Cardigan Causeway Called Home Of Immense Trout

The year 1965 went down in trout fisherman's record books as the year of the top trout fishing. It was a year with no frost in the ground and the water from melting snows seeped into the ground instead of foaming torrents of red, rolled water sweeping seaward. The trout streams were crystal clear and trout moved up well ahead of schedule. The big 'tackle busters' moved into the Causeways early, weeks ahead of schedule and have afforded some top trout fishing on opening morning, and if reports from eyewitnesses are true weeks before the opening date.

In the North River Causeway an angler had a brief nodding acquaintance with a trout he claims was in the 10-pound class. He had battled a big trout to a knockout that weighed one ounce short of the five pound mark. The excitement of the battle had left him sort of 'popped' as the old saying goes and in need of relaxation so he lit up a cigarette and got back to an even keel. He had reeled in all but a few feet of line when he sat down for a smoke and, as a starter, just flipped the line into the water a few feet from the bank. A big bruiser must have been just cruising by and it seemed as if it dropped into his net. The angler claims he was at least three feet long and six inches wide just back of his neck. He gave him the butt pronto and the leader snapped like a cowbell. He figured he could replace the leader a lot cheaper than 300 feet of top nylon line. I hear by the grave yard that he is keeping this particular spot 'top secret' and will give it another try when he is not so concerned about his nylon line.

Tough Outlook Faces Car Rally

By WALTER HAYES VANCOUVER (CP)—A hodge-podge of slush, ice, snow and mud threatens to make this year's 4,000-mile Vancouver-Quebec City car rally the toughest in its six-year history. Veteran competitors who arrived here by car Wednesday and Thursday told of adverse weather and road conditions from Quebec province through into British Columbia. Rally route officials flooded the Vancouver rally office with reports of foot-deep mud on some roads in Northern Ontario, ice in Quebec and deep snow through the Prairies. Dick Pepper of Shearwater, N.S., near Halifax, arrived Wednesday morning after an overnight drive from Calgary and said he occasionally ventured off main highways through the Prairies and found side roads inches deep in mud. Pepper, a competitor in the rally in 1962 and a veteran rallyist in the Maritimes also encountered deep snow in parts of Alberta and eastern B.C. "We drove through the Dakotas and the weather conditions were terrible, so I can imagine what they were like

Canadiens Brighten Hopes By 4-2 Win Over Detroit

By BOB TRIMBEZ DETROIT (CP)—Montreal Canadiens, humiliated by two defeats at home, broke loose in Detroit Thursday night for a 4-2 victory over Detroit Red Wings in the third game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup final before 15,154 fans.

The Wings still lead the series 2-1 and the fourth game will be played here Sunday at 2:30 p.m. EDT. Gilles Tremblay scored a pair of goals to pace the Montreal attack, but it was a first-period tally by Captain Jean Beliveau which really allowed the Canadiens to get untracked after a wobbly start.

Dave Balon got the other Montreal score while Norm Ullman and Gordie Howe shared the Wings output.

INSPIRED CANADIENS

But in this must game for the league champion Canadiens it was veteran netminder Gump Worsley who proved the inspiration for the victory. The round goalie made at least six great stops in the early going and then added another pair in each of the last two periods to hold Canadiens ahead. Each club had 33 shots on goal. Montreal held a 2-1 margin at the end of the first period and after a scoreless second period outscored the Wings by a similar margin in the final 20 minutes. Detroit's last goal didn't come until 19:59 of the closing period. Each side took turns at throwing its weight around. In particular, Leo Boivin of Detroit handed out several crunching checks. Bryan Watson, the Wings' spunky utility player, again took his share of the spotlight and was involved in several skirmishes in the game. Until Tremblay scored his pair of goals in the first three minutes and 21 seconds of the

GAINED POISE

But after Canadiens look the 4-1 margin they again gained the poise the club displayed in winning the league title and running through Toronto Maple Leafs in four games in the semifinal. The loss snapped the Wings' four-game winning streak and also was their third in a row to Montreal in the Olympics. Until Montreal won here Feb. 13 they hadn't been able to defeat the Wings in almost two years. Ullman shot the Wings ahead at 4:20 of the opening period, stealing the puck from defenseman Ted Harris and beating Worsley from the edge of the crease. Not until 9:26 of the opening period did Montreal manage a shot on Roger Crozier and not until 15:30 did the sparkling little Detroit goalie have a difficult shot to handle. Balon finally put Canadiens on even terms at 15:40, tipping in a double relay from Terry

REPLACED LAROSE

Rochefort replaced Claude Larose in the Montreal lineup after he was called up when his Quebec Aces of the American League were eliminated in the Calder Cup playoffs. Beliveau broke the backs of the Wings in the final minute of the opening period when he checked Delvecchio near center and broke in alone to score. He pulled Crozier to the right side before turning the puck into the wide-open goal. After a scoreless second period, one in which Worsley continued to shine after a spotty performance in the two opening games of the series, Canadiens wrapped up the game with Tremblay's outburst in the third. FIRES HARD SHOT On the first hot Beliveau's pass just to the left of the Detroit net and fired a wicked shot to the right-hand side of the goal. In the second, during a Montreal power play, he took a double relay from Bobby Rousseau and J. C. Tremblay before turning the puck into the goal behind Crozier. For Tremblay, who was Montreal's top scorer against the Wings in the regular season with 10 goals, it brought his output in the playoffs to four. Worsley's best saves in the opening period came on hard drives by rookie Bert Marshall from the point and by Andy Bathgate and Dean Prentice on close-in plays. Bathgate leads all scorers in the playoffs with six goals and Prentice has five. In the second period the round Montreal netminder stopped Alex Delvecchio on two tries from inside 20 feet with Detroit players around the crease looking for rebounds and trying to deflect the puck into the net.

