

Resolutions Support Prince Co. Proposals

SUMMERSIDE — The joint meeting of the local Employment Advisory Committee and the Prince County boards of trade held here Wednesday passed resolutions giving support to several future economic development projects as suggested by a recent Prince County survey.

The establishment of an agricultural vocational program to train farm operators in both the theory and practice of modern farming.

The establishment of a program of school of fisheries with the particular intent to develop practical fisherman for deep sea operations.

An assurance of support to the provincial government in the improvement of the elementary school system including larger units of administration; a possible gradual consolidation of elementary school; and the introduction of a general school course to reduce the number of drop-outs.

The development of Alberton harbor as a base for off-shore fishing and a shipping port.

A survey of the shrimp producing areas of the Gulf of St. Lawrence be made with a view to the establishment of a shrimp industry.

The establishment of a West Point Ferry service linking West Prince with the Mainland.

That early consideration be given to the linking of Tignish, Alberton, O'Leary and Kensington with the provincial all-weather highway system at the earliest possible date.

A study be made re the possible development of Borden as a deep sea harbor following the construction of the Causeway. That the possibility of utilizing the dredgings from Summerside harbor as shore-front fill be fully explored.

The information be made available to prospective blueberry growers on the proper method of growing and harvesting this crop on a profitable basis.

Other matters discussed and deferred for future consideration and action were: continuation of snow trap removal on highways with a continuation of the program of brush clearance from sides of these highways under the Municipal Works Incentive Program.

The possible moving of post offices in West Prince from the CNR to main highways with the consolidation of smaller post offices and a centralization of local distribution.

Also referred for further study was the matter of the present woodlot management program and the condition which now exists whereby Prince Edward Island sawmills are unable to provide lumber for CMHC projects because of grading regulations.

MERCENARIES SLOW DOWN
LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A mercenary-led column, slowed to a crawl by rebel ambushes, pushed onward Thursday in the northeastern Congo after getting help from three B-52 planes. The planes raked a river crossing Wednesday with rockets and machine-gun fire after the government force ran into an ambush at the Buri-ri about 100 miles northeast of Stanleyville.

PWC's Variety Show A Barrel Of Laughs

By MARIAN BRUCE
Life at Prince of Wales College is just a barrel of laughs. Well, perhaps not all the time, but for one night a year, when it's Red and Blue Variety Show night, the college inspires some pretty rollicking entertainment.

Last night's show at Confederation Centre, a highlight of PWC's Winter Carnival celebrations, delighted a capacity audience with a home-grown parody on college life entitled "Mr. Prince and Miss Wales Go to College."

Stars of the show, Peter MacKinnon and Phyllis Nicholson, romped through scenes depicting episodes of the college year with humor that kept the audience in gales of laughter.

The show revolved around reminiscences by old Mr. Prince (Bob Burns) in the year 2000 about his year in college in 1964-65.

Other popular acts included a faculty skit—a classroom parody—a "western jamboree" featuring the "Outhouse Troubadours" and "Hootenanny Entertainers" and several dance routines by the college majorettes.

Dean of Women Mrs. R. R. Hurst and the Montgomery Hall girls got into the act too in a Montgomery Hall version of "Put a Light in Your Window" and a skit depicting the return of the residence girls following Christmas vacation.

Nothing or no one concerning college life was spared as victim Peter MacKinnon, who plays a country bumpkin, campaigns for student council elections, steals the show at the Christmas formal, and acts as "un-biased scrutineer" for a campus election which naturally sees his girlfriend, played by Phyllis Nicholson, elected.

Peter's talent for mimicry and comic ability were displayed early in the show when he satirized the principal's traditional speech to students at the beginning of the term.

HALIFAX (CP) — The weather office says freezing rain was spreading across Nova Scotia and southern New Brunswick late Friday and was expected to continue into Prince Edward Island and Eastern Nova Scotia through the night.

In Northern New Brunswick, intermittent snow will become mixed with freezing rain. By early today temperatures in all but northern New Brunswick will have risen enough to permit the freezing rain to change to rain, which in turn will be as cold as air moves in from the west through the day.

Following the rain, skies will remain cloudy until the evening, and a few rain showers and snowflurries can be expected. Late in the evening a gradual clearing trend will take place.

The colder air is forecast to give sunny skies on Sunday with daytime temperatures a little colder than on Saturday.

Regional forecasts:
Northern N.S., Cape Breton, Prince Edward Island: Rain, becoming cloudy with snowflurries around noon; colder in the afternoon; southeasterly winds 25, shifting in the afternoon to northerly 25 with gusts to 40.

Early morning and mid-afternoon temperatures at New Glasgow, Sydney, and Charlottetown 35 and 25.
Outlook for Sunday — Sunny and a little colder.

THIS WEEK AT SDU

Everything Is Great But ... It's About This Phone Call!

By CHARLEY McMILLAN
The call was for Charley McMillan, fourth floor Main ... Long distance collect from New York. Will you accept the ... said the operator without finishing.

"Who is calling?" I asked, "and why collect?" Before anyone could find out who or why, a loud voice came through the wires.

"It is, R. Pope, and who else? And how's the weather on your fair Isle. Say, the grapevine tells me things are really hopping at St. Dunstan's. How can you keep up with it all?"

