

End of season

they took the game and the national title thanks to a 70-63 win.

Two weeks ago, the men's basketball team also finished their A.U.A.A schedule, but unlike their female counterparts they would not make the playoffs. Nevertheless, the men's team had an outstanding season, finishing with a respectable 13-7 record- a huge improvement over their 8-12 record from the previous season. Over the season, the Panthers proved that they could play with any team in the league. Their 13 wins were second only to first place Cape Breton. In fact, the Panthers had a better record than St. FX, Dalhousie, and St. Mary's, all of whom placed ahead of the Panthers in the standings. The men's basketball plays an unbalanced schedule, that is, some games are worth four points while others are worth two. The Panthers' record was strong, but their wins simply came against the wrong teams. Most of their wins came in two-point games. The Panthers, in spite of failing to make the playoffs, had a strong year and were competitive in all of their games. In fact, U.P.E.I. split two games with St. FX, the eventual league champions. St. FX beat St. Mary's Huskies 84-71 in the league final last Sunday. The two games U.P.E.I. played against the X-Men this year were extremely close and were probably the most entertaining games they played all year. After a year off from being competitive, the Panthers appear to be ready to return as annual contenders. ●
