A Cruel Shot.—A newspaper correspondent, writing from Dacotah, relates the following singular incident, which conveys a moral concerning the treatment of Indians on the frontier:

"In the fall and winter of 1864-5, the 50 the Wisconsin regiment, while on the way from Fort Kendall, which they had been garrisoning, to Fort Rice, camped one night at Crow creek While in camp one of the captains spied what he took to be an Indian on the brow of a hill about half a mile distant. The captain called out to one of his men, and pointing out to him the person on the hill, said: 'Do you suppose you can pick that fellow off?' when the soldier answered, 'I'll try' and drawing up his rifle he fired, and the man fell down dead. On repairing to the spot where the dead man lay, they found to their inexpressible astonishment and mortification that the man shot was a brother of the captain who ordered the firing. Language would fail to express the grief of the captain at what he had done.

"The soldier was arrested and brought down to Yankton on a charge of murder, but the grand jury at the October term of 1866, having failed to find a indictment against him, he was released."

"The King has been playing the devil," writes the British Consul from Abyssinia. We have heard before of the royal freaks of Theodore, the son of Solomon, of the playful massacres and light-hearted slaughterings with which he enlivened the dullness of his Christian Court, but he seems to have been "playing the devil" in earnest, lately. The letter is dated June 18. At that time King Theodore was illuminating his palace grounds after the manner of Nero, with candles of wax cloth, the wicks of which were women and children. In this manner, he fried a number of his subjects, literally making light of their agony. But his sport did not stop with this. About six hundred of his most faithful soldiers, who had doubtless chopped up many an offender for his Majesty's pleasure, had, unfortunately, distant relations engaged in rebellion against the King of the Abyssinians. As the rebels stubbornly refused to be subdued, and kept out of the reach of Theodore's executioners, he made vicarious sufferers of the six hundred loyalists. Every individual had his throat cut. Besides all this—as Consul Cameron says—his fingers were itching to shed white men's blood. He was breathing out threatenings and threatening slaughter against them in case any troops should come to their rescue. In short, he was in a very savage mood three months ago, and if, as the cable announces, the unfortunate Enlishmen are escaped out of his hands without being roasted or beheaded, they are to be congratulated.

"Which is the strongest throne on the globe to-day?" inquired the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher lately in New York. "Why, the English, unquestionably; partly because a noble, virtuous, and illustrious woman sits upon it. She dignifies womanhood and motherhood, and she is fit to sit in empire. That is one reason why the English throne is the strongest. It is the strongest, also, because it is so many legged. It stands on 30,000,000 of people. It represents the interests of the masses of its subjects. Another reason why England is the strongest nation is because it is the most Christian nation; because it has the most moral power. It has more than we have. We like to talk about ourselves on the 4th of July; we love to fan ourselves with eulogies; but we are not to be compared to-day with Old England."

There are about 20,000 houses in Chicago and 35,000 in New York. London has 330,000 houses, and 3,600,000 people. The latter has seven times as many dwellings as New York, and eighteen times as many as Chicago. Its population is seventeen times as great as Chicago, and five times larger than New York. There are in London 3,000 miles of paved streets, along which at night blaze 360,000 gas lamps which use 13,000,000 of cubic feet of gas every night. Through these streets run 5,500 cabs, which carry you at the rate of six miles an hour for sixpence per mile; 1,500 omnibuses, in which you can ride for about one penny a mile for long distances, and threepence a mile for shorter ones. It is a curious fact that, while London has only seventeen times as many people as Chicago, it has nearly thirteen times as many dwellings.

The Railway over Mount Cenis.—A telegram was received yesterday at the Board of Trade from Captain Tyler, one of the inspecting officers of that department, dated Susa, August 26, stating that he had on that day crossed the Mont Cenis, from Saint Michel to Susa, a distance of 48 miles, at an elevation of 6700 feet above the level of the sea, with the first engine and train that had travelled over that route. The Duke of Vallambrosa, Mr. Fell, Mr. Brogden, Mr. Brunlees, and others were present. The company propose to open the railway for traffic in October next.

Editorial Treadmill.—It is one of the hardships of our profession that its working wheels—brains and heart—are not allowed to lag for sickness, or stop for calamity or sorrow. The judge may adjourn his court, the school and workshop may close shutters, the mourner may veil his features and turn friend and stranger from the door; but the journalist must forget before to-morrow the sorrow of to day, must write gayly and freshly, as a newsmonger, on the trifle of an hour, whatever burden has been laid on that hour by Providence, or his brains as a man. It sometimes tries and mocks as the world reads what is thus written would never dream of. The public looks upon an editor's labors as the Indian did upon the man that was cutting hay. He finally gave in his opinion that it was "easy to see the white man mow."—Home Journal.