"It's not easy," I offered. "But why are you calling me?"

"Now don't panic, my friend. I'm interested in getting some details about your fine institution. I hear Hamlet has been sent to the storage and 'Man of All Seasons' chosen instead. Oh well, people are getting sick and tired of Hamlet, even with Burton. The SDU Drama Society swept almost all the awards last year, and I'm looking for a repeat performance."

"That's fine, but about this call ..."

"And your two political clubs are really busy eh. That's a good sign. There's room for new political blood in your country—not to mention mine. But Canadians can't become president, can they? What were their names? You know, the ones just back from Ottawa? Oh yes, Dave Mullaly and Phil Macdonald. Young Mullaly represented the Liberal club — it always was a dynamic outfit — at CULF. He brought home a new flag, didn't he?"

CALL IS COSTING
"You're getting off the subject, and this call is already costing a fortune. Do you realize what a collect call from New York costs?"

"And Philip Macdonald was at the 'Dum's the Chief' meeting of the PC's. Must have been quite a gathering, and to think the President of the SDU Club was a representative of the Island contingent! Marvellous!"

"By the way, what are you people doing to poor St. Francis Xavier? I hear from reliable sources that your hockey team halted the Kehoe Coached pucksters and your debaters pulled

Mr. Pearson told the press conference he has no other changes in mind at present, but changes are made from time to time "and I would not like to predict that any changes are final."

On the significance of the portfolio swap between Mr. Tremblay and Mr. Nicholson, he said "switches are very normal."

There have been recent rumors in Ottawa that Speaker Alan Macnaughton would be leaving the chair shortly. But Mr. Pearson said no thought is being given to this — "certainly not by me, not by the government."

WESTERN FUNERALS
HALLIWELL FUNERAL — The funeral for Mrs. Arthur Halliwell of Tryon was held from the United Baptist Church on Feb. 12. Service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. Edward G. Britten. Hymns sung were Abide With Me and The Lord's My Shepherd. A solo, How Great Thou Art, was rendered by Mrs. George Robbice. Organist was Mrs. Lloyd Hodgerson. Pallbearers were: George Robbice, Maurice Howatt, Sheldon Howatt, Jack Valder, Brent Wood, Earl Mabey. Interment was in the People's cemetery, Tryon.

Meteorology Talk Given Y's Men

SUMMERSIDE — A talk on meteorology and the methods used to forecast weather was given the local Y's Men at their weekly meeting Thursday by a member of the club, Lloyd Miller.

Mr. Miller's address was interspersed with statistics pertaining to this part of the weather map. Following his talk, a film was shown depicting the life of a Pacific storm from its beginning at sea and following its path as it paralyzed the west coast of the United States and finally blew itself out inland.

Almost 100 per cent of the members were in attendance at the dinner meeting which was in the form of a steak supper served by the Y's Menettes.

Chairing the meeting was John Leuty and assisting him at the head table were Keith Lapp, co-chairman; Harry Bishop, devotions; Don Horne.

linesmaster and Charlie Rory, songleader. Guests at the meeting were Rev. Douglas Crocker, formerly of Alberta and more recently Toronto, and Allison Coneen, manager of the local branch of Crescent Finance.

Due to the lateness of the hour the regular business meeting was adjourned until next week. A motion, however, was passed to donate $50 towards the pee wee hockey team's coming visit to Natick, Mass.

It was also announced that a ladies' night will be held next Thursday evening in the Y Centre.

SAINTS NO. 1
"But is it actually true you are leading the league, right now. I always thought X WAS the top team."

"Maybe it WAS but not a ny more. In fact St. Dunstan's is number one — just think of it — number one in the nation. And the bright lights of Saskatoon loom ahead in the distant horizon. Right now the Students' Union is preparing Operation Saskatoon to raise money for the team. And speaking of money, this collect is costing a bloody for —"

"Now don't sweat the small stuff. I still need some more details. I hear the Carnival didn't go over as well as they expected — lost money even. Too bad, but if you had asked me for advice, I would have got someone better than the Bitter Singing Group, or whoever it was."

"But I'm glad the Coffee Shop is doing well. It's really a great asset to the campus if it is run right. Well I think that's everything I need by way of information. If YOU want anything, just let me know."

"But you haven't asked me a thing, Pope, and who's paying for this call — CLICK."

"Did you say something, Sir," asked the operator.

Unfortunately the answer will not appear in print.

EPIC
This is it!
Epic.
(the Tough Little Car from General Motors)

Ever waited for an ordinary little car to heat up, while you and your windshield slowly congealed? It's a blood-curdling experience. Now, when you turn the heat on in an Epic — you get it! Fast. Even though Epic is a small car, it has a big, large-capacity heater. In fact, the Epic heater was tested and proved to work in 40 degrees below zero temperature! The Epic engine also proved itself in this 40-below weather.

The Tough Little Car from General Motors has the full-sized features that make driving it a pleasure. Big styling. Big windshield area. Roomy, weathertight interiors. A 50-hp engine that accelerates to highway cruising speeds fast and maintains them effortlessly. Epic takes hills in its stride too, the same way it takes tight corners, bumps and bad weather. See the 1965 Epic at your Chevrolet-Oldsmobile dealer's. Now... before you get cold feet.
