ELLEN'S DIARY

Community WI Glances Back Over Year's Work

"Curlers in your hair!" I heard the curly-haired companion with a teasing twinkle when he came by our door from his way to the piggery this morning.

"Now what does that indicate? Oh don't tell me this is the night the Women's Institute meets!" He smiled "I suppose more than one of the company will have had her hair decorated like that today!"

"Ellen," James calls down from the old bed, in the room above this kitchen. "Is that you? What has kept you so late? It must be close to mid-night—! Is the night now too?" he questions.

"Yes, at the moment."

"Are there any stars showing?"

"No, none" we sigh.

We looked for their mirrored images in the stream, when we stopped on the lane-bridge minutes ago, but found none. Not a wisp of smoke in the air. A plaintive fall-tune I murmured as it hurried along, and the light wind in the alders, was cold.

This evening, then, had called the community's W.I. members to its annual meeting. For them, it was a kept you so late? It was the year's work, to evaluate its success and to plan for the projects of the new year we entered. And in this connection, as a provincial supervisor has pointed out, "We must never lose sight of the fact that the Women's Institute is primarily an educational organization. If our Institutes revert into simply money-making organizations, or just social machines, they are straying from their true purpose and will lose their members. At the end of the year, every Institute member should feel she has learned something she did not know before. Her life should be enriched, her vision broadened, she should be a better wife, a better mother, a better homemaker, because she has been an Institute member."

"Damp — damp — damp!" Papa Starling groaned, shaking his head in a more or less frustrated manner, when we came to a part of our few pieces of wash to the day. "I ask you: Was there ever such a wearisome spell of weather as this? If we could have a nice sunny day — just one. But, it's not wishing, now is it? And I have a feeling that winter will last over the hill!"

"You'll have to wait the very first sunny day — and away you both go!"

"If it has a wind that favors it!" he smiled.

The little wind moving now in the lawn-trees. No lustrous new moon voyaging. No star in this night — watch. The air continues damp. The sky is quietly overcast with gray.

And, the Papa Starling, a first weekday, walks now to fly away. Until tomorrow — a Diary — Good-night!

IS TUBERCULOSIS CONTROLLED?

By the World Health Organization standard "control" of tuberculosis is where 1% of children of school leaving age are infected as revealed by tuberculin testing.

4% of children 5-14 years of age on Prince Edward Island are positive tuberculin reactors.

This is encouraging but our preventive efforts must be pushed to the hilt if WE are to reach "Control".

Minutes of the last annual and October meetings were read and approved. Sick calls were reported and new committee appointed was Marion Evans, Ruth Carr, and Rose Campbell. Sixty articles were sent away by the Red Cross convener, and a box is nearly completed at the present time. The card secretary made a good number of sales with a quantity of boxes still on hand.

MARY HAWORTH

Unfaithful Wife Asks To Resume Her Marriage

Dear Mary Haworth: I am worth he found in ransacking his or her past history? Obviously not.

The sound reason for resuming marriage is because you are married, pledged to cherish your wife "for better, for worse," and because you love her (assuming you do; or ever did) in the real meaning of the word.

Love, says St. Paul (see I Corinthians 13), "suffereth long and is kind... is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil, beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. Love never faileth."

If you aren't willing to try, in a manner that becomes a man, don't blame her for the marriage failure. Rather, ask yourself: if your hardness of heart contributed to her hunger that led her astray—ME.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Guardian.