A Lively trade in Divorces in New York City.—A large number of the divorces obtained in the Western States are of New York inception. Disaffected partners repairing from this city to distant parts in order to avail themselves of the facilities there afforded. An active correspondence on this subject is maintained by New York lawyers and practitioners in distant courts, and can be put en rapport with the latter in a very short time. Barry Gray issued an interesting volume last season entitled "Matrimonial Infelicities," and hundreds of illustrations of this book may be found without much effort. In fact there is very little domestic happiness in New York. The style of living and the style of thinking prevent it. The superficial education, the silly conventionalities, and the concentrated selfishness of city life, are powerful obstacles for home comfort. Our young men are addicted to their meerschaums and their Bourbon, and our young women have their fashions and their indulgencies, and each is absorbed in the claims of selfishness. This will be found to be the case among the rich or poor. The habitue of the Fifth avenue soon pines under the restraint which cuts him off from a round of pleasure and shuts him up to the society of an empty-headed and frivolous woman—while on the other hand there is some chance that a wife may get wearied with the petulancy, the complaints, the dissipations and the general selfishness of a confirmed fop. Among the lower classes, the young men, soon after their marriage, return to their first love—the bottle—and a life of misery is a matter of course. After a few years of wretchedness a separation ensues. Either they continue to live together in a state of armed neutrality or else they separate under the plea of incompatibility; while some seek a more definite solution of their difficulties in the shape of a divorce. To aid these discordant parties, sundry lawyers offer their services, and we find them parading their claims in the columns of a morning newspaper. Mr. George Lincoln announces "divorces legally obtained in any State, without publicity or exposure—are good everywhere." Mr. Holmes repeats the same announcement, and makes no charge until a divorce is obtained, while Mr. King offers the same inducements and does not confine himself to the English language. In addition to these friends of the unfortunate, Detective Wildey informs the public that he has added the divorce business to his regular "law," and will find evidence "if existing" in any State in the Union. Detective Wildey might have added that if the evidence did not exist he would manufacture it with despatch, as witnesses can be found here to prove anything. Let all, therefore, who wish absolution from the bonds of Hymen repair to these legal gentry. Once they asked the aid of a clergyman now they may try an antagonistic profession, by which it is claimed that whom God hath put together the devil may soon put asunder.

An Established Remedy.—Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is extensively known as an established remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, and other troubles of the Throat and Lungs.

The only cathartic that will relieve the bowels, cleanse the blood, and renovate the system effectually, without causing griping pains in the bowels, is Parsons' Purgative Pills.

JAMES C. POPE.

Charlottetown, Sep. 2, 1867.

The Most Reliable Friend!

Holloway's Ointment.

Its Searching & Healing Properties are known and recognized throughout the World.

The number of years this invaluable Ointment has stood the test of public opinion, (and the longer known the better appreciated) is a testimony of itself more convincing than anything that could be written in praise of its truly wonderful healing properties. In the cure of bad legs, bad breasts, sores, wounds, and ulcers, its effect is marvellous. For ring-worm, scald-head, scrofula, and diseases of the skin generally, there is no remedy to be compared to it. When assiduously rubbed upon the skin (previously well bathed in warm water) this Ointment is quickly absorbed into the system, and cleanses, in its passage, every part to which it is applied.

Glandular Swellings, Mumps, Bronchitis, Quinsey, Sore Throats and Diptheria.

In any of the above diseases, immediate and permanent relief is obtained by effectually rubbing this detergent Ointment, twice a day, upon the neck, chest and back. Its acts upon the very mainsprings of life; for through the glands pass all new matter required for the body's reparation and all old particles detrimental to its preservation. The Ointment, used conjointly with Holloway's Pills, will act so searchingly and certainly as to effect cures in the most hopeless cases.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Contracted and Stiff Joints.

Many thousands of martyrs from the above complaints have found life almost unsupportable; yet, if Holloway's Ointment be briskly and perseveringly rubbed upon the parts affected, ease may be safely guaranteed, especially if the pores of the skin be previously opened by fomentations with warm water. The gross humors require expulsion from the system; it is therefore necessary to have recourse to Holloway's admirable Pills, which, by purifying and strengthening the system, greatly assist the operation of the Ointment and facilitate and confirm the cure.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, and Ulcerations of all kinds.

