LEGISLATURE

Debate on the Draft Address

WEDNESDAY, April 19.

Mr. Reid in moving that the House go into committee on the draft address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, spoke of his inexperience in Legislative affairs, and asked for the indulgence of the House while he offered a few remarks upon the various paragraphs in the address. A very important paragraph is that respecting the harvest. Although the harvest was not as abundant as in some former years, prosperity was evident on all sides. The wheat crop was small, but the yield of hay and grass was heavy, consequently there was a large output of cheese and butter. In his section the output was double what it was the preceding year. The large output and the better prices which prevailed put the farmers in better shape to meet their obligations. Mr. Reid then spoke of the advent to power of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and claimed that since that time the volume of trade had greatly increased. In two years it was almost as large as during the eighteen years of Conservative rule. There was also a surplus of $2,000,000. In the face of this he could not see how any one could deny the prosperity of Canada. What was true of Canada as a whole also applied to Prince Edward Island, and he thought we had reason to be thankful as stated by the address. Referring to the appointment of Lord Minto as Governor General of Canada, Mr. Reid expressed the opinion that he would make a worthy successor to Lord Aberdeen. Lord Minto knows Canada thoroughly and is well qualified for the position. He hoped His Excellency would be able to visit this province in the not very distant future. The paragraph regarding agriculture, horticulture and dairying was also of importance. Professors Robertson and Macoun visited this province and held a series of meetings which must prove of great benefit to the public. Hon. Mr. Fisher is evidently a true friend of this province, and his selection as a member of the cabinet was a wise one. Among the other members is Sir Louis Davies, who is also active in promoting our interests. Hon. Mr. Fisher inaugurated cold storage, the importance of which cannot be over-estimated. Mr. Reid was also glad to note the deep interest taken in agriculture by Premier Farquharson, which was evidenced by sending Mr. Wise to England and bringing Professors Robertson and Macoun here. The country has increased confidence in the Premier because of his excellent work in this direction. He (Mr. Reid) attended the meeting at Kensington, and was pleased to observe how the farmers took up the information imparted and how thoroughly they discussed it. The increase in dairying is another matter for congratulation. There were now 35 cheese factories and 7 creameries, the product of which ranges from $250,000 to $300,000. There is a ready market for the product in Great Britain, the provinces and Newfoundland. The industry now requires special legislation, and he believed the appointment of a dairy inspector, as promised, was a move in the right direction. Another important matter referred to in the speech is the building of a combined railway and traffic bridge across the Hillsborough. The Southport ferry is very expensive, the average amount it cost being $13,000. If this old-fashioned and expensive ferry can be done away with and a modern bridge substituted, the benefit to the Province must be great. As a saving will be effected in expenditure there should be no hesitation in voting the amount of money that is necessary. The decision of the Privy Council regarding the fisheries was also of importance. This decision means that this province has a just claim to a share of the fishery award—about one and a quarter millions—the interest of which will amount to about $50,000. This would solve the financial problem of this province. It would also enable us to construct needed public works. The speech also refers to proposed amendment to the Road Act. He thought this was necessary. He would be in favor of abolishing statute labor. Any measure of improvement submitted should meet with the approval of the people. The Public Accounts are promised at an early date. In this regard he would not weary the House with financial comparisons. He thought it would be sufficient to say that the Liberal government has no reason to be ashamed of its management of public affairs.

Mr. D. A. McKinnon had much pleasure in seconding the motion. The speech contained a most important matter, that is the reference to the building of the bridge across the Hillsborough. There was nothing so important for a quarter of a century. This matter has now assumed a business-like aspect. Under the British North America Act it is not provided that bridges of local importance shall be built by the Dominion Government. The proposed bridge is to be a combined railway and passenger bridge. It will cost nearly a million, but he noticed that the Government were about to spend a million for a bridge at Levis. In 1873 there was but one small boat on the Southport ferry. Then in 1874 the Elfin was put on. The service at that time cost $1,000. Every year since the expenditure has been very large. Here are the figures, including the steamer Southport expenditures:

