

Glad Tidings Chapel At S'ide Damaged By Fire

The Glad Tidings Chapel on Arcona Street in Summerside was extensively damaged as the result of a fire which was discovered about 10 a.m. yesterday morning. The pastor, Mr. Stanley Wells, had been in the building earlier in the morning and had started a fire in a coal stove used for several years on the second floor, intending to make repairs to another stove when the room became warm.

When the Fire Department arrived smoke was pouring from the building, and three lines of hose were laid to hydrants in addition to the use made of the pumper truck, and firemen worked for almost two hours before completely extinguishing the fire.

Although saved from being destroyed, the building was extensively damaged from fire, smoke and water throughout.

Firemen were unable to enter the smoke-filled building when they arrived and had to chop holes in the roof and work through windows from the ladders outside the building to pour water into the fire area.

Every window of the building was smashed or cracked from the heat, or, in a few cases, were broken by firemen trying to get at the fire.

A substantial quantity of used clothing stored in the building for distribution to needy families was a complete loss, and the seats and building fixtures were also damaged or lost in the blaze.

There was no insurance on the building or contents.

Mr. Wells and members of his congregation took advantage of the mild weather yesterday afternoon to begin repairs on the exterior of the building.

Strike Closes Chrysler Plants

DETROIT (CP)—A wildcat strike of 67 metal grinders at two Chrysler corporation body plants Monday has idled more than 17,000 workers.

The striking workmen, who walked out of their jobs Monday morning over a long-standing grievance, have refused to obey a union order to return to their jobs.

A company spokesman said 12,000 workers at the body plants have been idled by the strike, and another 5,000 employees at the final assembly plant of the Plymouth division were laid off due to the sudden shortage of bodies.

The spokesman said the trouble started Monday morning when 42 grinders said they would not start work. Another 25 on the afternoon shift also joined the strike.

Kenneth Morris, president of Local 212, United Automobile Workers Union (CIO), said the union is trying everything it can to get the workers back on the job.

He said the workers have been asked to resume operations today, and promised their grievance would be discussed at company-union negotiations now under way.

St. Mark's A.Y.P.A. Hold Meeting

The St. Mark's A.Y.P.A., Kensington held their pre-Christmas meeting in the church hall on Monday, December 20th with a good attendance.

The meeting opened with the regular devotional period. President Lloyd Proffitt led in the association's prayers. The lessons were read by Mrs. Ingham Coles and the group joined in the singing of two Christmas hymns. Roll call followed. The business then introduced four new members.

A discussion took place in regard to the next meeting's program for January 3rd when the members are extending an invitation to the United and Presbyterian churches young people to a social evening. The business period was adjourned and the members all joined in making the wreaths and decorations for the church which were to be put up on Tuesday evening.

The members of the St. Stephen's Church, Burlington, had also made and put up Christmas decorations.

The group gathered at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Pidgeon where they practiced hymns and Christmas carols for the church service. The evening concluded with a sing song and a delicious lunch.

—Being able to identify all of the fish that swim in the waters that surround this Province is not an aptitude of all Islanders and the big fish (above) found on the shore of Patrick Delaney of Linkletter Road near Summerside, last weekend proved to be an unknown species to many persons who would readily recognize a trout and perhaps describe one of their catches as being almost as big as the fish above, which is 5 and a quarter feet in length.

Busy Year For Canadian Troops

On three continents Canadian troops formed a defence line in the intricate pattern of the defences of the United Nations and NATO. At home, with three new Regiments in the Active Army, training went on to provide replacements for the units overseas and maintain the defences of the country.

Improvement In Textile Industry

MONTREAL (CP)—An authority says that "faint and scattered signs of some improvement in the Canadian textile industry which have appeared in the last few months of 1954 are not a basis for optimism as to the future."

C. F. Woodward, president of the Primary Textiles Institute, noted the fluctuation in trend in an article prepared for a forthcoming issue of the Canadian Textile Journal.

He added: "Optimism over what may well be a temporary upward trend should not however lead those concerned with the long-term prospects of the Canadian industry to forget that for the last three years the general trend has been downward and that in 1954 the industry reached very low levels in employment and production."
