

Cards And Phillies Win Braves Defeat Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—If winning tight games makes a baseball champion, and it helps, St. Louis Cardinals are the ones to watch in the five team (Big League) National League pennant race.

The surprising Cardinals have far and away the most impressive record in so-called "squeakers"—one-run games and extra inning affairs.

A check of season's play through Sunday's games shows St. Louis with an 18-9 won-lost record in games decided by one run and a 10-4 mark in those involving extra innings.

Closest to the Cards' .667 percentage among the five contenders are Philadelphia Phillies, with 12 victories in 19 one-run games, a 52.2 per cent average. Milwaukee's showing is 30-15 for .571, Cincinnati 13-12 for .520 and Brooklyn 14-11 for .438.

One run games, of course, can mean two things—either a team's pitching is generally good enough to keep the opposition close or its hitters are unable to turn up enough of an attack for the club to pull away.

EXTRA INNINGS

Of the Cardinals' 10 extra-inning victories, eight have come by one run and two others by two runs or more. They've lost three overtime contests by a run, the other by two runs.

Cincinnati runs second to St. Louis in overall extra inning showing with triumphs in 13 games. The Dodgers are 7-5 in this category, while the Braves and Phils have been held to a draw in overtime. Milwaukee winning seven of 14 and Philadelphia four of eight. American League figures show what a glance at the standings would indicate.

The first-place New York Yankees have been involved in 30 one-run decisions, winning 19 for a .633 percentage. The second-place Chicago White Sox have played 31, winning 18 and losing 13.

In extra-inning games, there's no contest. The Yanks have played 13 and lost only once, 2-1 to Detroit in 10 innings on April 30. Opponents have extended the White Sox beyond the ninth inning nine times with the Sox winning five.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Al Worthington walked in the deciding run in the 10th inning Monday night as the National League—leading Milwaukee Braves beat New York Giants 9-8 after Nippy Jones, who had wrecked the Giants in the opening game of the series, poked a little single that drove in two runs to top a ninth-inning Milwaukee rally that tied the score.

BOSTON (AP)—Boston right-hander Tommy Brewer posted his 13th victory and slugger Ted Williams provided the offensive spark by continuing his assault on Cleveland pitching Monday as the Red Sox defeated the Indians, 6-2.

Brewer, 26-year-old curve ball specialist, stopped the Indians on eight hits while working his way out of several jams to go the distance for the 13th time this season. He struck out eight and walked only three.

Williams, who treats Cleveland pitchers as cousins, scored the tying and tie-breaking runs while collecting a double and single in three official times at bat.

The pair of his boosted his American League-leading average to .378, and his average against the Indians this year to .522.

In addition, Williams hiked his American League record for intentional bases on balls in a season to 23 when Cleveland tried unusual strategy for the second straight day on his final trip to the plate.

CHICAGO (AP)—Robin Roberts gave Philadelphia's pennant stock a tremendous shot in the arm Monday by pitching the Phillies to a four-hit 6-0 conquest of Chicago Cubs.

It was Roberts' second straight win, and his first shutout since blanking Cincinnati on a four-hitter for a 2-0 win July 14, 1956.

Roberts, recording his eighth win against 15 losses, was in command all the way after yielding a first pitch double to Bobby Adams, Cubs' third baseman and leadoff batter.

Thereafter he pitched singles to loser Don Elston, leading off in the third, Bob Speake with two out in the sixth, and Chuck Tanner's one out safety in the ninth.

Roberts walked three, and fanned five as the game marked the first in 12 appearances that he has not thrown a home run pitch.

The conquest was the Phillies fourth of the five game series, and gave manager Mayo Smith's machine a 6-2 record for their first eight games of this third western junket.

Jolly Dick Wins 2 Dashes Of The B Pace Last Night

A large crowd of racing fans were at the Charlottetown Driving Park last night to witness some very close dashes, and some fast times.

Pepper Clegg went the fastest time of the night in winning the second dash of the A Trot and Paces, the Clegg horse finished ahead of Ted Genesee, who had won the first dash, in the fast time of 2:12 3-5.

Only three horses were in the B Pace after five other horses were drawn because of sickness. Jolly Dick finished first in both dashes, coming home in front of Ill Conto and Money Royal.

Williams Takes Big Lead Over Mantle In Batting

NEW YORK (AP)—Hitting at a fabulous .347 clip since the all-star game, Ted Williams has taken a commanding lead in the American League batting race. The 35-year-old Boston slugger was hit safely in 16 of his last 17 games while gaining 36 points.

