cluded in forthcoming Geneva talks about international access to the board tariff reductions.

But Mr. Pearson has indicated views with caution the broad U.S. approach as it affects tariffs on manufacturing—a formula aimed at the International Common Market and more inviting to countries with stronger manufacturing bases than Canada has.

Columbia River Treaty: It appears Mr. Kennedy is unlikely to state in any stronger terms than those already voiced the U.S. desire to push ahead with the joint power and flood control development.

Mr. Pearson said Thursday he "will be bringing up the whole question of the Columbia Treaty and the improvements we think should be made to it before it would be acceptable."

M.F. Scurman Co. Ltd. Store Opening In Larger Quarters

At 9 a.m. tomorrow morning the M. F. Scurman Co. Ltd. store at the corner of Langworthy Avenue and Escher Street will open the doors of its completely revitalized and modernized sales department with efficiency of customer service the keynote.

The store which has undergone a thorough remodeling, will offer patrons more of the previous products along with several new lines all amply displayed on 7,000 square feet of floor space.

Local branch manager Claude Whitenack said, "This project has been carried through because the company sees an increased market in the Charlottetown area and with the anticipated building boom more modern and efficient facilities will certainly be necessary."

Some of the new services to be offered in the new store will include a small job department catering chiefly to home jobs such as kitchen shelving or zinc-plating rooms, free assistance on cost estimates, guaranteed work against defect in materials or workmanship, a building service which includes everything from a home plan book to the completed home, and a concrete and gravel division which will supply all shapes of block, markers and curbs.

"The staff has been given training to enable them to work more quickly and efficiently," Mr. Whitenack said, "and one or two new people will be added to the staff. Our large parking space should also be a boon to customers," he said.

In addition to the usual building supplies and lumber the store will now stock power tools, hardware, garden tools, heavy tools such as sledge hammers, and camping products such as camp tables and barbecues.

"The customer is our main concern," explained Mr. Whitenack.

Trade With Communist Nations

Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp said during the election campaign that he was "feeling more in trading with Red China." Mr. Pearson has added, however, that the best current trade sales to that country can't be regarded as long-term opportunities.

ALSO DEFEATED

The last previous move was initiated by Council 11 or Arthur Wright, who originally opposed the move. It too met defeat in Council with Mr. Hyndman taking the time opposing. Supporting the change on both occasions were Councilors Mrs. Dorothy Corrigan, Allison Gillis and Arthur Gormley.
