

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

DECEMBER 13, 1895.

THE FIRST OF A SERIES.

The election of the Liberal Conservative candidate for North Ontario by nearly seven hundred majority over the Patron candidate and about a thousand over Mr. Laurier's candidate, is certainly a Waterloo for the Opposition Party. The result of a contest in which the three political forces of Canada were engaged, shows that the Grits are the weakest of all and the Liberal Conservatives overwhelmingly the strongest. Sir McKenzie Bowell has steadily pursued the trade and tariff policy brought down by Sir John Macdonald, Sir Leonard Tilley and Sir Charles Tupper, and has honestly and straightforwardly endeavored to effect a satisfactory settlement of the Manitoba question according to the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. On the other hand, Mr. Laurier and his organs and partisans are continually wobbly between Free Trade as it is in England and Protection as first introduced into Canada by Sir A. T. Galt; while the Opposition policy concerning the Manitoba Question is as changeable as the color of the skin of a chameleon. The men of North Ontario have weighed these two parties in the balances, and having found the Opposition untrustworthy, they continue their confidence in the Government. This decision is eminently creditable to their common sense. We feel sure that their example will be followed by a great majority of the electors throughout Canada.

A CORRUPT PROPOSITION.

The Patriot has quoted a report which appeared in "the leading dailies" published in St. John and Halifax, relative to Mr. Davies' latest attitude towards the Chignecto Ship Railway, in refutation of THE EXAMINER'S criticism based upon the report of the Chignecto Post published on the spot. Our contemporary is unfortunately in this quotation. While it puts a new interpretation upon his change of front and wonderful difference of tone in respect to the Chignecto Ship Railway, it exhibits Mr. Davies as one who would have been glad to make a bargain about the matter we read in the Patriot that,—"During Mr. Davies' speech, Mr. W. D. Douglas, a leading Conservative, arose and asked Mr. Davies what would be his policy as leader of the Maritime Liberals, regarding the extension of time for the completion of the Chignecto Marine Railway. Mr. Davies came forward promptly and said he was tempted to answer Mr. Douglas' question by saying another. Suppose it were the Liberal policy to support an extension of time, was Mr. Douglas and his friends prepared to support his friend Mr. Logan. "Mr. Douglas was silent and the audience manifested their appreciation of this dilemma by continued applause."

There was a "bit" for Mr. Douglas and all who want to see the ship railway completed. It was a corrupt proposition. But Mr. Douglas, like an honest man and a good conservative, declined to make the bargain. He was silent and the people applauded. We greatly fear that Mr. Davies' association with Taric has not improved his political principles. Evil communications are apt to corrupt good morals. How are the mighty "elevators of the standard" fallen? As for the Patriot, it exhibits Mr. Davies in a very much worse light than he was before.

JOHN McLEOD ESQUIRE.

The death of John McLeod, of "The Cove," New London, is announced elsewhere. Mr. McLeod was, in his day and generation, one of the most active and influential men in the Province. In the fifties he represented New London for a short time in the Legislature, and was exceedingly popular. He was highly intelligent and well informed, and leaves behind him many relatives and friends. Of the family he has left to cherish his memory are H. C. McLeod, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Chicago; W. W. McLeod, Inspector of Post Offices for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories; and Leslie McLeod, a distinguished journalist of the United States, and one of the recognized authorities respecting The Horse.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the death of Sir John Thompson O. J. December 12th, 1894, the Premier of Canada died at Windsor Castle.

The annual report of the Halifax School for the Blind contains the following paragraph:

"During the past year a deputation consisting of the clergymen of all denominations in Charlottetown, His Lordship Bishop Macdonald, and the superintendent of this school, waited upon the Government of Prince Edward Island, and strongly urged the claim of the blind to a free education. This deputation was cordially received by Premier Peters and colleagues, and while no definite promises were made, the deputation retired with the assurance that the matter would receive full and earnest consideration. As a result of this interview the legislative appropriation of P. E. I. to the school was doubled. While this increase in the grant gives a measure of satisfaction to your board it does not meet the wishes of the friends of the blind in P. E. I.; it makes no statutory provision for the education of those deprived of sight, and recognizes no claims of those who are blind to be educated like other children at the public expense. The Government, legislature and people of Prince Edward Island should see to it that the blind, who are already handicapped in race of life, should have at least equal opportunities with those who are fully equipped for the struggle for self-maintenance."

