THE SUMMER HAY CROPS

TWO THAT ARE NOT APPRECIATED BY SOME FARMERS.

Millet and Hungarian Grass—Both Yield Nutritious Provender That is Easy to Cure and Easy to Keep.

Farmers who failed to seed down clover early inthe spring, or whose grass crops were not as thrifty as desired, are not wholly out of the limits of possibility of a hay crop. There are two crops which are grown especially in the summer, but they do not receive that recognition by farmers which they so justly deserve. They are Hungarian grass and millet, and it is seldom that they fail to give good returns for the land and labor bestowed upon them. Both crops are usually seeded down in May, on rich land, but they seem to adapt themselves to all kinds of soils, good crops being obtained even on light sandy locations. They are crops which give a large quantity of nutritious provender, which is easily cured, and keeps well during the winter, horses and cattle being very partial to it. Millet is cut when the seed heads begin to form, but Hungarian grass may be cut at different times during the season, and may also be used as a soiling crop for stock that are fed at the barn.

QUICK CROPS AND WEEDS.

Hungarian-grass is a sure remedy for weeds. The plants grow so rapidly after they get a start that all weeds are crowded out—starved, so to say—and the second year they are fewer because of not producing seed. Should the weeds happen to assert themselves and secure places on the soil they will be mowed down at each cutting of the Hungarian grass. As the Hungarian grass will afford a cutting every month on very rich soil the weeds will thus be cut down too frequently for their thrift, and, in addition to being thus weakened, the rapid-growing Hungarian grass keeps them back and assists in reducing their vitality each time. In fact, the cheapest and best mode of ridding a field of weeds is to seed it down to Hungarian grass, for then the farmer not only cleans his land of the pests, but also grows an excellent crop of hay, which is relished by the horses, cattle and sheep, and which can be grown at a season of the year when but few other crops can be made to succeed if hay is the object.

PLOWING AND HARVESTING.

Both millet and Hungarian grass should be grown on land that has been deeply plowed and harrowed fine. Sow plenty of seed, about twelve quarts per acre, and brush it in. If the soil is rich, and the young plants make an early start, they will grow with astonishing rapidity, and need no other labor but that of mowing and curing. With millet the mistake is sometimes made of cutting the crop too late. The proper time is when the seed heads begin to form. If delay then occurs there will be too much indigestible fibre in the hay. It is, therefore, better to cut a little too soon rather than too late. The German giant millet is the variety mostly preferred. The seed should be evenly broadcasted, and sown just before a rain on light soils that bake, but the ground should be freshly harrowed before seeding. A crop of millet will prove an excellent addition to the hay crop that may be short or neglected.

FARM FACTS IN VARIETY.

Crimson Clover—Celery Growing—Potato Culture.

Those who have crops of crimson (scarlet) clover to plow under will find that the clover will make very rapid growth during the next three weeks and need not be plowed until May 15, if it is desired to grow another green crop right after it. In such case the Southern cow pea will be found excellent, and the vines should be plowed under just as the seed pods are beginning to form When plowing under green crops apply about twenty bushels of lime or wood aches per acre.

Any person who grows celery can easily produce large and white stalks, but the main point is to have them crisp. Good celery should break into two or three pieces when bent, and should be very brittle. The way to secure the brittleness is to begin blanching the stalks from the start, and also grow them rapidly. If the blanching is done later in the season, as is usually the case, the stalks will be white and attractive, but will not be as brittle as when the blanching is done gradually during the whole season.

Fence posts may be made to last longer by banking up around them occasionally, so as to allow the water to flow away from them. Allowing the earth to sink in around the posts is to invite decay of that portion under ground, which will be constantly saturated with the water which flows down to the posts instead of away from them.

Do not hatch the young turkeys too soon, or there may be a heavy loss among them, unless you are well prepared to care for them. They quickly succumb to dampness, and the large lice, which prey on the tops of their heads, destroy them also when the turkeys are very young.

When plowing under a green crop apply lime and then run the roller over the land if some other crop is to immediately follow the one turned under.

