

Better English
By V. C. Williams

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "I shall take no further notice of the matter until I read something of that effect."
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "evidently"?
3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Posthaste, posthumous, post-mortem, postlude.
4. What does the word "divest" mean?
5. What is a word beginning with des that means "state of disuse"?

ANSWERS

1. Say, "no further notice" and "something to that effect." 2. Accent first syllable, not the third. 3. Post-mortem. 4. To unclothe; to dispossess. "It is difficult for some people to divest themselves of all vanity." 5. Desuetude.

The Stars Say
By Genevieve Kemble

For Tomorrow

IT is probable that the highest objectives, the most ambitious plans and desires, may be furthered by the lively and enthusiastic support of those in high position and influence. Approach these with confidence in yourself and your ideas well-formulated, and with a plan of action organized for mutual success. Capital and influence may enhance prestige and popularity.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are encouraged to work out their own ambitious plans, hopes and wishes with a firm groundwork and detailed proposition before seeking the collaboration of those in influential places. Their capital and power may advance the progress of debatable projects, increasing self-confidence and wavering prestige. It may develop popularly and encourage initiative to realize that "in union is strength" and consolidation gives security.

A child born on this day has the happy faculty of combining with others whose prestige and collaboration are vital to its success and personal popularity.

False Face
By E. C. Buley

CHAPTER XXIII
Continued

"An American! Miss Deborah repeated. "And I am to tell Marcia? You are very thorough, Peter. Do you realize that the girl has gone off to the golf course with that man Smith, just as though he had not nearly killed all three of you?"

"I am not altogether surprised," Peter said. "I have thought a good deal about it, Miss Deborah. Marcia may have ceased to care for me, or she may be trying to bring me to heel, as she did when she came to New York. But when she asked me to come to Beringstone, she challenged me. I choose to regard Mr. Henry Smith as a weapon, which she is using against me."

"And you defend yourself with an American actress?" Miss Deborah asked. "I wonder what will come of it all! But you may rely upon one thing, Peter. Whatever Marcia may say or do, she is as much in love with you as ever."

"And I with her?" Peter answered. "We are fighting out our battles before marriage, instead of afterwards, you see. If I were to marry her, while she grudged me upon one thing, Peter. Whatever the success which I have won by chance, and the further success I hope to win by decent work, how could I expect any happiness?"

"It's the modern way, I suppose," Miss Deborah conceded. "But remember this, Peter Marchant. If you manage this business so badly as to throw her into the arms of this man Smith, I shall never forgive you."

Peter spent the morning in arranging for the makeshift studio in which he proposed, to begin his picture of Lola. He remembered now that they had not discussed the matter of accommodation for her; and raised the question when he rang her up on the telephone.

"There's only one inn, you see," he explained. "It is nothing very gaudy; and Smith is staying there, in any case."

"I've got a car, haven't I?" Lola asked. "Leave it all to me, big boy. I'll come down tomorrow morning, and give the place the once over."

After his lunch he was surprised by a visit from Marcia, who called at his lodgings, unaccompanied. Her manner was cordial, as she invited him to walk with her to the tennis courts.

"I was sorry to miss you this morning, Peter," she said. "It was good of you to inquire after me. As you see, I am none the worse for what happened."

"And I wanted to thank you in person," Peter said, sincerely. "You took an enormous risk, Marcia, in order to avoid ruining over me."

"Shall we forget about it?" Marcia asked. "Henry Smith has told me that he passed between you, and I want the whole thing forgotten. He is dreadfully concerned about it, really; and about the foolish things he said to you."

"If you can overlook his recklessness, who am I to hold it against him?" Peter asked. "I suppose we can take it that he will not repeat his offence?"

"Indeed, Peter, he is very concerned over it," Marcia repeated. "I shall answer for it that nothing of that kind shall happen again. And now tell me about your sister. A cinema star from America, aunt says. Who is she, Peter?"

"No star as yet," Peter replied. "But a very beautiful girl, with a big future, I understand. A Miss LePhone, but the name will mean nothing to you. In a year's time, perhaps, she may be something of a celebrity."

"One of your American friends?" Marcia said, brightly. "And coming here, did you say, for sittings?"

