

The Stars Say --

By Genevieve Kemble

For Tomorrow

SUNDAY'S horoscope promises a pleasant and enjoyable day. Seek relaxation with congenial companions and in inspiring surroundings. It is not a day in which to worry about the future or to undertake new projects. Let others take the initiative if they will, but make up your mind to relax and prepare for the active week ahead.

For the Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, the months ahead promise much in the way of personal gain if you are willing to take on new responsibilities. The indications are excellent for promotion and honor, but you yourself must be alert to opportunity and take special steps to attract those who are in authority. Early in 1954, you should find a considerable improvement in your financial status and, simultaneously, you may be offered an opportunity to realize a long-cherished dream of travel. Artistic and cultural interests are under most beneficent aspect and creative work should prove most stimulating and rewarding.

The Day After Tomorrow

PRODUCTION should be at peak performance on Monday and, since the business outlook is excellent, it would be an excellent period in which to put some of your more ambitious projects to work and to capitalize on your fine ideas. Social activities are also under good aspect and the day is an excellent one in which to make new contacts, encourage new friends, happy childhood. I do strongly urge that you establish the legality of your position at once. The mother is a feckless creature who will use the child for her own ends unless the boy is protected against her. Don't be discouraged by the petty souls who belittle your wish to keep Danny. Your immediate reward is the love you give and receive from the little boy, and in seeing him blossom from a neglected waif to a sturdy youngster. Your ultimate reward is the promise: "Inasmuch as you have done it to the least of these, my brethren, you have done it unto me!"

DEAR MISS DIX: My fiance is a divorced man of 35. He still has the same friends he shared with his ex-wife; when we visit them, they continually bring her into the conversation. This results in an argument between us every time we see these people.

CARLA

ANSWER: Certain action-bearing inevitable conclusions; becoming a second wife will put you in many a spot where you'll hear of your predecessor. This is especially true where the husband has a living ex-wife. Continually you'll run into people who know her and will speak of her, very often with the sole idea of arousing your jealousy. Either you learn to accept the situation, and handle it gracefully, or decide on another marriage.

ships and otherwise broaden the on the heart, that is the common cause of heart failure. One of the first symptoms of heart failure is horizons of your personal life. Seek recreational activities in spots where you are likely to make new friends and realize the benefits of this most propitious period.

If Monday is your birthday, you should find the period from now until the end of the year, one in which personal affairs are under most stimulating aspects. Initiative and enterprise must be your by-words during this period and, while you should not go to extremes, do push forward steadily and with self-confidence so that, with the new year, you can begin to reap the gratifying harvest of success.
