs last season, and Jean Gauthier who played in a local league in Kingston last season.

He still lacks a full-time goalie and will use Claude Cyr, last year's regular junior netminder, until he finds one. He has until Jan. 1 to do.

Most of the senior club's games will be played Sunday afternoon in the $600,000 arena opened here last year. It seats 3,800 with standing room for another 2,000.

Their senior OHA rivals besides Cornwall are Belleville McFarlands, 1957-58 Allan Cup champions; Whitby Dunlops, world champions last year and Allan Cup winners two seasons ago; and Kingston CKLC.

NO LEAGUE FOR JUNIORS
The junior team again will be outside a regular league but about 50 exhibitions have been lined up for the season and the club is eligible for the Memorial Cup playoffs.

The club will be built around defencemen Jean-Claude Tremblay and Andre Tardif and forwards Gilles Tremblay, Bob Rousseau and Yves Sarazin, who are the only holdovers; and newcomer Andre Drolet of Quebec City.

The world champion New York Yankees Wednesday signed Charley Keller Jr. and Don Keller to contracts. Both were assigned to Fargo-Morhead, N.D. of the class D Northern League, a Yankee affiliate.

Their father, Charley (King Kong) Keller starred for the Yankees for 12 seasons and finished his playing career in 1952 with a lifetime batting average of .286. He also played for Detroit for two seasons and coached the Yankees in 1957.

Charley Jr. is a 19-year-old outfielder. He is a sophomore at the University of Maryland, Den., an 18-year-old shortstop, is just out of high school.

Aldo Guidolin To Springfield

GUELPH (CP)—Veteran defenceman Aldo Guidolin has come to terms with Springfield Indians and will report to the American Hockey League club today.

Guidolin attended New York Rangers training camp at Stamford and was assigned by Rangers to Springfield, with whom Rangers have a working agreement. He refused to report and returned to his home here three weeks ago.

Guidolin didn't disclose the terms of his contract.

Guidolin was with Providence Reds, Rangers former farm club, for the last three seasons.

Morena, Moore Signed For Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Matchmaker George Parnassus Wednesday announced that Ricardo (Pajarito) Morena of Mexico City and Davey Moore, No. 1 contender for the world featherweight title, will meet at the Olympic Auditorium Nov. 20.

Parnassus said the winner would get a championship bout with the king of the 126-pounders, Hogan (Kid) Bassey, at the Olympic in January.

Parnassus also disclosed that unbeaten Mauro Vazquez of Mexico will meet Armand Savole, Montreal, here Nov. 6. Vazquez will be fighting as a featherweight for the first time after boxing as a featherweight.

36 Horses To Race In Handicap

LONDON (AP)—Thirty-six horses were named Wednesday for the Cambridgehire Handicap to be run over a mile and a furlong turf course at Newmarket next Wednesday.

The final acceptors: Londondry, Babur, Epaullette, Guersillus, Empire Way, Cash and Courage, Aggressor, Faith Healer, Legal Tie, Carbon Copy, Falls of Shin, Amos, Old King Cole, Paresa, Daffodil, Loppylugs, Cool Debate, Royal Chief, Cheviot Hills, Judicature, Radponey, Midlander, Allwood, Dalnainein, Spokeford, Colours, Brancusi, Well Staffe, Master of Boyden, Marshall Pili, Punchedello, Hedonist, Toddhurst, Nero's Love, Liza Govlin and Pulminate.

The last Irish sweepstake of the season is based on the Cambridgehire Handicap. Seventy-six horses were named in the first acceptance stage Sept. 3 and all those horses were included in sweepstake draw. Forty of them have scratched from the race and will not run.

ROCK 'N ROLL KIDS

This was a football game—not a dance, although you would probably have to be told just what was going on. Here two Toronto High School students get in on an act that looks more like a football game than a dance. No, 93 was set to take a pass but instead of having the play completed he was taken out by his opponent. The ball is shown heading for the ground.