"Not a friend," Peter corrected. "An acquaintance. I had no opportunity of making friends in America, Marcia; but that does not interest you. And she is coming here for sittings, because we have not much time for the picture. She may start work at Elstree any day, and have no time to spare for me."

"It sounds interesting," Marcia conceded. "When do you start work?"

"I expect her to-morrow morning, for our first sitting," Peter said. "She has arranged to motor down from London."

"Will you bring her to the cottage for lunch?" Marcia said. "Or perhaps..."

"I was hoping that you would ask her, as a matter of fact," Peter said. "I'm rather bothered about entertaining her, in a place like this."

"Then why paint her here," Marcia asked. "Why not go up to town, and paint her there?"

"Because it is her whim to be painted here," Peter answered. "She is paying an extortionate price, to be painted just how and where she chooses."

"How interesting! Marcia commented. "What is she like, Peter?"

"She's as dark as you are fair," Peter said. "A Spanish type in appearance. But when she speaks the illusion is rather destroyed."

"She sounds unusual — for a place like Beringstone," Marcia said, sweetly. "I shall expect her, tomorrow."

"Will your friend, Mr. Smith, be one of the party?" Peter asked, as they shook hands.

"Not if you have any objection," Marcia said, with a flash of her blue eyes.

"On the contrary," Peter said. "I want to make my peace with him, since you have made a point of it."

To be continued

SWALLOW VOIDS

STOP! ALL ODOR

BAD BREATH UNDERARM ODOR

SCALP ODOR

SYSTEMIC ODORS

Backed by policy with multimillion dollar insurance company!

VOIDS Chlorophyll Tablets must stop odor head to toe or your money refunded.

NOT A CANDY MINT! NOT A CHEWING GUM!

MONTH SUPPLY $1.25 also 25¢ and $2.75

LASTS 18 HOURS OR MORE

CROSS FRETZY

Upset Constipated BABY Teething

Give Baby's Own Tablets to quickly bring the relief that encourages restful comfort. Thoroughly dependable, no "drowsy" effect, no dulling effect. Used by Mothers for over 50 years. Get a package today at your druggist.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

False Face (continued)

"I am not altogether surprised," Peter said. "I have thought a good deal about it, Miss Deborah. Marcia may have ceased to care for me, or she may be trying to bring me to heel, as she did when she came to New York. But when she asked me to come to Beringstone, she challenged me. I choose to regard Mr. Henry Smith as a weapon, which she is using against me."

"And you defend yourself with an American actress?" Miss Deborah asked. "I wonder what will come of it all! But you may rely upon one thing, Peter. Whatever Marcia may say or do, she is as much in love with you as ever."

"And I with her?" Peter answered. "We are fighting out our battles before marriage, instead of afterwards, you see. If I were to marry her, while she grudged me upon one thing, Peter. Whatever the success which I have won by chance, and the further success I hope to win by decent work, how could I expect any happiness?"

"It's the modern way, I suppose," Miss Deborah conceded. "But remember this, Peter Marchant. If you manage this business so badly as to throw her into the arms of this man Smith, I shall never forgive you."

Peter spent the morning in arranging for the makeshift studio in which he proposed, to begin his picture of Lola. He remembered now that they had not discussed the matter of accommodation for her; and raised the question when he rang her up on the telephone.

"There's only one inn, you see," he explained. "It is nothing very gaudy; and Smith is staying there, in any case."

"I've got a car, haven't I?" Lola asked. "Leave it all to me, big boy. I'll come down tomorrow morning, and give the place the once over."

After his lunch he was surprised by a visit from Marcia, who called at his lodgings, unaccompanied. Her manner was cordial, as she invited him to walk with her to the tennis courts.

"I was sorry to miss you this morning, Peter," she said. "It was good of you to inquire after me. As you see, I am none the worse for what happened."

"And I wanted to thank you in person," Peter said, sincerely. "You took an enormous risk, Marcia, in order to avoid ruining over me."

"Shall we forget about it?" Marcia asked. "Henry Smith has told me that he passed between you, and I want the whole thing forgotten. He is dreadfully concerned about it, really; and about the foolish things he said to you."

