Pakistan Celebrates Independence

By COURTNEY TOWER KABACHI (Reuters) — Pakistan celebrated 15 years of independence Tuesday in its world's largest Moslem state with observances for the prophet Mohammed's birthday.

Government ministers, religious leaders and newspaper editors gathered in Islamabad for greater unity and stability among the 80,000,000 Pakistanis who have lived under nine central governments including the recently-ended martial law and the new constitutional regime.

President Mohammed Ayub Khan, who ended his 44-month military rule on June 8 when the national assembly elected under the new constitution first met, was forced by rain to cancel his speech at a public rally Tuesday evening at Lahore, capital of West Pakistan.

In a message he urged the people to work for the strength and prosperity of the country, which enters its 15th year in a fever of intense political activity and hot divisions over its political future.

STRESS RELIEF

The religious theme was stressed at least as strongly as independence, as the nation took a day off from work. Mosques were filled, competitions were held among children for reciting Koranic verses and large public meetings were held at which lectures were given on the life and teachings of the prophet.

The prophet's birthday, based on the lunar year, falls on Aug. 14 only about once every 37 years.

Students used the coincidence to urge unity under Islam.

Britain granted independence to India and Pakistan in 1947 and the Indian subcontinent was divided into East and West Pakistan and India.

Education Ministers To Confer

Canada's provincial ministers of education will meet in Edmonton in September to discuss uniformity of educational standards, curricula and education financing, Hon. George Dewar, minister of education, said yesterday.

Dr. Dewar said that at the conference of Canadian premiers in the Victoria last week, education matters were on the agenda but they were deferred until the time of the meeting.

The minister attended the conference in Victoria as one of Premier Walter R. Shaw's representatives.

Victor Runtz Wins Award For Cartoon

Victor Runtz, former Guardian cartoonist, recently received the George Washington Gold Medal and $100 for his efforts to further the American way of life, in ceremonies Aug. 9 in Portland, Me.

This is the second consecutive year that "Vic" has won the award which is presented by Lions International. His award-winning cartoon portrayed a balance scale weighted in favor of American ideals of freedom and justice, as opposed to false values of the Communist system, with a youngster being shown the guiding hand of our schools in pointing the way.

Now working for the Banter Daily News, where he has been cartooning for five years, he had previously worked in the same capacity for The Guardian for 10 years. He lives in Banter with his wife, two sons and the family cat, always in his cartoons.

Sask. Premier Denies Charges

REGINA, (CP) — Premier Woodrow Lloyd and Health Minister W. G. Davies have denied charges of keeping up Doctors committee president Rodney Thomson that the government is violating several covenants of the Saskatchewan agreement which ended the medical care dispute.

In press statements, Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Davies said the medical care commission is not breaking the Saskatchewan agreement by recruiting doctors to the United Kingdom.

"The only recruitment that is in progress is to provide physicians for under-doctored areas, as specifically allowed for in the agreement—the public may be assured the chairman and the executive director of the commission have been scrupulous in their efforts to observe both the letter and the spirit of the Saskatchewan agreement."

Mr. Davies said the most concerned are a minimum of 100 where a doctor has been needed in the past, but where there now is none. When requested by such a community, the commission helps in recruiting a doctor to locate in that community.
