

This week The Cadre asked: "What really pisses you off?"

"That there are no wet/dry events anymore at the Wave!"

Shannon Lawson - 1st Year Arts

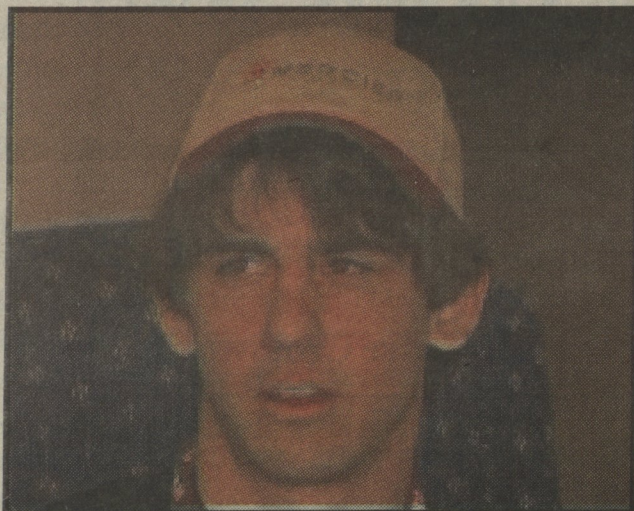

"Old guys in hot cars. And crumbs in my butter."

Virginia MacMurdo - 2nd Year Arts

"When people say the word pasta wrong. It has an "aw" sound."

Maria Gaudin - 1st Year Arts

"When someone farts in class and everyone thinks you did it and they all start staring at you."

Luke LeClair - 1st Year Arts

"When I'm ranting about parking and people tell me to shut up."

Amélie Wong - 5th Year English

"People who diss Céline Dion."

Crystal McCloskey - 2nd Year Biology

"Shiners and a bruised nose the day before your grad pictures. And drunken disgruntled elves that give you the finger at the Wave."

Terence Dunphy - 4th Year Political Studies

"When people ask me questions about what pisses me off...or when people poke me in the eye with a sharp stick."

Ryan O'Connor - Sessional Lecturer

"That guy that writes those stupid rants in The Cadre. What an asshole."

Mark Scotto - 3rd Year Political Studies