"If you can overlook his recklessness, who am I to hold it against him?" Peter asked. "I suppose we can take it that he will not repeat his offence?"

"Indeed, Peter, he is very concerned over it," Marcia repeated. "I shall answer for it that nothing of that kind shall happen again. And now tell me about your sister. A cinema star from America, aunt says. Who is she, Peter?"

"No star as yet," Peter replied. "But a very beautiful girl, with a big future, I understand. A Miss LePhone, but the name will mean nothing to you. In a year's time, perhaps, she may be something of a celebrity."

"One of your American friends?" Marcia said, brightly. "And coming here, did you say, for sittings?"

"Not a friend," Peter corrected. "An acquaintance. I had no opportunity of making friends in America, Marcia; but that does not interest you. And she is coming here for sittings, because we have not much time for the picture. She may start work at Elstree any day, and have no time to spare for me."

"It sounds interesting," Marcia conceded. "When do you start work?"

"I expect her to-morrow morning, for our first sitting," Peter said. "She has arranged to motor down from London."

"Will you bring her to the cottage for lunch?" Marcia said. "Or perhaps..."

"I was hoping that you would ask her, as a matter of fact," Peter said. "I'm rather bothered about entertaining her, in a place like this."

"Then why paint her here," Marcia asked. "Why not go up to town, and paint her there?"

"Because it is her whim to be painted here," Peter answered. "She is paying an extortionate price, to be painted just how and where she chooses."

"How interesting! Marcia commented. "What is she like, Peter?"

"She's as dark as you are fair," Peter said. "A Spanish type in appearance. But when she speaks the illusion is rather destroyed."

"She sounds unusual — for a place like Beringstone," Marcia said, sweetly. "I shall expect her, tomorrow."

"Will your friend, Mr. Smith, be one of the party?" Peter asked, as they shook hands.

"Not if you have any objection," Marcia said, with a flash of her blue eyes.

"On the contrary," Peter said. "I want to make my peace with him, since you have made a point of it."

To be continued

TWICE as much NOXZEMA FOR YOUR MONEY

Chopped Hands Special!

BIG 10 oz. JAR

only $1.25

for limited time only!

Your hands look lovelier in 24 hours... or money back!

Here's one hand cream that's made specially for hands that work! Hands that work—at home, in an office or shop—need the two-way care only medicated Noxzema can give.

1. Helps heal tiny cuts and cracks in the skin with its unique medicated formula.

2. Beautifies! Softens, smooths and whitens hands and supplies a light film of oil-and-moisture to skin's surface!

And Noxzema is greaseless, too. Try medicated Noxzema on your hands. In clinical tests, it helped the red, rough hands of 9 out of 10 women look lovelier—often within 24 hours.

Money-Back Offer. Get Noxzema at any drug or cosmetic counter and try it on your hands. If you don't see improvement in 24 hours—return the jar to Noxzema, Toronto. Your money will be refunded.

DOUBLE COFFEE PLEASURE ...but not double cost

1 YOU ENJOY fuller, richer flavor in coffee "creamed" with Carnation Evaporated Milk. That's because Carnation is double concentrated... homogenized... specially heat refined. It's heavy as cream. Naturally it makes coffee taste rich and delicious.

2 YOU SAVE MONEY. Though Carnation makes coffee taste so much better—though millions prefer it to cream in coffee—Carnation costs only half as much as cream.

MORE CANADIANS USE CARNATION IN COFFEE THAN ALL OTHER BRANDS COMBINED

EVAPORATED MILK

VITAMIN D INCREASED - HOMOGENIZED

"from Contented Cows"

False Face (continued)

"I am not altogether surprised," Peter said. "I have thought a good deal about it, Miss Deborah. Marcia may have ceased to care for me, or she may be trying to bring me to heel, as she did when she came to New York. But when she asked me to come to Beringstone, she challenged me. I choose to regard Mr. Henry Smith as a weapon, which she is using against me."

"And you defend yourself with an American actress?" Miss Deborah asked. "I wonder what will come of it all! But you may rely upon one thing, Peter. Whatever Marcia may say or do, she is as much in love with you as ever."

