ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) - School-trained chimpanzees are helping NASA define safety limits for space-walking astronauts.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene Cernan is scheduled for a two-hour, 25-minute space walk during the Gemini 9 flight. Data from the chimp tests to date indicate Cernan could be rescued if suddenly exposed directly to the vacuum of space.

The animals are part of the chimp college at Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo.

Since 1964 the Aeromedical Research Laboratory at Holloman has been conducting tests for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which the chimps are exposed in rapid succession to simulate altitudes of 150,000 feet. An astronaut would encounter such an altitude should his space suit rip or his face plate break during a space walk.

CHANGE TEXTBOOKS Alfred Koestler, director of the tests, said results are rewriting altitude physiology textbooks. Previously scientists believed that direct exposure to space vacuum would result in instant death, with the blood boiling and the lack of atmospheric pressure possibly leading to the body expanding and even bursting.

"All our healthy chimps have survived in excellent physical health," Koestler said in an interview.

"The most extraordinary thing to happen so far is that nothing happens."

He said the chimps' environment is changed within eight-tenths of a second from 100-percent oxygen to the airless 150,000-foot altitude. Exposures to the airless condition have lasted up to three minutes.

Radio priest will retire

DETROIT (AP) - Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, controversial radio priest of the 1930s, will retire next month as pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower in suburban Royal Oak Mich.

Most Rev. John F. Dearden, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Detroit, announced Friday that Father Coughlin asked to be freed of his responsibilities because of impaired health.

Father Coughlin, 74, told reporters Thursday he was ordered to halt his broadcasts to an estimated 32,000,000 radio listeners.

His broadcasts, on political and economic subjects, stirred considerable controversy in the 1930s.

Born in Hamilton, Ont., Father Coughlin was educated at St. Michael's college in Toronto and the University of Toronto.