Abe's Hope Wins Stakes

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Abe's Hope upset Graustark by the narrowest of margins Thursday in the $25,000 Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland. The colt from the Grand Prix stable, with jockey Willie Shoemaker in the saddle, colared the pace-setting Graustark in the stretch drive and took the victory in the final stride. It was the first loss in eight races for Graustark, current favorite to win the Kentucky Derby. Abe's Hope was timed in 1:49 1/5 over a track made sloppy by a hard rain. Abe's Hope paid $7.60 with win betting only.

Indians Tie League Mark

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians tied the major league record for consecutive victories at the start of the season, winning their 10th straight game Thursday night when they shaded the California Angels 2-1. Leon Wagner's eighth inning sacrifice fly brought Pedro Gonzalez home with the winning run after California's Rick Reichardt had tied the game 1-1 with his fourth homer of the season in the top of the eighth. Gonzalez singled with one out

Celtics Win Eighth Title

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Celtics, regarded by many as the most fabulous team in major league sports history, captured their eighth straight National Basketball Association championship Thursday by defeating Los Angeles Lakers 95-93 at the Garden. Responding to pressure and the cheers of a sellout crowd of 13,909, the Celtics gave retiring coach Red Auerbach a title salute with another clutch performance in winning the deciding game of the best-of-seven championship series.

RCAF Planes End Search

HALIFAX (CP)—The RCAF ended its search for a missing United States Air Force B-57 plane Thursday after an unsuccessful effort to track down faint radio signals south of Nova Scotia. The air-sea rescue center here said an Argus aircraft from the RCAF's Greenwood, N.S., station was sent to an area about 200 miles east of Cape Cod, Mass., after the faint signals were heard on an emergency frequency. A spokesman said the Argus has found no trace of the missing plane, carrying two unidentified U.S. airmen. "The signals could have been caused by anything, even another airplane," the spokesman said. "It was just a tiny clue that had to be investigated." The B-57 was reported missing Wednesday after it failed to return to the Stewart, N.Y., air force base from a training mission. The spokesman said the USAF had advised that Canadian planes were not needed in further search efforts.

Crandall's Hope High For Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—Veteran catcher Del Crandall speaks with the enthusiasm of a rookie about Cleveland Indians' chances of winning the American League pennant this year and the role he hopes to play in their campaign. Crandall, who was 36 March 5, was signed by the Indians as a free agent last December after Pittsburgh Pirates released him. "I feel that I can be of some help to the Indians and apparently the club officials thought so, too, or they wouldn't have signed me," said the veteran of 15 seasons in the National League. He doesn't know how often manager Birdie Tebbetts plans to use him but says he is in condition to catch as many as 100 games if called on. Although Tebbetts has said that none of his pitchers will be given a personal catcher, Crandall has caught in the only four starts of Sam McDowell, the Indians' star left-hander. McDowell, only seven years old when Crandall started his major league career with the old Boston Braves, gives the veteran catcher much of the credit for his 300 record. "We have a rhythm working," McDowell said after hurling a one-hitter against the Kansas City Athletics Monday night. "We go over the hitters together before a game. He doesn't forget a thing. He has a photographic mind." Crandall caught three no-hit games while with Milwaukee by Jim Wilson, Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn. When Crandall was signed by the Indians, Tebbetts commented: "There is only one thing that determines a player's value at Del's age, and that's his desire." No one doubted Crandall's desire in spring training at Tucson, Ariz. In his daily routine, he caught batting practice, ran with the young players, took an extra turn around the track on his own and then went to the bench for five minutes of push-ups.

Yankee Slump Seen Brief

NEW YORK (AP)—The man who had a role in New York Yankees' greatest years—19 pennants during three decades—refused to quit Thursday over the sudden collapse of the team that fired him six years ago. "I am too familiar with the 10th-place experience myself to start taking potshots at anyone else in that position," said George Weiss. "There are too many fellows on the team that I was closely connected with for years. They are close friends. They still seem like my children. They are in another league, and I wish them well." Weiss, now 71, joined the Yankees as director of farm operations in 1932 and in 1947 moved up to general manager, a job he held until 1960 when he resigned—victim of the Yankees' youth movement. He then moved over to the rival New York Mets, bringing Casey Stengel with him. Weiss refuses to join those who contend that the Yankees have left themselves with a beat-up batch of oldtimers and cripples and that their dynasty is dead. "The Yankees have had a lot of bad luck and many injuries. I think their present slump is just temporary."
