ART AND FANCY WORK.—A large number of persons visited the Hall of the Convent de Notre Dame on Saturday to view the many pieces of handwork done by the pupils during the scholastic year which has just ended. The collection comprises over 150 pieces. Among the number are twelve oil paintings, which were much admired and show much skill, especially those from nature, which were really beautiful. There are also a number of fuzoin, pastel and crayon drawings, which are tastefully executed, while the designs are notable for their beauty and originality. The exhibit of fancy work and sewing, comprising sofa pillows, cushions, photo cases, glove cases, bureau sets, tidies, etc., are extremely creditable to pupils and teachers. Specially beautiful pieces of work are the parlor and fire screens, the former done in Roman and Turkish embroidery. The tiny tots of five and six years also have their pieces of work, too, which goes to show the pains taken by the teachers in the different grades. Taken altogether, the exhibits is very creditable, and a striking evidence of the excellence of the training given by the Sisters of Notre Dame.

Ordination in the Cathedral.

AN IMPOSING CEREMONY—TWO NEW PRIESTS ADDED TO BISHOP MACDONALD'S CLERGY.—FATHER BURKE'S ADDRESS.

Yesterday, during the regular ten o'clock Mass, His Lordship Bishop McDonald elevated to the priesthood the Reverends Ignatius R. A. McDonald and Alexander J. McDougall, of Alberton and Grand River West respectively. Both young gentlemen have been prosecuting, for the last three years, their theological studies in the Divinity School of Laval University. The ordination of priests in the Catholic Church is accompanied with much imposing ceremony. The Bishop, vested in full pontificals, and assisted by a numerous clergy, having recited the litanies and other prayers prescribed by the Roman Pontifical, imposed his hands on the heads of those to be ordained without pronouncing any formula, and the priests present do likewise. Immediately after, while all hold their hands extended, the bishop recites a prayer by which he demands from God for the candidates the Holy Ghost and the grace of the Priesthood. In the second place the hands of the new priests are anointed with chrism by the pontiff. Then the sacred vessels are presented to them with the words: "Receive the power to offer sacrifice to God and to celebrate in the Name of the Lord for the living and the dead." Then the Canon of the Mass is said by the ordained priests with the bishop, and after the Mass with a second solemn imposition of hands on the part of the bishop, the power of remitting sins is conferred in the words: "Receive ye the Holy Ghost, whose sins you shall forgive they are forgiven, whose sins you shall retain they are retained." Many prayers and Psalms are recited throughout the function.

This ceremony yesterday was carried out with all the pomp and splendor possible. The Bishop was assisted by the Revs. James Morrison and J. P. McGrath, of the College; the candidates by the Revs. A. E. Burke and D. B. Keil. Father Burke, of Alberton, at the instance of the consecrating prelate, ascended the pulpit after the first gospel and made an able lucid and eloquent explanation of the function in progress. He set forth in clear and vigorous terms the divine origin of the priesthood, its grand dignity, its scope, aims and purposes, and exhorted the young priests to be worthy in every way of their noble calling and the people to take advantage of the ministry of the church to sanctify their souls and thus obtain the light of glory. The services lasted till 12.30 o'clock, the large congregation maintaining a deep and absorbing interest throughout. Fathers Ignatius and McDougall, as the new priests are called, went west this morning to celebrate their first masses in their own parishes.

Shaw, for perjury; Emily Luby, for perjury. The civil docket is light.

ISLAND STEAMERS.—The Northumberland goes on the slip at Pictou to-day, to be repaired and painted. Until she is ready to resume work her place on the Summerside-Point du Chene route will be taken by the St. Lawrence, and the Jacques Cartier will take the place of the St. Lawrence on the Charlottetown-Pictou route. The Northumberland will likely be ready to resume work on Thursday.

CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE CLASSES.—The closing exercises of the Cathedral Christian Doctrine classes took place yesterday afternoon at St. Dunstan's Cathedral. The Rev. The Rev. George M. Campbell, of St. John, preached with much acceptance at both services in the First Metho list Church yesterday. Rev. Mr. Campbell is to succeed Rev. Mr. Brewer as pastor of the church next year, the latter having accepted a call to Moncton.

The Toronto Globe furnishes pictures of Mr. L. H. Davies, M. P., Mr. J. Israel Tarte and other standard elevators at the convention. Strangely enough it does not attempt to hint the form and features of the Hon. D. v. d. Laird,—perhaps the most prominent man among them all. But it is Mr. Davies and not Mr. Laird who has cause for complaint!