"And I with her?" Peter answered. "We are fighting out our battles before marriage, instead of afterwards, you see. If I were to marry her, while she grudged me upon one thing, Peter. Whatever the success which I have won by chance, and the further success I hope to win by decent work, how could I expect any happiness?"

"It's the modern way, I suppose," Miss Deborah conceded. "But remember this, Peter Marchant. If you manage this business so badly as to throw her into the arms of this man Smith, I shall never forgive you."

Peter spent the morning in arranging for the makeshift studio in which he proposed, to begin his picture of Lola. He remembered now that they had not discussed the matter of accommodation for her; and raised the question when he rang her up on the telephone.

"There's only one inn, you see," he explained. "It is nothing very gaudy; and Smith is staying there, in any case."

"I've got a car, haven't I?" Lola asked. "Leave it all to me, big boy. I'll come down tomorrow morning, and give the place the once over."

After his lunch he was surprised by a visit from Marcia, who called at his lodgings, unaccompanied. Her manner was cordial, as she invited him to walk with her to the tennis courts.

"I was sorry to miss you this morning, Peter," she said. "It was good of you to inquire after me. As you see, I am none the worse for what happened."

"And I wanted to thank you in person," Peter said, sincerely. "You took an enormous risk, Marcia, in order to avoid ruining over me."

"Shall we forget about it?" Marcia asked. "Henry Smith has told me that he passed between you, and I want the whole thing forgotten. He is dreadfully concerned about it, really; and about the foolish things he said to you."

"If you can overlook his recklessness, who am I to hold it against him?" Peter asked. "I suppose we can take it that he will not repeat his offence?"

"Indeed, Peter, he is very concerned over it," Marcia repeated. "I shall answer for it that nothing of that kind shall happen again. And now tell me about your sister. A cinema star from America, aunt says. Who is she, Peter?"

"No star as yet," Peter replied. "But a very beautiful girl, with a big future, I understand. A Miss LePhone, but the name will mean nothing to you. In a year's time, perhaps, she may be something of a celebrity."

"One of your American friends?" Marcia said, brightly. "And coming here, did you say, for sittings?"

"Not a friend," Peter corrected. "An acquaintance. I had no opportunity of making friends in America, Marcia; but that does not interest you. And she is coming here for sittings, because we have not much time for the picture. She may start work at Elstree any day, and have no time to spare for me."

"It sounds interesting," Marcia conceded. "When do you start work?"

"I expect her to-morrow morning, for our first sitting," Peter said. "She has arranged to motor down from London."

"Will you bring her to the cottage for lunch?" Marcia said. "Or perhaps..."

"I was hoping that you would ask her, as a matter of fact," Peter said. "I'm rather bothered about entertaining her, in a place like this."

"Then why paint her here," Marcia asked. "Why not go up to town, and paint her there?"

"Because it is her whim to be painted here," Peter answered. "She is paying an extortionate price, to be painted just how and where she chooses."

"How interesting! Marcia commented. "What is she like, Peter?"

"She's as dark as you are fair," Peter said. "A Spanish type in appearance. But when she speaks the illusion is rather destroyed."

"She sounds unusual — for a place like Beringstone," Marcia said, sweetly. "I shall expect her, tomorrow."

"Will your friend, Mr. Smith, be one of the party?" Peter asked, as they shook hands.

"Not if you have any objection," Marcia said, with a flash of her blue eyes.

"On the contrary," Peter said. "I want to make my peace with him, since you have made a point of it."

To be continued

ACHING JOINTS?

Are your joints and muscles stiff and painful? Do you seem to "ache all over," because of Rheumatic, Arthritic or Neuritic pain? Get quick relief with T-R-C's. Used and endorsed by thousands for relief of these pains; also Lumbago and Neuralgia. Ask for T-R-C's, 65c, $1.25 at drug counters, 7-834

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, January 22nd — I'm on intimate terms with a very famous family... in fact, we spend a lot of time together in my kitchen. That's Heinz family of Tomato Products — Cream of Tomato Soup, Tomato Juice, Tomato Ketchup and HEINZ CHILI SAUCE. Ever tasted Heinz Chili Sauce? Just try it some time — and it's a real thrill to watch baby grow healthy and strong — and he does with enthusiasm when you make 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" — an important part of his diet. Um-hum — babies love it — and it loves babies! You see, it's brimful of lots of good things babies need to keep going — and growing! It provides Iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. And, mothers! — 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so quick and simple to prepare. Just five minutes of boiling and it's cooked to baby-ready digestibility... sm-o-o-th and tempting!