There is no medicinal preparation in the world which may be so thoroughly relied upon, in the treatment of the above ailments, as Holloway's Ointment. Nothing can be so simple or safe as the manner in which it is applied, or its action on the body, both locally and constitutionally. The Ointment, rubbed around the part affected, enters the pores just as salt enters meat. It quickly penetrates to the source of the evil and drives it from the system.

Erysipelas and Scrofulous Sores.

In all irritations of the skin, sores, ulcers, burns or scrofulous enlargements of any kind, Holloway's Ointment presents a ready and easy means of cure. It manifests a peculiar power in restraining inflammation, removing stagnation, cooling the heated blood, and checking all acrimonious and unhealthy discharge.

Diseases attendant on Childhood.

Diseases incident to early life fall more under the management of the mother than the medical man. Holloway's Ointment should therefore be regarded by her as a "Household Treasure," as it never fails in bringing out the rash in measles and scarlatina; and for the removal of all skin diseases its effect is miraculous. In cases of whooping cough and croup, this invaluable Ointment should be rubbed twice a day upon the throat and chest, and the youngest invalid will derive therefrom the most soothing relief. Two or three of Holloways's famous Pills, reduced to a powder, will augment the curative powers of the Unguent.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bad Legs	Corns (soft)	Rheumatism
Bad Breasts	Cancers	Scald Heads

VACCINATION.
Charlottetown and Royalty.

THE "Act to promote Vaccination" requires that all persons residing in Charlottetown and Royalty, above the age of three months, shall be Vaccinated by a duly qualified Medical Practitioner, (unless they have had the Small Pox); and that there may be no warrantable excuse for not obeying the Law, the Act provides that the Superintendent of Vaccination shall Vaccinate those who may apply to him for that purpose, without any charge.

I therefore hereby give notice, to all whom it may concern, that I will attend at the Dispensary, on the afternoons of Tuesday and Saturday, at 3 o'clock, until further notice, to Vaccinate all persons not successfully Vaccinated, who shall then appear there.

H. A JOHNSON,
Superintendent of Vaccination.

Brown's Bronchial Troches

For Coughs and Colds

A Cough, Cold, or Sore Throat,

Requires immediate attention, and should be checked. If allowed to continue,

Irritation of the Lungs, a Permanent Throat Affection, or an incurable Lung Disease is often the result.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

having a direct influence on the parts, give immediate relief.

For Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Consumptive and Throat Diseases,

Troches are used with always good success.

Singers and Public Speakers

Will find Troches useful in clearing the voice when taken before Singing or Speaking, and relieving the throat after an unusual exertion of the vocal organs. The Troches are recommended and prescribed by Physicians, and have had testimonials from eminent men throughout the country. Being an article of true merit, and having proved their efficacy by a test of many years, each year finds them in new localities in various parts of the world, and the Troches are universally pronounced better than other articles.

Obtain only "Brown's Bronchial Troches," and do not take any of the Worthless Imitations that may be offered.

DR. LA'MERT
ON SELF-PRESERVATION.

Price with engravings and cases, 1s. 6d, by post, 3s. currency.

SELF-PRESERVATION: A popular Essay on Nervous and Physical Debility, resulting from injurious habits contracted in youth, or excesses in maturity, which, by prematurely exhausting the functions of manhood, destroy the happiness of Married Life, or prevent the fulfilment of engagements that constitute the most cherished objects of existence, by Dr. La'Mert, 37 Bedford Square, London, Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh; Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, England, &c.

The above work contains most useful and interesting information on the physiological changes which occur in the Reproductive System during the periods of youth, puberty, and manhood; and on the due attainment of that degree of functional vigour upon which the hopes of posterity depend. It also points out how all the attributes of manhood can be preserved to an advanced period of life, how they are lost, and how they can be recovered. It is free from the gross exaggerations, alarming descriptions and dangerous remedies so generally resorted to by persons, who, practising with false medical qualifications, inflict most serious injuries, and render judicious treatment frequently abortive.

The author is the only legally qualified practitioner whose name stands on the 'Medical Register,' (the sole test of medical qualification) who has been exclusively engaged for a series of years in the treatment of the various functional disorders of the nervous and reproductive system, which, owing to the great discoveries of modern science, are rendered subservient to a rational, simple and easy mode of treatment.

At home for consultation daily from ten till two, and from six till eight, either personally or by letter—37 Bedford Square, London, England.

Patients residing in the Colonies can be successfully treated by correspondence, and remedies can be forwarded in secresy and safety to any address.

"SELF-PRESERVATION" may be had of the undermentioned Agents, price 1s 6d; free by post, 3s currency:—Halifax, N. S., Mr. Johnson, Chemist. Yarmouth, N.S., Messrs Young & Baker, Booksellers.
