IN MEMORIAM

In fond and loving memory of Charles F. Larier, who passed away March 25th, 1950.

Oh! what would we give to hear your voice, And see your smile once more, Or hear that familiar footstep, As we did in the days of yore. It's so lonesome here without you, And sad the weary way, For life can never be the same, Since you were called away. They say time is a healer, And helps us to forget, But time so far has only proved How much we miss you yet. Lovingly Remembered by His Wife and Sons.

Fine Performance Draws Second Large Attendance

Under the capable and experienced direction of Mrs. Ruby M. Houle, C.D.A., the young people of Trinity United Church last evening presented the second of two performances of "The Fires of Spring," a delightful romantic comedy. Hearts Hall was filled to overflowing by an audience which thoroughly enjoyed every moment of the sparkling entertainment.

Gladys MacMillan, who is well known to those who have attended previous productions by Trinity Young People, as usual gave a fine performance, in the role of Julia Mathis, a widow, while her teenage children, Sonny and Pinky, were excellently portrayed by Charles Frizzell and Edith Brown. Others in the "cast" to which these two belonged were Alex Heffner, boy from next door, played by David MacDonell; Flo Heffner, his sister, Helen Chappell; Midge and Madge Vernon, two young singers, Wilma and Janet Wood.

Mrs. Mathis' two suitors were a not very congenial banker, whose role was capably played by Ian MacLean, and Barry Tremont, a famous orchestra leader, who turns out to be the answer to everyone's problems, and who was portrayed by Leith Thompson.

Others in the cast were Ingrid, a hired girl, Donna Bowness; Herb Farnham, a young lady killer and also the banker's son, played by Brenton Partridge; a little nuisance, Mary Jane Heffner, in whose role Doris Andrew gave a most convincing performance, and Robert Crooks was cast in the role of a young pianist.

Enjoyable Specialties Besides the excellent entertainment afforded by the play, members of the Y.P.U. were heard in a number of very pleasing specialty numbers between acts. Following Act I a chorus composed of Mary Morrison, Carroll MacRae, Shirley MacDonell, Velma Wood, Shirley Bell, Joan Stewart, Kay Coffin, Phyllis Downe, Joan Storey, Elaine McLure, Betty Foster, Elaine Smith and Mary Mayhew, with Mary Morrison and Carroll MacRae as leaders, sang the ever-popular "O What a Beautiful Morning" from Oklahoma. During the second intermission, Carroll MacRae and Mary Morrison were heard in Brahms' "Cradle Song" sung as duet, with the rest of the chorus in the background. As an encore the chorus sang a charming Scottish folk song entitled "The Wee Cooper O'Fyfe." The chorus was directed by Mrs. Keith Rogers, organist of Trinity United Church.

Harvey MacKinon, who is also a favourite artist of Charlottetown audiences, scored a hit with his renditions of "Old Man River" and "Some Enchanted Evening."

The Rev. J. T. Irwin welcomed the audience last evening, and read a number of congratulatory messages, among them a telegram from Keir Matheson, and a card of well wishes from Toronto from Mr. and Mrs. Austin Trainor.

At the conclusion of the performance, Charles Walper, president of Trinity Y.P.U., on behalf of all the members, thanked Mrs. Houle for her untiring efforts to make the play the tremendous success it was, and she was presented with a bouquet of red roses from the Young People. The committee in charge of the stage was composed of Leith Stetson, John Stevenson, Harvey MacKinon, Gordon Tait and Clair MacLeod. Advertising was handled by Bob Hutchison, Bob Hamby and Dan Shaw; lights by Stewart Smith; make-up by Miss Dorothy MacAleer; and the tickets by Margaret Wheatley.

Mrs. Houle's decision to retire from the field of dramatics is deeply regretted by all who have had the pleasure of attending her productions, and last evening's performance was a great tribute to her skill in directing fine dramatic programs in which young people have a part.

Ovation Tendered Hon. Dr. MacMillan

"In some ways I am a wealthy man; not through money in the bank, but I have another treasure. My memories of my friendships," Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan said in the Legislature yesterday when he was given an ovation on the occasion of his 72nd birthday celebration. It started with Mr. Joseph Livingston, senior messenger, crossing the floor to place a large bouquet of red roses on the Doctor's desk. At the same time the newly installed recording machine was heard playing back a specially made recording of "Happy Birthday Dear Doctor," a song sung earlier in the machine by a group of Legislative employees. Visibly touched by the reception Dr. MacMillan told the other members that it never mattered to him what side of the House a man was on, as long as he had good friends who interfere with personal friendships. He said that though in the past his criticisms had frequently been harsh it was for the good of the Province and had not spoiled his liking or respect for those criticized.

Mr. Bell Objects To Union Letter

Taking issue with a letter appearing in yesterday's Guardian, Mr. R. R. Bell, Leader of the Opposition, rose on a question of personal privilege "also privilege that concerns other members of the House." The letter in question, signed by Alexander MacLean, president, Division No. 20 of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees, closed with the phrase "Let all of us who work in industrial enterprises take note of the record of representatives at this sitting of the House." It was this to which Mr. Bell took exception. He said that no labor legislation has been introduced in the House and that no part in any discussion, nor has my Party officially. Any member may speak as he sees fit. Mr. Bell stated he had always been a friend of labor in Charlottetown and Prince Edward Island and had worked hard and long on many occasions in the interest of labor. "I am merely making this objection, and I have taken no challenge, a statement made in the Press which is incorrect, or possibly a mistake on the writer's part."