Bringing Up Baby is one of the most fascinating jobs in the world... and certainly one of the most important. It's a real thrill to watch baby grow healthy and strong — and he does with enthusiasm when you make 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" — an important part of his diet. Um-hum — babies love it — and it loves babies! You see, it's brimful of lots of good things babies need to keep going — and growing! It provides Iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. And, mothers! — 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is so quick and simple to prepare. Just five minutes of boiling and it's cooked to baby-ready digestibility... sm-o-o-th and tempting!

Their Good Taste speaks for itself. It tells you — deliciously — that Heinz Condensed Soups are the pick of the lot. And hundreds of people, in dozens of recent taste tests, have tasted and agreed. Yes, the whole family of Heinz soups rated top marks with dieticians; young folks; men factory workers and housewives. And I'm willing to bet my new Spring bonnet that a taste-test in your own home will result in a similar verdict. Simply heat a tin of any HEINZ CONDENSED VEGETABLE SOUP (a delicious choice!) — and a tin of any other brand. Serve half-helpings of each. Then take a vote. Bet it will be Heinz, 2 to 1!

Now I'm Happy! Dishes done in a jiffy with those grand new chemical soaps... and hands soft and smooth, too. JERGENS LOTION does the trick. It smooths and soothes hands roughened and dried by these new soaps. Because it's liquid, it quickly penetrates to supply the soothing moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion handy in both kitchen and bathroom. Make a hand-care habit of it — to keep your hands always soft, smooth and lovely, with that cared-for look that only Jergens can give them. Remember, Jergens Lotion... because you care for your hands. It's not expensive — just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

There's MORE in it FOR YOU

WHEN YOU SHOP HERE!

There's more good food in your basket—and more savings for you in your purse—when you do ALL your food buying here—a happy combination made possible by our policy of making every price a low price every day. It stands to reason that more low prices mean more savings for you. So had your larder... pack your pantry... fill your freezer... and fatten your piggy bank by shopping at CO-OP SUPER MARKET—the market that gives you more for your money.

Campbell's — Regular Size

TOMATO SOUP, 2 for 23c

Purex — Regular 2 for 29c

TOILET TISSUE, 2 for 25c

Canned Vegetables

Konsert — Standard

PEAS, 20 oz., 2 tins for 35c

Cream Style — Lynn Valley

CORN, 20 oz., 2 tins for 27c

Wax — Dewkist Choice

BEANS, 20 oz., 2 tins for 35c

Aylmer Fancy

SPINACH, 20 oz. tin 23c

Quality Meats

Swift's Brookfield

Sausages, lb. 33c

Sweet Pickled

Neck Ribs, lb. 9c

Good Quality GRADE "B"

F O W L

PER LB.

35c

Delicious Lunenburg

Sauer Kraut, 2 lbs. 25c

Is This Your Experience, Too? I find that putting money away, saving, the toughest part of it alone after a hard day's work. It's so easy to dip into your savings when you want that new dress very badly. And then where are you? You're faced with the problem of replacing those savings! And, if you're like me, you'll find that hard to do. But Personal Planning (that's the Bank of Montreal's system of family-financing) has shown me not only how to build up my savings but how to keep them intact once I have them. You see, Personal Planning convinced me that it's very often better money-management to borrow against my savings than to spend them! Then, when I've paid off my BoM Personal Loan, I'll still have my savings—egg. Why not look into the question of a low-cost BoM Loan next time you feel like digging down elbow-deep into your savings? Ask for your free copy of Personal Planning at your neighborhood BANK OF MONTREAL... and you'll find out how you can save—and keep—more of your hard-earned dollars from now on.

DOROTHY DIX'S COLUMN

Continued from page 2

he has changed, but my parents refuse to listen to me.