7 United States Jockeys Will Ride At Woodbine

TORONTO (CP)—Seven United States jockeys have been engaged to ride horses in the $50,000 Canadian championship at New Woodbine Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Reubens' Hasty House Farms will have a three-horse entry in the mile-and-five-furlongs classic — Ekaba Mahan and Jack Ketch — and three U.S. riders have been signed to ride the trio. Coming from Chicago are jockeys John Heckmann, Ken Church and John Sellers but no final decision on their mounts has been made.

The veteran Conn McCreary will come from New York to ride Grey Monarch for Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Taylor of Toronto. Benny Sorensen, regular rider for the Taylor stable, will have the mount on Spinney, owned by Louis Rowan of Los Angeles. Grey Monarch and Spinney, both trained by Horatio Juro, will run as an entry.

Angel Valanzuela also is coming from New York to ride Andrew Ain for owner-trainer Hirsch Jacobs. Ray Broussard, another American, will ride one of the other—a World Cup encounter —1-0.

It was a ragged first half with both teams relying on long, sweeping passes. The Russian defence collapsed in the second half and England's forwards found big gaps as they raced for the Russian goal.

Lothouse's goal boosted his tally in international matches to 31—a record for England.

English goalkeeper Colin McDonald was called on to make only one save in the second half—such was England's superiority.

SS OFFICER SENTENCED
MUNICH, West Germany (Reuters)—Wilhelm Reischenbeck, 56-year-old former Nazi S.S. officer, Wednesday was sentenced to 10 years' hard labor for aiding in the killing of 30 concentration camp victims during a "death march" from one camp to another in 1945.

Los Angeles Dodgers' Park Favorite For Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Coliseum was the favorite home run park of National League batsmen in 1958. But the Dodgers' park was not nearly as vulnerable as was expected early in the season.

An Associated Press survey shows a total of 193 homers was hit in the Coliseum.

This was well under the big league record of 219 established in Crosley Field, Cincinnati in 1957 and only nine more than in Kansas City's Municipal Stadium.

There were 184 circuit bunts hit in Municipal Stadium with New York's Yankee Stadium and Boston's Fenway Park next in the American League with 140 each. No record was maintained of the home runs hit in Los Angeles over the 42-foot left field screen which extended from the 251-foot foul line toward centre field.

DODGERS BELT 92
The Dodgers walloped 92 in the Coliseum with the other seven clubs combining for 101. San Francisco Giants had 27, Pittsburgh 18, Chicago 13, Milwaukee 12, Philadelphia and St. Louis 11, Philadelphia and Cincinnati nine.

Only 157 home runs were hit in Crosley Field the last season—a drop of 62.

There were 173 homers in San Francisco's Seals Stadium in its first season as a major league stadium. The hometown Giants connected for 85 and the opposition 78. Wrigley Field, Chicago was also the scene of 173 home runs. The Cubs, who led

Draft Sought To Curtail Huge Bonus Payment

NEW YORK (AP)—An unrestricted draft of minor league ballplayers that would help curtail huge bonus payments to untried youngsters by major league clubs was recommended Wednesday by a baseball committee.

Frank Lane of Cleveland, chairman of the committee appointed last month by baseball commissioner Ford Frick, said, "we propose that there should be an unrestricted selection of all players assigned to pro baseball contracts following enactment of this legislation."

The plan will be submitted to the major leagues at their December meeting in Washington, D.C.

Under the plan, each major league team would be permitted to draft as many players as desired from the minors regardless of experience. The current rule allows only the selection of any number of players who have four years' experience. The draft price was raised from $10,000 to $25,000 last year.

JAVANESE QUAKE
JAKARTA (AP)—Reports reached Jakarta Wednesday of an earthquake in central and east Java that killed seven persons and injured 1,856 in the town of Blitar. The quake earlier this week destroyed 95 houses, heavily damaged 206 and slightly damaged 51, the reports said.