Rebekah Lodge Annual Roll Call

Alpha Rebekah Lodge No. 10 I.O.O.F. last night observed its annual roll call and Colfax night 93 responded in person to their names, 75 by proxy and 6 by letter—174 in all. One minute's silence was observed in respect to the memory of Queen Grandmother Mary. At the close of lodge, a short program was carried out with Past Grand Master John A. MacNair acting as chairman. He presided over the members. A short paper on the life of Schyler Colfax, the founder of the Rebekah Degree of Oddfellowship was read by Mrs. Peggy Dennis, P.N.G. Mrs. Edith Davison gave a humorous reading. This was followed by a vocal solo by Miss June Foster which was warmly applauded. Finally a very enjoyable play, "Classroom Days" was presented by Mrs. Margaret MacKinon, Mrs. Eva MacMillan, Mrs. Gwen Warren, Mrs. Adelaide Moore, Miss Myrtle White, Mrs. Lois Brown, Eileen Hickox, Jeanette Wilson, Flo Stewart. Refreshments and square dancing ended a most enjoyable evening. ple toward the church as members of its mystical body. The thanks of the organization were tendered to the speaker by the Club president, Miss Patricia Wynne.

Committee Work In Legislature

Another session of solid work in the Legislature yesterday saw four bills receive third and final reading and eight more in the committee stage of second reading. Those passing yesterday were amendments to the Insurance Act, the City of Charlottetown Incorporation Act, the Summerside Incorporation Act and an Act to Authorize the Issue of Debentures by this city for the Commissioners of Sewers and Water Supply. In committee yesterday were amendments to the P.E.I. Corporation Income Tax Act, the Legal Profession Act, the Fire Prevention Act, the Workmen's Compensation Act, the Village Service Act and the Mothers' Allowance Act. The two latter will be further discussed with the committee reporting progress in their deliberations yesterday. Also receiving second reading was the Civil Service Act. Among the committee chairmen yesterday were Messrs. F. L. MacNutt, J. W. D. Campbell, J. G. MacKay, William Acorn, George Kitson, E. P. Foley and Dr. Lorne Bonnell.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a gallant son and brother, Flt. Lieut. Leonard Thomas Berrigan, D. F. C. A. F. C., who lost his life over Berlin, March 25th, 1944.

Fond is the memory that lingers, Dear is the one that is gone, In memory we hold you, dear Leonard, As long as the years roll along. Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear Father, Nelson J. Gammeter who passed away March 25, 1945.

His memory is our keepsake, With which we will never part; God has him in His keeping, We have him in our hearts. Always remembered by his loving daughter Christine.

Charlottetown Officer En Route For Korea

OTTAWA, Mar. 23 - A veteran artillery officer from Charlottetown, P. E. I., Maj. J. P. Beer, 33 (above), left Camp Petawawa last Sunday en route for Korea. He is second-in-command of the 81st Field Regiment, RCA, that will be joining the 25th Infantry Brigade in the Far East within the next few weeks.

Maj. Beer, (110 Edward Street), was born in Charlottetown and educated at Prince of Wales College, a graduate in Commerce. He began his military career with the Non-Permanent Active Militia in 1937 with a Charlottetown unit of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

In 1938 he transferred to a Royal Canadian Artillery unit in that city and has been an Artillery officer ever since. From 1938 until 1940 he served with the 8th Medium Battery, RCA. In 1940 he served with the Royal Canadian Artillery Training Centre at Kingston and Camp Petawawa, going overseas in July of that year. Shortly after arriving in the United Kingdom he served with the 1st Field Regiment, RCA, and the 11th Army Field Regiment. From 1942 he served with the 12th and 14th Field Regiments, RCA, serving in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

He returned to Canada in late 1945 and has remained in the Permanent Force ever since. In 1946 he was selected to attend the Long Gunners Staff Course in the United Kingdom. Upon completion of that course he was made a General Staff Officer with the Directorate of Artillery at Army Headquarters, Ottawa.

He was appointed as second-in-command of the 81st Field Regiment, RCA, in November, 1952.

Lively Discussion On Killing Plant Problem

Approximately one hundred members of the P. E. I. Federation of Agriculture and others interested in the report of the Custom Killing Plant committee heard the whole matter discussed in detail at a meeting in the Clover Club last night, presided over by Mr. Roland MacDonald, the Federation president. A resolution that "the matter be left in the hands of the committee to continue work under the supervision of the board of directors," brought the session to a close at midnight. The report, which was submitted and moved for adoption by the chairman of the committee, Mr. Andrew Stevenson, and seconded by Mr. Louis MacDonald, brought to light many details as to cost of construction of the partly constructed Wheatley plant, and the sum required to complete the same should it be deemed expedient by the farmers to purchase shares at $25 per share and own and operate the same.