TALES OF THE ESCHEATORS.

Contributed by the Hon. B. Davies.

Mr. LeLacheur was of French origin, born in Guernsey. Having read a glowing description of this Island, he was induced thereby, together with the representation of the proprietors agents, to emigrate to the Island. He purchased two hundred acres of land at a pound sterling an acre, which estate was to be delivered him within two miles of Charlottetown. Several other persons emigrated with him, many of whom also paid the purchase money on the same understanding. Instead of being landed at Charlottetown, the ship sailed into Murray Harbor, and they were told that that place was the destination the captain had agreed with the proprietors agent to carry them to. There they were landed a hundred years ago. There were no farms, no sign of civilization on the coast. So they had to accept the land of the forest set aside for them, and do the best they could in building huts, etc., to shelter themselves from the intense frost of the coming winter. How they struggled through the privations of a six months' winter has been easily conceived; that is described. Such was the case with many others of the most intelligent emigrants who were thus precluded to leave their mother country.

The writer of this statement learned the foregoing from Mr. LeLacheur when he called on him on a cold, stormy night at a place half way between his home at Murray Harbor and Charlottetown, on his return from the House of Assembly, when he asked me to lend my efforts towards relieving the people from a thraldom as depressing on the agriculturist as that of Ireland. This conversation took place about fifty years ago. Previously to it, LeLacheur, with Cooper and Macintosh, had canvassed King's County, and after a general election the Escheators obtained majority. It was annoying to the Tories, who never conjectured so lowly a party were likely to displace them in the Assembly. What made more aggravating was the return of Alexander Bae for the constituency of Malapèque, one of the best informed districts of the Island. It was there he taught the grammar school for some time, and made himself acquainted with the people and the politics of the country. He was Scotchman, and having had a collegiate education at Glasgow, was by far the most learned man in the legislature and one of the best informed.

Captain Stewart, having become well stricken in years, had retired from political life, when Joseph Pope, Esq., afterwards the Honorable Joseph Pope, filled his place as leader of the Tory party. Assembly and that of the Tory party. In this respect Mr. Stewart looked upon the "new woman" for although several of them were in the contest they found themselves badly worsted. Messrs. Hazard & Moore feel greatly pleased at the response made to their offer, and hope as an early date to arrange for a much more extensive competition for the whole province. The successful competitors can receive their prizes at Hazard & Moore's.

A SUGGESTION.

Sir,—The Liberals around town claim yesterday in Liberal. I admit many of them were, but not all; and they are Liberals no more, but Patrons of Industry. As it is painfully evident to our Liberal friends that they are the "third party," would it not be well for them to get out of the way, and let the two big factions decide who is to rule the country.

A PATRON.

ONE OF THE OLD LIBERALS. Sir,—A communication in yesterday's Patriot signed "A Schoolmate of Tom's," giving a brief outline of the successful career of a West-dweller young man, Thomas M. Costello, who left his native home in early life, and has now out (like many others) a home in the great Republic. The Mr. Costello referred to was a son of the late Mr. John Costello, who was an industrious farmer and a well-informed, intelligent citizen, and was, as "A Schoolmate of Tom's" admits, a "staunch Liberal," but not of the school now known as "Grits," or so-called Liberals. Mr. John Costello was one of the good old Liberals, who, with a large majority of that party, joined in with the Progressive Party in this Province, who advocated the construction of our P. E. I. Railway, and also the union of our Island with the other Provinces of Canada. This Progressive Party, today known as the Liberal Conservative Party, is largely composed of the sons of the old Liberal party who linked their political destinies with the Party of Progress and left the ranks of the old Liberal Party to join the old Tories and Land Agents, on the formation of the party known as the "Grits," although they style themselves Liberals. It would indeed be a misnomer to call the fag-end of Toryism Liberals.