J. F.

ANSWER: You should be guided by your parents' judgment. Perhaps the boy has changed; if so, it won't hurt to wait another year or two and let him prove his reformation. I firmly believe in giving anyone a chance to rebuild a damaged reputation, but not at the possible expense of someone as young as you are.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a boy five years my senior. I am 19. He is the best boy a girl could have, except for one thing. He always wants to go and visit his friends who are married. I like to go to dances and movies once in a while. I don't like to be a "stick in the mud."

MARION

ANSWER: If the young man won't go to the trouble of trying to please you, he never will. You've seen the sort of recreation he likes; if you can't share it, better stop seeing him.

Miss Nissen cannot reply personally to readers but will answer problems of general interest through this column.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Continued from page 2

thinning in the middle.

"What are you doing, Ellen?" James asked with some curiosity, chancing to notice our industry. "Renovating blankets," we replied. "Making two from three."

"Ay," he nodded approvingly. "And as we stitched we remembered how often we had sewed dreams into lads' blouses and shirts and what-not of the past, by the light of an old oil-lamp when the house was quiet and the winds of day had retired 'over the hills and far away.'"

"It's a strange thing, Ellen," James offered in the silence. "I don't remember you sewing in your younger years. But before your day, why, the machine was much in use." There was a pause. "I guess women don't sew as much now either. But there's Mrs. ... She's a right smart lady Ellen. When I called there the other night do you know what she was doing? Making a shirt for one of the boys! Reminded me of the old days, Ellen... back before your time at Alderlea!" A little thawing wind on the hills tonight, lifting the snow.

Until tomorrow — Diary -- Good-night...

There's MORE in it FOR YOU

WHEN YOU SHOP HERE!

There's more good food in your basket—and more savings for you in your purse—when you do ALL your food buying here—a happy combination made possible by our policy of making every price a low price every day. It stands to reason that more low prices mean more savings for you. So had your larder... pack your pantry... fill your freezer... and fatten your piggy bank by shopping at CO-OP SUPER MARKET—the market that gives you more for your money.

Campbell's — Regular Size

TOMATO SOUP, 2 for 23c

Purex — Regular 2 for 29c

TOILET TISSUE, 2 for 25c

Canned Vegetables

Konsert — Standard

PEAS, 20 oz., 2 tins for 35c

Cream Style — Lynn Valley

CORN, 20 oz., 2 tins for 27c

Wax — Dewkist Choice

BEANS, 20 oz., 2 tins for 35c

Aylmer Fancy

SPINACH, 20 oz. tin 23c

Quality Meats

Swift's Brookfield

Sausages, lb. 33c

Sweet Pickled

Neck Ribs, lb. 9c

Good Quality GRADE "B"

F O W L

PER LB.

35c

Delicious Lunenburg

Sauer Kraut, 2 lbs. 25c

SPECIAL Fortune - Choice Quality Tomatoes 2 Large 28 oz. Tins 39c

SPECIAL For Better Baking Crisco 1 Lb. Print 33c

SPECIAL Crosby Quality Molasses 2 Qts. for 69c

These Specials also on sale at the following stores:

Tracadie -- Morell - St. Peters

Cardigan -- Vernon River

MEMBERS

Remember our fiscal year ends on January 31st. You must turn in your sales slips in order to share in the rebate.

SHOP GO-OP

Super Market

FREE DELIVERY PHONE 2807-2808

"THE ONE STOP MARKET"

for flavour

for convenience

The easiest and surest way to make a really good cup of coffee everytime is with Nescafé. It's so convenient—the way you like it, when you like it. Simply place a teaspoonful of Nescafé in a cup then add boiling water. Nescafé costs far less than ordinary coffee, stays fresh too. Serve Nescafé in a cup or coffee server—you'll enjoy the buoyant flavour that comes from a blend of the choicest coffee beans.

THE BEST CUP OF COFFEE YOU EVER TASTED

NESCAFÉ (pronounced NES-CAFAY) is the exclusive registered Trade Mark of Nestlé (Canada) Ltd. to designate its Soluble Coffee Product. It is composed of equal parts of pure soluble coffee and added pure carbohydrates (dextrin, maltose and dextrose) added solely to protect the flavour.

You get more coffee enjoyment at a greater saving in the 12-oz. economy family size jar.