

TRIBUTE TO REV. MR. CAMPBELL

By Members of the Board of Trustees of First Methodist Church.

At a meeting of the Trustees Board of the First Methodist Church held, this morning the following resolution was passed unanimously:

Whereas, For the past five years Rev. George M. Campbell, as chairman of the Board of Trustees of the First Methodist Church, has presided over the meetings and conducted the business of the Board with marked ability, and to the entire satisfaction of the Trustees;

Therefore resolved, That the Board of Trustees fully appreciate and at this, the last meeting at which he will preside, desires to recognize the courtesy and ability displayed by the Rev. Mr. Campbell in the discharge of his important duties connected with this part of his ministerial work. Under his pastorate the important and difficult work of renovating and beautifying the church edifice was performed, and the Board gladly bear testimony to his untiring efforts in forwarding those much needed improvements. In the deliberations of the Board, by his tact and solicitude for the welfare of the Church and congregation under his care, Mr. Campbell has won for himself the highest respect and esteem. In going to his new field of labor he carries with him the best wishes of the members of the Trustees Board and of the congregation of the First Methodist Church represented by them.

FALCONWOOD ASYLUM.

Sir.—The Patriot of June 28th, has interferred offensively with regard to the letter of "Witness," published in THE EXAMINER of June 27th. It would be well for the Patriot not to be too hasty in disputing facts that can be proven, or reflecting on the reputation of innocent persons. We should like the public to know that the writer is not a dismissed servant; nor was it through spite, malice or revenge, as the Patriot has alleged, that the letter was written. It was sympathy for poor suffering humanity, and a desire for something like justice that prompted the writer. Nor do I care for the opinions of the particular friends of the asylum officials regarding the usage given the patients. We want justice. Too long has this state of affairs existed.

It is strange that Mr. McPhail has failed in seeing snow piled in around the windows in stormy weather. If Mr. McPhail, or anyone else, would visit female ward 3 after a snowstorm and look on the patients' beds, he or any one would see large quantities of snow; and again if Mr. McPhail would examine the boiled turnips served to patients he could not fail in seeing them raw or at least not cooked enough.

In regard to the meat, we read in the statement of Mr. McPhail that the meat served to patients was always good and fit for them. Yet that is contrary to the account given by Dr. Blaquard. The doctor will admit the truth.

Regarding the orders of the House requiring the changing of soiled bedclothes, Mr. McPhail when explaining the condition of the beds speaks only of the male patients. That gentleman cannot have known or must have forgotten that the female patients are left repeatedly wet and in a filthy condition at night, as a "Witness" has already stated. For many years the female patients have been neglected in that respect.

We may also add that some patients whose troubles were of a serious and dangerous character, requiring immediate medical aid, were unrelieved for days.

It is also strange that Mrs. Beaton, matron, failed to see that the oatmeal and porridge was not fit for use, as she admits that she only saw a little dust and black specks in the porridge once, when even some of the bad patients refused to eat it. Nor was it stopped until after Mary Jane McInnis, an attendant, reported the condition to the Government, for which reason she was discharged.

The writer has learned that Mary Jane McInnis is the dismissed attendant whom the Patriot referred to. A portion of the porridge was taken from the asylum and examined by two doctors. They both agreed that it was not fit for food. Then a doctor from the city went out to the asylum, examined the meal, had a microscopical examination made, and reported its condition. After that there was a change. Had Miss McInnis said nothing, the same state of affairs would, most likely, yet exist.

A WITNESS. (And a former supporter of the Liberal Government.)

ACCIDENT IN THE TRENCH.

Collar-bone Broken as Result of Cave-in.

A rather serious accident occurred in the sewerage trenches at about 11 o'clock this morning. A number of men were working at the East end of Kent Street, a rather boggy place, at a depth of five or six feet. About twelve feet of one side of the trench caved in falling on a young man named John Donovan, about nineteen years old, crushing him to the other side. The man working next to him saw the clay when beginning to fall. He jumped to one side and called to Donovan, but not in time for him to get out of the way. Dr. Bruce Shaw who was immediately summoned, had the young man removed first to his home near Rattenbury's park factory and afterwards to the Charlottetown Hospital. Upon examination it was found that the left collar-bone was broken and that there was some injury done to the muscles about the shoulder and back. It will be several weeks before he will be well enough to be around again and at work. Had the trench been of much greater depth the accident would, in all probability, have proved fatal.
