

NEWS of the WORLD in PICTURES

GIANT AFLOAT — The biggest and fastest liner the United States ever built, the S.S. United States, takes to the water at Newport News, Va., after being christened in drydock. The vessel is 70 per cent completed and will cost $80,000,000 by the time it is finally finished. As a troopship it would be able to carry 14,000 troops.

Benjamin Davis Jr. (left) and Eugene Dennis, handcuffed together, leave New York's Federal Court for their trip to jail. They are two of the eleven Communist leaders who were convicted of conspiracy to overthrow the U.S. government. All were sentenced to jail, but four failed to show up and their bail was forfeited.

Primary outlet of the British oil industry in southern Iran, and object of threatened seizure by the Iranian government, is the big Abadan refinery, above. Largest refinery in the world, Abadan produces 2 million tons of oil annually. Its loss would be a serious blow to Britain's oil supply, would force drastic rationing of gasoline. International squabbling over Iran's oil now takes top billing in the hot-and-cold war with communism.

first anniversary of the Korean war finds UN and Communist soldiers battling savagely across Korea. Mute testimony to the fierce fighting is this dead GI, his hand still clutching his load and cocked .45 and his bullet-pierced helmet lying by his side. (This is an exclusive photo by NEA-Acme Staff Photographer Jim Healy.)

President Galo Plaza of Ecuador is shown as he told a joint session of U.S. Congress that the Americas "must all be ready" to defend freedom even on the "field of battle." The South American chief executive, who is on an eight-day state visit to the U.S., was accorded full military honors upon his arrival in capital.

REDS THROW SECRET WEAPON — Lt. Clinton W. Effinger of West Palm Beach, Fla., pilot of a jet fighter-bomber in Korea, looks over something new in Communist weapons. It's a rock, thrown by a Red soldier, that landed on Effinger's plane during a low-level strafing run. (USAF photo from NEA-Acme.)

SEA SOLO — Clyde Deal, Jr. of Red Bank, N.J., hugs his dog after docking his 33-foot sloop at a New York pier. He had just completed a solo trans-Atlantic cruise from the Canary Islands to New York in 54 days.

Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, commander of Canada's newly organized 27th Infantry Brigade has just completed a flying coast to coast tour to "meet the troops" that will serve under him. In this picture he pauses to talk with a group of North Nova Scotia Highlanders men at Valcartier. With him are, left to right, Pte. S. W. Carter, Aulac, N. B.; Pte. J. D. Legalley, Newcastle, N. B.; Pte. W. E. Watts, Hampshire, P. E. I. and H. M. Boulter, O'Leary, P. E. I.

(National Defence Photo)

HIS THIRD NO-HITTER—Cleveland Indians' pitcher Bob Feller (center) is congratulated by teammates Sam Chapman (left) and Luke Easter, after he pitched the third no-hitter of his career in the game with Detroit, July 1. Tribe won, 2-1.

ERIC JOHNSTON

Following a conference in Ottawa with Defence Production Minister C. D. Howe on Canadian-U.S. economic relations bearing on the defense program, Eric Johnston, administrator of U.S. economic stabilization said Canada has more effective indirect economic controls than U.S.

Although Mr. Johnston's agency was instrumental in the imposition of direct price controls in the U.S., he emphasized that the important thing was indirect control. "I firmly believe no price line can be held without firm indirect controls," said Mr. Johnston. "They are the real tools of stabilization while direct wage and price controls are effective for only a short time."

Sir Garnet Wolseley, baronet (cobler from Liverpool, is seen here with Lady Wolseley, upon their arrival in Brantford, Ont. from England aboard the Empress of France. The one-time grocery clerk, soldier and cobbler will seek employment in Canada and "greater opportunity" for himself and his 10-month-old bride. Known as Britain's "cobbler baronet," Sir Garnet succeeded to the 200-year-old title a year ago, after an extensive "missing heir" search through Britain and U.S.

WANTS TRUCE TALKS — Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, (above) commander of the Chinese Communist forces in Korea has accepted the UN cease-fire proposal, along with North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung. Reds have suggested truce parley to be held between July 10-15 at Kaesong, two miles south of the 38th parallel.

HE CONFESSED — William N. Oatis, 37, allegedly confessed that he had acted as a spy as his espionage trial began in Prague, Czechoslovakia. Oatis, from Marion, Ind., was an Associated Press correspondent.

Brig. Eric Mackay Wilson, above, of Montreal, who had a distinguished record in World War II, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel and appointed to command 20th Canadian Armored Brigade. He succeeds Brig. E. M. Smith, who will retire soon.

Of 53 immigrants who arrived recently in Quebec from Holland aboard the liner Volendam were more than 300 children, including Ina Alfariuk, left, and Dora, Coby Van Bodegom, above. Several hundred are bound for farms in west, while many others will seek employment elsewhere in Canada.

Among 53 young cadets of the Salvation Army who were commissioned recently are, from left: Evangeline Croft, N.S.; Eva Lamb, Nfld.; Margaret Hall, Toronto; B.C.; Ruth Golden, Sask.; Elizabeth Harkness, Man.; Jessie Mayo, N.B. They'll be assigned locations across Canada and Bermuda. Commissioning ceremonies were held at Toronto.

KEEPS IN TOUCH — Lt. Gen. James Van Fleet, commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea, telephones from his headquarters, where he is in constant touch with Gen. Matthew Ridgway in Tokyo. Van Fleet is a possibility for U.S. ice review with another famous Canadian blade artist, Michael Kirby, of Toronto.

Smiling at you here is Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's "sweetheart of the blades," seen as she modeled for a day in the sweet cause of charity at a theatrical garden party held on the Royal hospital grounds, London. Eng. Miss Scott is in London to star in a summer ice review with another famous Canadian blade artist, Michael Kirby, of Toronto.

A newly designed white uniform for men of the Royal Canadian Navy will make its appearance in the fleet next month. Of improved quality and comfort, the new uniforms have a number of innovations, including pockets in the trousers and zippered jumpers. Top photo shows Ldg. Sea. Peter J. Butler, of Toronto left, modelling the new "whites," while Able Seaman G. G. Oberis, of Kirkland Lake, Ont., examines them with satisfaction. In the lower photo, Ldg. Sea. Butler demonstrates how the zipper front makes the jumper much easier to don and doff, as compared to the old sweater-type garment. Blue serge uniforms of similar design will be issued in the RCN later this year. (National Defence Photo).