Through Monday afternoon's games, Williams showed a .379 mark. In last week's action, he picked up 18 points and since the all-star game he's had 29 hits in 53 times at bat. He was at .343 on July 11.

While Williams, who is seeking his fifth American League batting title, has been hitting; Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees has been slumping. Mantle dropped eight points last week and has a .352 average.

In the National League, Dick Groat of Pittsburgh has rallied to challenge Milwaukee's Hank Aaron for the lead.

In fourth place a week ago, Groat increased his average 10 points to .336 and moved into second place behind Aaron's .342. The Braves outfielder dropped 10 points with only four hits in 23 trips.

MUSIAL SLIPS

Stan Musial of St. Louis fell one notch to third as a result of a six point decrease to .334. He's followed by Willie Mays of New York Giants at .319 and Dee Fondy of Pittsburgh at .316. Fondy had only a pair of hits in 20 at bats and lost 13 points.

Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox climbed four points and sneaked into third place in the American League with a .330 mark. Bob Boyd of Baltimore is fourth at .328 and the Yanks' Bill Skowron is fifth at .323.

Williams hit two home runs last week, giving him 29 for the campaign. This is two more than Mantle, who is in the runner-up position in this department.

Mantle and Roy Slevers of Washington are deadlocked for the runs batted in lead with 72 apiece.

Aaron continues to lead the senior circuit with 30 home runs and 80 rbi's. Musial, with 77, has moved within striking range of Aaron in runs batted in.

Decline In Entertainment Of Tennis Bring Regret

Canadian Press Staff Writer LONDON (CP)—A backhanded compliment has been lobbed at the tennis stars of the 1930s, the men who struck sports writers of the time as pygmies when compared with Bill Tilden and Rene Lacoste.

A Manchester Guardian commentator, looking back from the perspective of this year's anti-climactic Wimbledon championships and the subsequent departure of champion Lew Hoad to professional ranks, sings the praises of such post-Tilden luminaries as Ellsworth Vines, Fred Perry, Don Budge and Jack Crawford.

The correspondent is not particularly interested in guessing at the outcome of hypothetical matches between today's stars and those of 20 years ago, conceding that even Tilden's style would be unsuited to today's power game. His complaint is the decline of the entertainment value of contemporary tennis.

POWER STRATEGY

Today's strategy, he observes, calls for a big serve and a quick follow-up to the next for the kill. It calls for supreme physical conditioning rather than skill.

"The artistic satisfaction that would be a subtle fencing from the basing, completed by a passing shot, is too often absent," the writer mourns. "Champions no longer need to build success on correct and the charter must be amended when, or if, the Dodgers and Giants leave these parts.

It would be ironic if New York would be limited to one major league club because that club refused to agree to another team setting as it might hurt attendance and thus curtail profit.

If professional baseball is one big, happy family, now would seem to be the time to prove it by unselfish dedication to anything that is good for the game as a whole, instead of what is good for one club.

Between the hub-bub over proposed franchise shifts and Topping's statements intimating that business comes first it seems the game is just begging for trouble.

Mayflower II Is Attraction

NEW YORK (AP)—The Mayflower II, hobs at her Hudson River exhibition pier attracting 6,000 visitors daily.

Since the 92-foot ship arrived three weeks ago from Plymouth, Mass., 125,000 persons have walked her pegged oaken decks. By Nov. 15, when she is scheduled to return to Plymouth, the figure may reach 1,000,000.

Deeds of the ship's visitors, a spokesman for Mayflower Ltd., sponsors of the exhibit, said "we figure we won't be in the black until October. Expenses run a lot higher than we ever expected."

Five per cent of the gross receipts goes to New York City for pier rent. Twenty per cent goes to an English trust fund set up to berth and maintain the ship at her future home in Plymouth and to provide Anglo-American scholarships. The remainder goes to Mayflower Ltd.

It costs 95 cents for an adult to visit the ship, 45 cents for a child.

IS UNITY SYMBOL

The crowds overwhelm the little ship which was built in England as a symbol of British-American unity and friendship.

Only about 25 persons at a time can stand on her quarter deck and a similar number on her upper deck. Visitors are not allowed in the ship's interior because of the cramped quarters and dangerously steep ladders.

Occasionally a member of the crew who sailed from Britain down pop up from below decks in 17th century sailor dress. He's quickly surrounded by tourists with post-up questions. On the

Punishment Is A Routine Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Army ordered Col. John C. Nickerson, convicted of divulging missile secrets, to a routine job Friday in the Panama Canal Zone, deprived of his privileges of rank and command.