Farmers who procure pure breeds of fowls cannot resist the temptation to cross the breeds. This system always leads to deterioration of stock. When one begins to cross several breeds, either of animals or poultry, the result in a few years is a lot of mongrels. It is well to grade up the common stock, but pure breeds should never be crossed. All the best crosses were made when the breed was produced.

Beef cattle can be made to pay on some farms even when they give no profit on others. If by keeping of any kind of stock the farmer can succeed in utilizing portions of his foods which are unsalable he will gain that which otherwise would be lost. The profit on a farm often comes from the saving of substances through the medium of other channels. A pound of beef sold may represent more than the original value of the foods which produced it, and portions of the foods may be of straw, corn fodder and other bulky materials, which are not readily sold.

A LADY'S DOCTOR

Recommends the Use of Paine's Celery Compound.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE LIVER.

Intense Anxiety and Overwork Bring on Nervousness.

Mrs. John Glassford Says: "The Compound is one the Greatest Blessings ever given to Humanity."

The physicians of this North American continent are prescribing Paine's Celery Compound every day, because they have confidence in its healing, strengthening and building up virtues. No other medicine of modern times is so popular with our best physicians. They know what it has accomplished in extreme and desperate cases, and have no hesitation in recommending it when life is in danger.

The testimony received from Mrs. John Glassford, of Chatham, Ont., is worthy of the most careful perusal. It proves conclusively that the worst cases can be successfully cured by nature's great medicine. Mrs. Glassford, for the benefit of other sufferers, writes thus:—

"Three years ago I was under treatment for enlargement of the liver, and my physician was able to bring about a cure in due time. Soon after, however, I was called upon to attend my daughter through a very severe illness. The work and anxiety was too much for me in my weak condition. As a result of my overwork and intense anxiety I was thrown into a relapse of the worst form, and my nerves gave out, which made my case worse than ever before.

"My sufferings were something terrible; no tongue or pen could ever tell what I had to pass through. I went to Detroit and consulted a doctor, but his treatment was not beneficial. Finally, after months of agony, and my life despaired of, my physician here recommended as a last resort, Paine's Celery Compound. I am pleased to tell you that relief soon came after I had used this remedy—the greatest of all medicines in our country to-day for suffering humanity.

"I have been using the Compound about six months, and most of the time I am quite well; and I feel that by continuing its use for a further time I will be quite restored. I could not live a single month I am sure, were it not for the Compound. I prize it as one of the greatest blessings ever given to humanity.

"Our druggists, A. E. Pilkey & Co., have sold your remedy to scores of people here, from what has been seen and known of my case."

THE MODERN WOMAN.

Oh, she can write a poem,
And she can make a stew,
Can play on the piano,
And also bake and brew.

She reads a little Latin,
And also studies Greek,
Can rock the baby's cradle,
And nurse the sick and weak.

Can give her husband counsel,
Put trimmings on a hat,
Deliver an oration,
Or work a bordered mat.

She entertains right royaliy,
Reads law a little, too—
Pshaw! Tell of something, can you,
A woman cannot do?

THE KENT CASE.

Phsicians Universally Admit the Diagnosis to have been Correct.

OTTAWA, April 22—The diagnosis in the case of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, whose recovery from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills has been so extensively chronicled appears to have been a very correct one. The swelling of the body and extremities to an abnoral size the fearful convulsions and subsequent insensibility, the racking pains, the formation of the hard ridges across the pit of the stomach and the great loss of albumen are all symptoms of this terrible disease, and it is universally admitted by all who have been approached on the subject that the case was unmistakable in its character. It is also universally admitted that he owes his restored health to the above mentioned remedy.

Saved His Life.

"I now weigh nearly 200 pounds," said a fine, robust looking man the other day; and yet this same man was given up to die of consumption less than two years ago. What cured him? Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil did. He took it when at a low ebb, when his weight was less than 100 pounds. It created new blood for him and that combined with will power raised him up to a life of usefulness and happiness. If you are threatened with consumption or any lung trouble try Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. Miller's Emulsion is the great nerve strengthener and blood maker, and cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Scrofula, and all Lung affections. In Big Bottles, 50c. and $1, at all Drug Stores.

The report that Sir Henry Leighton, president of the Royal Academy, is dying in Algiers, is contradicted. The celebrated painter is much better.