|-----------|--------------|
| 1873..... | $ 5,881.16 |
| 1874..... | 12,887.61 |
| 1875..... | 43,857.23 |
| 1876..... | 13,796.76 |
| 1877..... | 10,944.48 |
| 1878..... | 7,426.44 |
| 1879..... | 4,465.69 |
| 1880..... | 3,043.99 |
| 1881..... | 3,047.71 |
| 1882..... | 2,977.34 |
| 1883..... | 19,490.55 |
| 1884..... | 8,992.35 |
| 1885..... | 7,030.47 |
| 1886..... | 18,832.67 |
| 1887..... | 7,056.63 |
| 1888..... | 15,901.47 |
| 1889..... | 15,804.95 |
| 1890..... | 19,815.54 |
| 1891..... | 26,370.58 |
| 1892..... | 15,313.20 |
| 1893..... | 22,017.51 |
| 1894..... | 27,692.86 |
| 1895..... | 34,045.71 |
| 1896..... | 21,544.67 |
| 1897..... | 17,053.17 |
| | $383,731.39 |

The discrepancy is accounted for by the fact that from 1878 to 1893 the ferries were run by contract. The expenditures for services at Southport and East and West Rivers were not separated for many years and are included in the statement. The average expenditure was $15,000. This includes an average expenditure on Southport of about over $1300 and in the Charlottetown about an average of $1541.15 a year. Then on the other side the government spent over $8,000 or an average of $345 a year. During the quarter of the century referred to the Southport and Elfin were obtained (exp tendency seems to be to increase the expenditure on the ferries, as is evidenced by the past. During the twenty-five years under consideration the revenue from the Southport ferry did not amount to $5,000 in any one year. Indeed the average receipts only amounted to $2116.91 for the 25 years. Now the expenditure was $15,000, and taking the receipts from this there is left a balance of $13,000 a year. Even if the expenditure of the steamer Southport which performed the services at West and East River amounted to $2000 or 3000 a year the annual cost of this ferry would amount to $10,000 or 11,000 in round numbers. He thought that under the circumstances the House would be justified in voting some $10,000 or $12,000 for a bridge across the Hillsborough. Besides the existing expenditure on the ferry the Commissioner of Public Works has to devote a large portion of his time to that ferry. He (Mr. McKinnon) felt that the province generally would be benefited by the building of the bridge in question. Besides there would be nearly $1,000,000 spent among the people. This matter is of paramount importance, and he therefore felt it his duty to go into it in detail. Proceeding, Mr. McKinnon took up some of the other paragraphs in the speech. He thought that the enjoyment of peace was a matter of congratulation. But it is not appreciated when our neighbours across the border have been and are still at war. This province has also enjoyed abundant prosperity, although the wheat crop was a partial failure. He did not know a time when the future of the country looked so bright. The expenditure of money for a bridge shows that the rights of this province are about to be recognised by the Federal Government. He agreed with the paragraph welcoming Lord Minto; and was also in sympathy with any movement in the direction of improving our agricultural, horticultural and dairying interests. The decision of the Privy Council regarding foreshore and fisheries would be discussed by him when the matter came up later on. He was favorable to permanent public works, and looked upon temporary structures as a poor investment. There were some other matters in the address that he might refer to, but as he had dwelt upon the bridge question at considerable length he would refrain from taking them up now. Cold storage is of great importance, and he hoped that the advice of Professor Robertson regarding new lines of farming would be taken up and acted upon as everyone knew their importance.

Ottawa Journal: Much tariff discussion in Parliament having made it evident that protection is still the practice of this country, the Toronto Globe ought to burst forth again into its old song "Has protection made you rich?"

The Finishing Touch

When the paint is all on you begin to learn how much it is worth. There are only two ways to tell whether paint will stand wear and tear, whether it will protect your property from decay, or not. One way is to wait and see what happens. That is the experimental way, and it's expensive. The other way is to buy paints with a reputation built on years of unflinching success—such paints as