The army said Nickerson will be an "engineers facility inspector" with the job of inspecting engineers' works in progress and that he will not be associated with guided missiles or research and development in any way.

An army court-martial at the Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., found Nickerson guilty. He was forbidden to exercise command for one year and was reprimanded.

An army spokesman said Nickerson's duties "will fall within the restrictions imposed by his court-martial sentence," which was imposed June 29.

VIOLATED SECURITY

The court-martial convicted Nickerson of "violating security regulations by failing to safeguard secret information and divulging it to unauthorized persons."

He was sentenced to suspension from rank for one year, forfeiture of $100 monthly in pay for 18 months and to receive a reprimand.

TO FIGHT HERE THURSDAY Colorful "Ace" McCluskey Coming Out Of Retirement

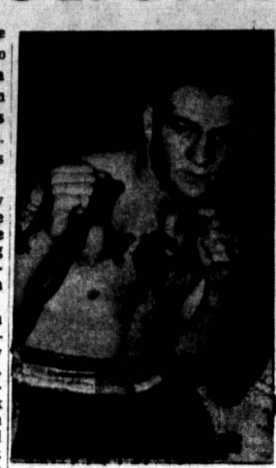

Colorful "Ace" McCluskey, one of the best known fighters ever to come out of the Maritimes, ends a four year retirement here on Thursday night when he meets Mickey Ryan of Brookton, Mass. in a six round fight at the Sports Arena.

A ring warrior from his early teens and a retired veteran at the age of 25, McCluskey once more has answered the call of the ring and found the desire to step inside the squared circle too much of a temptation to overcome.

"Ace" has been training with brother Cobey throughout the summer months without serious thought of staging a comeback. Two weeks ago, however, promoter Ivan Doherty was in Halifax finalizing plans with Cobey for an August 1st fight with Dick Hall and when Ivan saw "Ace" working out the Charlottetown fight promoter was quite impressed.

Some persuasive talk plus an enticing offer convinced "Ace" that he should re-enter the fight game and the former Charlottetown boxer agreed to a six round fight here on Thursday.

Only 29 years of age "Ace" McCluskey should have many good fights left in his system. Weighing 168 pounds "Ace" is about 12 pounds over his fighting weight of five years ago.

According to reports he is in excellent condition, having kept himself in top trim since he retired from active boxing four years ago and like Sugar Ray Robinson he will likely find that continuous conditioning is a terrific asset in staging a comeback.

A popular fighter in his heyday "Ace" was a regular participant in Madison Square Garden fights. He fought a dozen times at the lights at Madison Square Garden and this fact in itself is a pretty fair criterion of his ability as a mittman.

A crowd pleaser "Ace" was never known to take a backward step. He kept moving constantly always throwing punches and his aggressiveness was one of the factors which made him a much sought after fighter.

In Mickey Ryan he meets a tough, hard hitting young fighter who hails from the same town as the retired heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano. No doubt Ryan has inherited a few of Marciano's techniques and should pretty soon determine for "Ace" whether or not he will continue his career in boxing.

And so for "Ace" McCluskey the road back to the fighting headlines starts once more in Charlottetown. He has gone the full circle and when he steps inside the ring here on Thursday night there will be a huge crowd of his followers pulling for the "Old Warrior" to come through.

In the main bout of the card will be his brother "Cobey" fighting against Dick Hall of Boston in a non-match. Hall and Cobey McCluskey fought to a draw here on

Hope Polio Will Stay Down

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario medical officials are hopeful that the poliomyelitis season will not be noticed this year.

"Our polio season does not get rolling until mid-August and we don't expect it to roll at all this year," said Dr. John T. Phair, Ontario deputy health minister. "At least we hope it won't in the age-group that has received its three vaccinations of salk serum."

There have been no cases of polio in Ontario in the past three years among persons who have received their three vaccinations of the serum.

BIG IMPROVEMENT

The few cases of polio which occurred in Ontario and Canada during 1956 have strengthened hopes for a decrease in polio attacks this year. In Ontario last year there were only five cases of polio among 840,000 children up to 19 years old who had been vaccinated. In all Canada a total of 4,000,000 then had been vaccinated under the federal-provincial program that started in April, 1955. In this age group up to the late teens, there were no polio deaths.

The record for number of polio cases in Canada was during the epidemic year of 1953, when the total reached 8,878. Last year Canada had 600 cases, the lowest number since 1945. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported 83 cases so far this year across Canada.

