NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Government papers are bragging before the fight. Brag may be a good dog. But hold fast is better. If every man who has no faith in the Farquharson Government will but vote for the Opposition candidates, the Opposition will come in with an overwhelming majority.

Mr. J. S. Jackson, a New York merchant, who relinquished his business to fight against the Boers, because some Britishers fought for America against Spain, has returned home. Mr. Jackson will wear his khaki uniform. He joined Brabant's Horse, and though he saw much of the fighting, returns unscathed and in excellent health. He paid his own expenses throughout.

The Guardian remarks that "the Quebec provincial elections just held have almost exactly duplicated the result of the federal elections in that Province." If this should be the rule in Prince Edward Island, the Opposition will be given the majority, and will afterwards, by some hocus-pocus, be cheated out of it. To prevent this let the majority for the Opposition be a large one. Let every man, who does not like the Farquharson Government poll his vote for the Opposition candidates,—no matter what the state of the weather may be.

The St. John Sun remarks that it is to the credit of the British generals in Africa that each of the men who served there stands up for his own commander. General Buller has been sharply and unjustly criticised, but he never lost the confidence of his own men. William Cox, one of the heroes of the Tugela campaign, who has been interviewed by the Sun, makes large claims for General Buller. Now that the difficulties of the campaign are better understood, even the military experts who do their fighting in the papers, have begun to concede that he made a good fight under great disadvantages.

Mrs. Vaughan, of 14 Gippeswy's road, Ipswich, in a letter to the London Daily Mail, relates an extraordinary family record of services to the Queen. "My husband and my father," she writes, "served in the old 31st, Regiment, now the North Lancashire, the former thirty-nine years and the latter twenty-one years. I had six sons. One served twenty-six years, one twenty-three years, three twenty-one years, and one, who died of enteric fever in Egypt, eighteen years. "Four of my sons served in the Royal Engineers, and the youngest is still serving, although his time is up. The other two served in the North Lancashire Regiment." The male members of the Vaughan family have thus given 190 years to the service of the Queen.

The largest ore deal ever arranged in British Columbia has been consummated by the St. Eugene Consolidated Mining Company, of Moyle, B. C., by which Messrs Gugenheim & Sons, the smelter people, of Autogagasta, Chili, contract to purchase $1,000,000 of reduced wet silver lead ore per year from the Moyle mines. In the past three months $150,000 of this ore has been shipped via the C. P. R. to Vancouver, and by steamer to San Francisco, where it is transferred into other steamers for Chili. At the present time a gang of men are engaged in sacking 1,600 tons of the Moyle ore for shipment, but there is some delay caused by the famine in sacks now prevalent there. The ore will run in its reduced state about $60 a ton. Another shipment of $160,000 worth of ore will take place this week, and the future demand will only be limited by supply. The St. Eugene mines, which are producing this vast wealth, are owned by the Gooderham-Blackstock syndicate. They were originally owned by a Catholic priest, who was shown the outcropping ore body by an Indian. The sale of the mine by the priest enabled him to build, exclusively with the money he received from the Gooderham-Blackstock syndicate, a handsome church, which he called the Saint Eugene mission.

BUILDING MONSTER CHUTE

G. T. R. Coal to be Distributed From Portland, Me.

MONTREAL, Dec. 8.—The management of the Grand Trunk railway system is building a mammoth chute at Portland, Me., from which point the Sydney, C. B., coal intended for consumption on its system is to be distributed to the various coaling centres along its line. The chute or rather series of chutes, is to cost $60,000, and it is expected that they will be ready in the course of another week or two at the latest.

The "Master" and the Medal.

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—Mr. L. Breton, of the Public Works Department, has received from his brother, Napoleon, of Montreal, who was delegate-general of the Independent Order of Foresters, at the Paris Exposition, a commemorative medal of the Exhibition, struck from a design of Hebert, the Canadian sculptor. One side of the medal contains a bust of Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, and on the edge of the medal are the words, "Canada a Nation." The other side of the medal contains the names of the Canadian Commissioners at the exposition, encircled in a garland of maple leaves, at the bottom of which is a beaver.

Dyspepsia is difficult digestion, due to the absence of natural digestive fluids. Hood's Sarsaparilla restores the digestive powers.
