

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 26, 1892.

A Step Forward

It is pleasing to learn that a step forward is about to be taken in respect to a first-class hotel for Charlottetown. A gentleman who has had large experience in the management of hotels in the States has, we understand, taken the matter up and is having plans and estimates prepared to submit to a number of our most enterprising capitalists, who have evinced a warm interest in this means of benefitting the town. We regard it as a fortunate circumstance that a practical hotel-man has come to the front. One of the chief causes of the failure of the efforts which have been made in this direction in the past was the want of a man who fully understood the business. This want is now supplied. There is in view, we believe, a thoroughly trained man, of good ability and first-class character, who is prepared to take the management of the project from its inception and to carry it out successfully. This fact will give confidence to those who want to place their money where it will be taken care of, and where it will yield a fair dividend, as well as prove advantageous to the community at large. It is stated that a preliminary meeting of those who are most interested in the enterprise will be held at an early date; and that hopes are entertained that such prompt action may be taken as will ensure the erection and equipment of a first-class hotel for Charlottetown or before the opening of the touring season next year.

The Banks in September.

The monthly statement of the Banks of Canada shows that business was during September unusually active throughout the country. The bank circulation was increased from $32,646,200 to $34,927,600. The Montreal Gazette truly remarks that "there is no better test of the volume of commerce within the country than the amount of the bank circulation which forms the largest part of our currency." The bank circulation at the close of September in the past four years was,—

Table with 2 columns: Year, Bank Circulation. Rows for 1889, 1890, 1891, 1892.

Thus the volume of commerce in September of this year was larger than last year and much larger than in 1889. The public deposits, too, were increased by a million and three quarters, the total $164,585,000, being the highest ever reached in Canada. The Montreal Gazette remarks that, "taking a glance over the twelve months to September 30th, a considerable increase in the banking business is exhibited in the returns. In the way of resources, a gain of nearly $19,000,000 in deposits has occurred, and of $600,000 in the net amount due by foreign agents. The money, or credit as it may more properly be called, thus made available has been employed in loans as follows:—

Table with 2 columns: Year, Amount. Rows for 1891, 1892.

These figures indicate clearly that the supply of loanable funds exceeds the demand for credit for mercantile purposes, and, of course, they account for the low rate of interest now prevailing. It is quite a novelty in the banking affairs of Canada to have fourteen million dollars employed in a single year on stocks, and in the purchase of municipal and railway securities; but it by no means follows that the present large proportion of funds so invested will always be maintained. Taking the September statement as a whole, it is of quite as favorable a character as those which have preceded it for two years past. The circulation is at a high point and likely to be maintained, while commercial borrowings continue to bear a prudent and safe proportion to the note issue.

Notes and Comments.

Judging by the evidence given at the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court this forenoon, there is great need here for a reformatory, as well as for a first-class hotel. An effort is being made to have the management of the Dominion Debt, etc., taken out of the hands of the Barings and Glymore Mills and placed in the hands of the Bank of Montreal. The account is a very profitable one and there seems to be no good reason why our great Canadian bank should not get the benefit of it. All the ways of swindlers are past finding out. Here is a new way, described by the Merchant Sentinel, of Cleveland, in which the plausible scamp approaches the agriculturist of the Western Reserve. "He makes a contract with each farmer for his wheat, agreeing to pay $1.05 a bushel, delivered at the nearest station whenever he desires it. In order to bind the contractor he pays a little down and agrees to pay the remainder when the wheat is delivered. He only approaches those who have large quantities. After he gets the contracts he will hold them, never calling for the wheat, and worry the farmer into giving him a nice sum to release the contract."

have put up their farms for sale and if successful will move next spring. I now feel that success is assured and that we may expect a large immigration." Speaking of the crops, he says: "The crops have been a failure as predicted by me in one of my reports to you and were it not for the immense sums circulated through pensions the people would suffer a great deal. In this village (Chesaning) of one thousand population thirty-two thousand dollars a year is paid, and I am informed by a reliable man that three millions are paid in the state this year."

The Official Messenger of St. Petersburg publishes the first authoritative version of the Russian capture of sealing vessels in the Pacific Ocean. The paper declares that six vessels were seized at points distant 18 to 20 miles from the Russian coast, not from 20 to 40 miles as has been asserted. The captures were all made outside of the territorial boundary. This is explained by the fact that the sealers saw the Russian cruisers approaching and, and the sealers chased them some times for an hour and a half. Only the vessels, logs, charts, etc., which proved that they had been sealing in Russia, were seized. Three of the vessels captured were blameless. The British flag was not insulted. It was only hauled down and replaced by the Russian colors after the vessels had been seized. The crews of the captured vessels were well treated, but when they became insulting to the Russians, peace had to be restored by force of arms. This is the Russian statement of the case.

Police Court.

This morning, Michael Power, jr., was fined $5 for assaulting Robert Kelly on the 14th September; and a woman named Maud Mann, arrested for being out after hours, was discharged on condition that she leave the city within forty-eight hours.

William Ellworth and John McCormack, the two ladies arrested for several petty larcenies, were also arraigned. Young McCormack was put upon the stand as a witness, and swore that he had gone to McMillan's with Ellworth on several occasions. Ellworth went in through a window and sometimes got silver and sometimes got cents, which were spent by both in cakes, candies, ice cream and ginger beer. He also went to John F. Robertson's office with Ellworth, who made him go in through the window and open the door; and in there he found a flask of liquor and some beer which they appropriated and with the help of other boys drank. The two also visited the premises of Longworth & Co., on Water St. Ellworth hoisted witness in through a window, and after getting inside he opened the door. They had visited this place five or six times and taken lead, lobsters and empty bags therefrom. They also went into David Smith's shop. Ellworth took off witness' coat and hat and shoved him in through a small space in the window sash where the glass had been broken previously. They were in Smith's in all about three times. On several occasions they got some money and on one occasion a can of copper paint. Rattenbury's hay press was also taken in—an entrance being made through a small space under the door. There they got some empty bags, which they subsequently sold. They also paid a visit to Chas. Lyons' office and a few cents were taken therefrom. His Honor sent Ellworth up for trial in the Supreme Court and discharged McCormack, as he thought he was too young to imprison. McCormack is eight years old and Ellworth eleven.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system; continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.