Phillies Lucky In Front Seat

CHICAGO (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies might do well to buy manager Mayo Smith his own private taxicab.

It seems Smith, enroute to the ball park in Milwaukee with his coaches last Wednesday night, would up in the front seat of the taxi. The Phillies won 3-1.

Baseball people being superstitious, Smith tried the same seating arrangement the next day. The Phillies won 3-3.

The Phillies moved to Chicago. Same thing again. Smith sat in the front. Phils won 3-1.

The skipper had the same idea for Saturday, but he ran into a roadblock in the person of a taxi driver—might have been a Cubs fan. The cabbie explained that in his kind of vehicle it was unlawful for a rider to ride in the front seat.

Floyd Patterson Defeats Jackson In Tenth Round

By JACK HAYD
NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson gave Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson an unmerciful beating Monday night, dropping the No. 1 challenger three times before referee Rube Goldberg stopped the fight after 1:52 of the 10th round in the first defence of his world heavyweight title.

When Goldstein stepped between the two men, the Hurricane had been backed against the ropes near Patterson's corner from a tremendous punch barrage. Jackson objected strenuously and Goldstein had to put both arms around him, pinning him from further action.

both on technical knockouts. Nine Valdes dropped him three times in the second round for an automatic KO, July 14, 1954. There was nothing automatic about this one for he took a fearful beating through most of the contest.

Patterson now has won 19 straight, stopping 13 of his last 14 opponents. Jackson lasted all 12 rounds June 8, 1956 when he lost a split decision to Patterson, the victory that sent Floyd on to a title bout with Archie Moore, Nov. 30.

The night he won the crown, Patterson stopped Archie in five rounds. This was his first fight since. Now he goes into a championship match with Pete Rademacher, the 1956 Olympic champ who never had a pro fight. They are to meet Aug. 22 at Seattle.

Patterson, heaviest of his career at 184 pounds, received a $175,000 guarantee in this independent promotion by Emil Lence. Patterson is the first heavyweight champion to be promoted in this way.

Although Jackson at 192 1/2 had an 8 1/2-pound pull on Patterson, he couldn't match the champ's punching. His punches were more slaps and cuffs. Only his fine condition kept him around as long as 10 rounds.

A cloudy day with a threat of rain that almost forced a postponement undoubtedly cut into the crowd that Lence and his Eastern Parkway Fights, Inc., had expected.

Figures were not available immediately but it appeared that between 15,000 and 20,000 were on hand in the ball park.

The sponsor paid $175,000 for the coast to coast radio-TV and Patterson had a privilege of the $175,000 guarantee of 40 per cent of the gate and radio-TV and Jackson got 20 per cent of everything.

Goldstein said he had thought of stopping the match earlier if Jackson had caught another punch or two.

The Hurricane was puffed around the eyes and the blood from his nose dripped down Patterson's back and stained the champion's white trunks in the ninth and 10th.

If there was one big punch it seemed from ringside that it was the left to the body that Patterson threw in the fourth. Once he switched his attack from head hunting to the body the Hurricane began to run out of gas.

In Baseball It Almost Seems Business Comes First

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—During the Second World War a sharpie was convicted of conspiring to defraud the government on a contract, prompting an acquaintance to remark reprovingly: "He shouldn't have done it in war time."

Which is neither here nor there except that the remark, with slightly different phrasing, might apply to Dan Topping's declaration to the effect New York Yankees would have the power to veto any application for a major league franchise in New York if both the Giants and Dodgers moved elsewhere.

WRONG MOMENT

With baseball fighting now to prove to a House investigating committee it is lily white and in no way monopolistic it would seem Topping's assertion was untimely, to say the least.

It would have been had enough if baseball were not under fire, as it indicates a strictly selfish attitude; an "I got mine" philosophy that could be a disservice to the game as a whole.

Topping claims the American League charter granted to the Yankees in 1903 gives the club exclusive American League rights to the city of Greater New York, and he interprets this to mean that would include the privilege of barring new National League clubs also.

It doesn't say that, but that's the way he reads it. Commissioner Ford Frick admits he is "missionary correct and the charter must be amended when, or if, the Dodgers and Giants leave these parts.

It would be ironic if New York would be limited to one major league club because that club refused to agree to another team setting as it might hurt attendance and thus curtail profit.

If professional baseball is one big, happy family, now would seem to be the time to prove it by unselfish dedication to anything that is good for the game as a whole, instead of what is good for one club.

Between the hub-bub over proposed franchise shifts and Topping's statements intimating that business comes first it seems the game is just begging for trouble.
