

REV. AND MRS. W. R. HUSSEY
Bride's Father Performs
Double Ring Ceremony

Of interest to many friends throughout the Maritimes was the recent marriage of Doreen Harriet, younger daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Wm. T. Mercer of Montreal, formerly of Springhill, N.S. and Mount Stewart, P.E.I. to Rev. William Robert Hussey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Hussey at Marion Bridge, Cape Breton N.S.

The wedding took place in Wesley United Church, Springhill. The Rev. Wm. T. Mercer, father of the bride officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Clara Ritchie played the wedding music and Mrs. Lloyd Mason of Springhill sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Baskets of white gladioli, snow drift and roses decorated the front of the Church, the guests' seats were marked with large satin bows centered with pink roses.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William W. Mercer of Moncton, N.B. wore a gown of pure white skinner satin. The long tightly fitted sleeves which came to a point over the hands and the yoke, were covered with Chantilly lace. The gown had a fitted bodice having a slightly scooped neckline in front and coming to a "V" in the back. The very full skirt fell from tiny unpressed pleats at the waist with a panel of Chantilly lace in the front, and ended in a chapel train at the back. Her full length veil, which came from Scotland was applied at the corners with white satin baskets and embroidered with silk. It was held by a tiny sequin trimmed lace and satin pill-box hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of talisman roses.

Mrs. Alexander Kerr, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a street-length dress of white flowered nylon over pale blue taffeta with a pale blue silk organza sash, her headpiece was a pale blue tulle picture hat, trimmed with tiny blue roses.

The bridesmaids Miss Clara Mercer, Miss Elizabeth Hogan, and Miss Mary Hussey, gowned

MARY HAWORTH

Bachelor Carries Scars Of Youthful Deprivation

Dear Mary Haworth—Can you and will you explain, with the insight you usually show, why a man of 50 is still a bachelor?

My bachelor is a professional man—successful, intelligent, of good family. He is very much aware of women sexually and has had innumerable affairs that all ended unhappily, either for him or the woman or both, after a period of a year or so. Towards the end of the affair he begins to find fault—and for different reasons, with almost every woman.

His childhood was unhappy. His mother was cool and undemonstrative and his father was domineering. He didn't have an affair until he was 30, because in his very early youth his father had warned him against sex unless married.

He once told a woman who was in love with him: "I am afraid of love; I feel trapped."

What advice would you give this woman, who is still in love with him; and who is a warm, emotional and intelligent person with an enormous amount of passion left by car on a trip to New York, New Jersey, Montreal and the Maritime Provinces. For travelling, the bride chose a sheath dress of light beige cotton, and acetate brocade with matching shoes, gloves and purse and a duster coat of evening blue de Ball velvet, lined with beige satin with a close fitting matching hat. Her corsage was a Gardenia.

Following their trip, Rev. and Mrs. Hussey will reside at Young's Cove, Grand Lake, New Brunswick, where Rev. Mr. Hussey will resume his duties as pastor.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Clearing Sunshine Gives Zest To Farmer's Day

So nice was this dawn-so pleasant as with the rosy glow of earlier Autumn dawns the gates of the new day were flung wide above the dim wooded hills to the east. And noting the brightness soon over-power the indoor lights of the morning, and with thoughts on the ends of crop yet to be gathered, we said "Now isn't this the day the farmers have been waiting for—the clearing sunshine after the gray!"

Slopes brightened quickly, and the blue, missing of late, smiled sunnily down on the farmlands. Steps were brisk at the churning. The "house" was milked, sows, piglets fed their rations for the day. Young kingpins of roosters in the poultry yard, which had saved to colorful blossoms the farmwives spring-planted flowers, crowded, hailing the morning in interesting notes; there was a joyous lift to the sparrows' wings, and in those of the bluejays who came up from the old spruces below the milldam to lend their shades to the bronze and copper of the oaks on the lawn.

The little truck, a well respected machine on this farm, in the light of its service waited on the driveway. The tractor gathered up the trailer in its train. There was a clatter of outgoing. And then the farmwives at Alderlea, like the forlorn lass in the old Scottish song were left "all alone" to their pastimes.

Because this was a day which at a smiling nod from the sun assembled the farmers at Rob's to work at the turnips. And as it happened to have nice harvesting there.

Mack? Yes, he went after school to join them—a sturdy little fellow pedaling smartly the small faithful bicycle that was once (cousin) Gage's. In along ment of mutual love would indeed be a trap, to his purely self-centered isolationist manner of thinking.

According to the theological view of life, love is the achievement for which man was created, the destiny to which he is called in this world, and in eternity; and hell consists in being cut off from love. Hell (here and hereafter) is the fate of being self-excluded from the radiant fellowship of those who care ardently about the best interests of one another. M. H.
