TIMES OF TERROR AND FEAR.

Terrible Misery of a Well-known Toronto Gentleman.

Mr. J. B. Butts Says: "I Am Satisfied Paine's Celery Compound Saved My Life."

J. B. BUTTS, TORONTO, ONT.

Times of terror and fear, of horrible nightmares and dreams, of terrible miseries and sufferings! This is no overdrawn picture; these pictures are in no way exaggerated or too darkly painted.

Mr. J. B. Butts, who was so wonderfully saved from death, is the proprietor of the principal hand laundry in Toronto; his establishment at 309 Spadina Avenue is the busiest of the kind, and the best patronized in the Queen City.

I commenced to use a patent medicine for my troubles, but derived little benefit from it. I happened to get one of your looks at my house, and after reading about the wonderful cures effected by Paine's Celery Compound, I decided to give it a trial.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A REFORMER SPEAKS.

Sir,—I thank you for your outspoken leader on the Public School system. It is about about time that we realized that there is such a thing as the over-education of the masses. The scarcity of household servants, and the surplusage of half-educated nonentities in the various learned professions show that we are rapidly reaching that state of affairs. I am a poor man, but I no more expect the state to educate my children free than I expect it to feed and clothe them free, or to keep my old father in the poorhouse. But at the same time, while I am perfectly willing to deny myself in order that I may pay for the schooling of my sons and daughters, I object to be taxed that the children of judges, lawyers, doctors and other wealthy men may be educated without any expense to their parents at what used to be called, in the good old days, "Charity Schools."

Let the state insist that all children be taught the three R's, and if parents cannot afford to pay for them, then let the state bear the burden, just as it bears the burden of clothing and feeding those poor people who are unable to support themselves, and whose friends cannot or will not help them. But let charity cease there; and if children want to learn classics, mathematics, etc., let the parents pay for them, except in cases of unimpaired inability, which can be provided for by scholarships, if the parents are too poor to supply the necessary expenses.

People now-a-days put so much money on their own backs and into their own stomachs that they "cannot afford" anything for the mental training of their children. As for Prince of Wales College, turn it into a school of agriculture by all means; but for the sake of the state, let us have no more of these conferring colleges in this part of the world. We are so overrun with them at present that soon any really learned man will shrink from the degree of B. A. or M. A., since the holders of these titles are in many cases little more than dunces. Sir, we are ruined by free education. It was supposed when introduced that free education was to be the panacea for all ills. But time has shown that this is not the case, and now everywhere men are awaking to the fact that something must be done to counteract its evil effects. Let our "right little island" rise to the occasion and set an example to other provinces and countries by abolishing this pernicious system, and substituting one more conducive to self respect and economy of the public purse.

At present our public school teachers are half-paid and overworked. Let us give them double salaries, which they deserve, and half the number of pupils, which is all they can do justice to, and let us do this by collecting fees from parents for all subjects taught beyond the most elementary ones; and if we must economize to do this, let us wear homespun and eat the frugal fare our forefathers were satisfied with.

THE VENDORSHIP QUESTION.

Sir,—The sentiments of "Fairplay" in your issue of a few days ago, are heartily endorsed, I'm sure, by a large number of the people of the Island. Why, as "Fairplay" says, discriminate against the country? If the city of Charlottetown is justified in having three vendors, who dispense liquor for medicinal purposes, "is not fair that the country should enjoy like privileges, as much as surely they are sick in the country, too. We must, then, journey a long distance, or do without. Then, I say, the Government is not doing its duty in this no more than in other things. For the sake of a few temperance cranks the majority must suffer.

A COUNTRYMAN.

Scrofula in Neck—Bunches All Cured Now.

Blanche Arwood, Sanguerville, Maine.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"Gentlemen—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the sores had gone, and before I had finished the second bottle the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ARWOOD, Sanguerville, Maine.

"N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other."

THE AMERICAN BEAUTY.

Romantic Origin of a Handsome and Popular Cigar.

There is an interesting story about the origin of the American Beauty. It was first grown in Washington, and here it attained its renown. The late Hon. George Bancroft, besides being a historian and scholar, was one of the first amateur rose-growers in America. Every year he imported cuttings from the leading flower-growers of Europe. The King of Prussia—when old Kaiser Wilhelm was king—allowed the American historian to have a piece of whatever he might fancy in the royal conservatory. Mr. Bancroft's gardener used to cultivate some of his roses in an old house away out on F, or perhaps it was G street, above Twenty-second street, in the west end of the city. Mr. Grant had a forest named Field in charge of the White House conservatory. He was a rose-grower of rare merit, and skill in his artistic work. One day he happened into the old building where Mr. Bancroft's gardener potted his plants and budbed his roses. Over in a corner he observed a rose of a variety utterly unknown to him, and of wonderful size and perfection in form and odor. "Where did this come from?" he carelessly inquired of his rose-growing confidant. "Oh, it is an offshoot from some cuttings we imported from Germany."

Mr. Bancroft was so struck by the beauty of the rose that he decided to have it named after him. He called it the American Beauty. It was so named because it was the first rose to be named after an American.