PRIZE STORY COMPETITION.

The stories written in connection with Messrs. Hazard & Moore's prize competition for pupils of the City Schools have been judged by Mr. E. Stewart as follows: First Prize, Cecily, second, Carolyn M. Cuyler, third, Winnifred C. Flaiger, and Bertha Bruce equal. The story awarded first prize was entitled "Marjorie's Christmas." It will be printed in pamphlet form in a day or two by Messrs. Hazard & Moore. This pamphlet will contain some interesting information from the publishers besides an important announcement from a certain hardware firm in this city. Mr. Stewart, experienced considerably difficulty in his capacity as judge, for while some of the stories were decidedly inferior or the leading ones were well written and almost equal in point of merit. In this respect matters look bright for the "new woman" for although several of them were in the contest they found themselves badly worsted. Messrs. Hazard & Moore feel greatly pleased at the response made to their offer, and hope as an early date to arrange for a much more extensive competition for the whole province. The successful competitors can receive their prizes at Hazard & Moore's.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER

A CONSERVATIVE VICTORY.

McGillivray Elected in North Ontario. Grit Candidate at the Foot of the Poll.

TORONTO, Dec. 13. The Grits were "wiped out" yesterday in North Ontario. At the last election held in the county, Mr. Cockburn (Liberal) polled 1,952 votes, while 2,206 were recorded for Madill, the late Conservative member. The Patron movement is a Grit invention in North Ontario, and the Grits hoped for great things yesterday. But they have met their Waterloo instead. So far 25 out of 36 polls have been heard from, with this result. McGillivray (Conservative) 1,469; Brandon (Patron) 984; Gillespie (Grit) 814. Had the Grit candidate, who is a Roman Catholic, not been supported strongly in Mara by his co-religionists, his defeat would have been still more decisive. Some of the remaining polls are Conservative strongholds, and McGillivray's majority may be still further increased.

LATER. TORONTO, Dec. 13. Thirty-three places give McGillivray (Liberal-Conservative) 1906; Brandon (Patron) 1,256; Gillespie (Opposition) 1,065. The remaining three places will increase the Liberal-Conservative majority.

Latest advices report the result (with one sub-division still to hear from) as follows: McGillivray 2,049 Brandon 1,352 Gillespie 1,090 McGillivray's majority over Gillespie, 959. McGillivray's majority over Brandon, 697.

THE MANITOBA QUESTION.

Hon. Mr. Ives Says the Government Will Stand or Fall BY OBEDIENCE TO THE LAW.

MONTREAL, Dec. 13. Hon. Mr. Ives, Minister of Trade and Commerce, was asked yesterday what effect the resignation of Hon. Mr. Wallace would have.

"It will have the effect of satisfying the Roman Catholics of Quebec on the one hand as indicating that the Government is in earnest, and on the other it will have considerable effect on the Orangemen of Ontario in another direction." "The Government, then, is absolutely determined upon introducing remedial legislation." "Unquestionably the Government is bound to carry out the law whatever the result. It is prepared to stand or fall by obedience to the law." "And should you fall?" "Then the platform we occupy is one from which the Government can fall with credit. A Government can afford to be defeated in an attempt to carry out the plain law." "But the law is a declaration; it is not mandatory." "The Privy Council has declared that a grievance exists; that grievance, if not redressed, will grow, it will fester, it will become a tumor it will at last become cancerous. The Government simply undertakes to carry out the law in order to redress a grievance felt by certain portions of the population, which grievance has been declared to exist by the highest tribunal of the Empire. In other words the Government simply proposes to apply the principles of fair play to all classes of the country. If upon that issue the Government is defeated, it is a misstep upon which it can well afford to suffer defeat."