In his opening remarks President MacDonald stated, with regard to a recent meeting of the committee with the Government: "I was only there as an observer and had no authority to represent my Directors. If I am blamed for throwing cold water on the meeting, I was just making my position clear."

The report gave the approximate cost of a suitable plant as $60,000, proposing a loan of $10,000 from the Provincial Government and a further subscription among farmers and shippers and canners of shares at $25.00 each. The plant is to be managed by an independent manager appointed by the board of directors, with a suggested Public Utilities Board rate structure for killing and processing. It would not be the policy of the plant to engage in buying or selling livestock or meat products unless determined by vote of the shareholders. An average killing per day should be 15 head of cattle, 14 hogs, two lambs and three veal. Three thousand head per year, including hogs, would have to be slaughtered to make the plant a success. Based on an estimated volume of business, considered well within the bounds of possibility, the committee reports a probable revenue of $37,780.00 per year and an expenditure of $26,574.40, with a profit of $11,205.60.

Members taking part in the discussion which followed the reading of the report, included Mr. Robert Connolly, Andrew Stevenson, Louis MacDonald, Willard Prowse, Mrs. Russell Roper, Wellington MacNeil and others. THE "Mommas" may not be enthralled with them but the "Kids" sure go for SATIN BOMBER JACKETS, and they are in the Youth Centre in small sizes—2 to 6. There are several colors from which to choose, these have a contrasting shoulder and sleeve stripe. The collars, cuffs and waistbands are of striped wool knit and the lining of warm, fluffy doeskin. The price is reasonable, it's just 3.98. Say what you will, Satin Bomber Jackets are warm and extremely serviceable—they wear and wear. Get your young fellow one in his favorite color for Spring play, you'll find them on a rack in the Youth Centre at Holman's.

Discussed Planning Of Federal Capital

Interested citizens on Town Planning dipped into the past, viewed the present and peered into the future of Canada's national capital in an interesting illustrated talk last night at P. W. C. Hall by Walter B. Bowker, director of information for the National Capital Planning Commission.

In discussing the plan presently being executed to make Ottawa an efficient modern community capable of carrying out its dual role as a city and as a national capital, the speaker stated that the NCPCC is working on a 50-year plan with no estimated cost. With the present population of about 250,000 in Ottawa and Hull expansion plans allow for a population of 600,000 at the end of the century. Ottawa, Mr. Bowker said, is today like any other Canadian city in that there are industrial plants scattered through business and residential sections, railway lines cutting up lands that otherwise would be good real estate or else causing traffic hazards, and the absence of a zoning policy which leads to great inconvenience on the part of the citizens.

The committee hopes to bring some order out of chaos in a manner of speaking, by city development through efficient traffic arteries, the elimination of rail lines within the city and a zoning policy designed to decentralize government offices and place industry away from business and residential areas.

Plans also allow for the expansion of several national organizations, since today both the National Museum and Art Gallery are forced to store three-quarters of their exhibits for lack of space. Mr. Bowker pointed out another innovation will be the establishment of a "green belt" around the outer perimeter of the city. This is designed to protect the market gardeners and prevent "ribbon housing developments" along main traffic arteries. Taking part in the planning are a commissioner from each province so that all provinces will have a say in the development of their capital. Prince Edward Island's commissioner, Dr. J. H. Blanchard, presided at last night's meeting.

Civil Service Bill Discussed In House

During discussion in committee of the Legislature of the Civil Service Act Major John A. MacDonald, Third Kings, proposed an amendment which would coincide with the clause in the Federal Service Act guaranteeing the veterans' preference.

Hon. A. W. Matheson, promoter of the bill, said the proposed Act was not costly to the Province as the public servants had contributed to a retirement fund. He said the veterans' preference clause was not in the Act but that the Government tried to give a preference although it was true that it was not always gone.

Mr. B. Earle MacDonald, Fifth Kings, believed that the retirement age should be lowered from the proposed 70 years to 65. Hon. Mr. Matheson said provision was made for continuing to keep employees in the service after the age limit where it was desirable. Mr. William Hughes, Fifth Kings, noted that during the war years many business firms would have had difficulty carrying on if it had not been for their ex-employeees.

There was a brief exchange regarding the use of the term "official secrets" but it remained in the bill with Hon. Eugene Cullery reminding the House that the budget traditionally is regarded as an "official secret" until delivered in the Legislature.

Mr. R. R. Bell remarked that though employees might be discharged for taking part in political campaigns they were not barred from municipal political activity. Major MacDonald said that though there were no party lines in Charlottetown politics as in other places there might be a change at some future date. He objected to the word "may" regarding the discharge of employees politically active and felt the word should be "shall." He maintained there was no point in having a law without any teeth in it. However, the motion was lost on division. An Act to Incorporate the Fundamental Baptist Church of Central Bedoue was passed through second reading. But in the beginning Premier Jones asked promoter J. G. MacKay if the use of the word fundamental implied a re-jection on any other Baptists. Mr. George Saville, Fifth Kings, said "It's a new one on me."
