Half Century Club Holds Regular Meeting

The Bedoune "Half Century" club met at the home of Mrs. George Henderson on Monday afternoon, September 24th. The opening poem was read by H. Henderson. It was entitled "God's Provision" and followed the roll call, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The usual club business was given careful consideration, and plans were made for future entertainments.

An interesting program was presented by Mrs. Orville Johnson and Mrs. Carrie Leard. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Orville Johnson. Mrs. Charles Henderson will have the opening poem. Mrs. Walter Leard, the president chaired the meeting.

She wants no part of me and I can't see the children. I have gone there twice but feel like a trespasser, as she doesn't even offer me a cup of coffee. I am very unhappy about the situation. Please advise me.

Dear J.C.: Your daughter's behavior as described is unfortunately, I won't say inevitable, because we are required by God's law to forgive the offender seventy-seven times a day the course of a day, it is the offense that often.

To say that her attitude is inconceivable means that it lacks reasonable, rational justification. It signifies simply that she is a selfish, unloving creature.

Unfortunately she is your handiwork on this score, it seems. You played the role of a father, denying yourself due respect and consideration, in trying to give her the best of everything, according to your lights in her formative years.

Consequently she is contented to take what she is given, to such an extent that, in the incident mentioned, she was not even in the position of sharing a family windfall. She wants the whole hog, brutally.

As for her claim to owning the strength of your strength, "a k e k l i" once she had said "a k e k l i" an offer she didn't accept.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold Croken.

Baskets of mixed summer flowers adorned the altar and the guest pews were marked with tiny bouquets of lily of the valley tied with white satin bows.

Sister Mary Jude was the organist and Mr. Raymond Kelly rendered appropriate hymns during the nuptial mass and the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a floor length gown of silk organza. The fitted bodice was embellished with French applique around the neckline and the same motif was repeated on the bell shaped skirt, which had a chapel train and large bow in back.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Raymond Kelly, who wore a street length gown of turquoise silk organza, with a matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pale yellow mums.

Mrs. Frank Mahar, friend of the bride, and Miss Connie Roberts, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They wore identical street length dresses of pale yellow silk organza, with matching headpieces and carried bouquets of turquoise mums.

The winsome flower girl, Jean Roberts, niece of the bride, wore a dress of pale yellow silk organza with matching headpiece and carried a basket of turquoise and yellow mums.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. McLEAN. Pretty Wedding Ceremony Is Solemnized in North Tryon

A pretty summer wedding took place in the North Tryon Presbyterian Church on August 8, 1962 when Patricia Lynn, daughter of Mrs. Harry Patterson and the late Mr. Patterson of Cape Traverse, became the bride of William D. McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean, Montague, P.E.I.

For the occasion the church was decorated with baskets of summer flowers. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. George Killen. Miss Judy Dawson was the organist and she accompanied Miss Margaret Balderson as she sang "The Wedding Prayer" after the bride entered the church. She sang "How Welcome the Call" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Lester, looked radiant in a floor length gown of nylon, featuring lace panels on a bouffant skirt. The fitted bodice featured a rounded neckline trimmed with sequins and silver sleeves that came to points over the hands. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by an organza rose with lace of the valley and pearls. She carried a white Bible with sweet-heart roses and her only jewelry was a crystal star necklace and earrings, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. David Crossman, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue nylon over taffeta and carried a blue flowered fan. Misses Mabel and Margaret MacLean, sisters of the groom, were the bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns in yellow nylon taffeta and carried yellow flowered fans. The attendants wore organza robes designed to match their gowns.

Mrs. Murdoch Home was the best man and the ushers were Mr. James MacLean, brother of the groom, and Elmer MacDonald. The guest presents were marked with blue, yellow and pink satin bows with wedding bells.

Mrs. Patterson chose for her daughter's wedding, an ice-blue lace sheath with matching tail and accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was wearing a sheath gown of beige linen, with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony a reception for 50 guests was held at the Borden Inn. Miss Mary MacKenzie, dressmaker, proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom.

Mrs. Lester Patterson, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. The telegram received from Mr. and Mrs. Eric MacRae in Edmonton, Alta. was read by the best man.

After the reception the young couple left on a honeymoon trip to points of interest in Nova Scotia. For travelling, Mrs. MacLean donned a beige, lined two-piece suit with lace accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. and Mrs. MacLean are now residing in Montague where the groom is employed at Dusen's Hardware. The bride is a teacher at Rosemeath School.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at a china shower in Charlottetown at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Tom Mills. Neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Norring in Cape Traverse under her miscellaneous shower. Following their marriage the young couple were tendered a shower in the Presbyterian Church Hall in Montague.

Twenty-seven members attended.

MARY HAWORTH. Mother and Daughter At Odds Over Ownership. Dear Mary Haworth: I have been a widow for 20 years. In that time I raised two children by working as a seamstress. I gave them everything I could give, my ability, denying myself all recreation.

I am still working and live alone. Recently my daughter and I had a misunderstanding about a painting I own. She always admires it and one evening I told her to take it (though she didn't).

Shortly afterwards someone who had the picture called to tell me it might have great value. I promptly called my daughter to tell her the exciting possibility and she seemed happy to hear it.

When I called her a second time to explain the procedure whereby this person was trying to ascertain the picture's value, she got very nasty. She said the picture was hers; that I'd offered it to her.

I was shocked and hurt. To my way of thinking, if the picture has great value, it should be considered ours, collectively, including my son.

She is happily married, with three darling children whom I adore. We are all very close until this misunderstanding, but now she refuses to speak to me.
