"GAY SCOTTISH MUSIC — In the legion hall, St. Peter's, Monday evening, lovers of old time Scottish music were present to hear the noted violinists, Dan J. Campbell and his talented son and daughters from Inverness, Cape Breton. The walls and ceiling of this splendid building figuratively marched, reeled and strathed to the ecstatic strains of their music. A splendid system of loud speakers sent the strains to every part of the building, and the loud and frequent applause showed the interest and understanding of the appreciative audience. This program of violin music will be continued in other halls of Kings County during the present week.

"HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE — The large residence of Norman W. MacLeod, Bridgetown, was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning. Starting from the kitchen range, the fire spread through the house in a few minutes, barely permitting the occupants to escape. Residing in the house were Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald, their son Lloyd and his wife (the former Catherine MacEachern of Montague) and their two children. It is understood that Lloyd lit the morning fire in the kitchen range about 6 a.m. and afterward went to the barn to do the chores. Some time later smoke was seen pouring out of the house, and there was only time to rouse the other occupants and get them out of the burning building. A little furniture was saved from a corner bedroom, but otherwise the dwelling and furnishings are a complete loss. A large crowd assembled, but they were unable to do anything because of the rapid spread of the fire. It is understood that the loss is partly covered by insurance.

Miss Shirley Mallard, youngest sister of the bride, played the Wedding March, and several appropriate hymns were rendered during the ceremony by Reverend Father Landrigan.

The bride was attired in a floor-length gown of white net over satin, with crenellations and lace bodice, and a high neckline with seed pearl trim. Her three-quarter length veil of lace edged with dainty embroidery was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses with white satin streamers.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. Harry Harris, sister of the bride. Her floor-length gown was of bridesmaid blue tulle with high neckline and crenellations and she wore matching head-dress and net mittens, and carried a bouquet of red and yellow roses with rainbow satin streamers.

The groom was supported by his brother Mr. Vernon Jarvis. For the occasion the bride's mother chose a street-length dress of navy, with floral insert at front, and wore a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Jarvis, mother of the groom, chose a black and white print and wore a corsage of red roses.

Dinner was served at Sandy's Restaurant, Marshfield, to approximately 30 relatives and close friends of the bride and groom. The tables were decorated with summer flowers, and the wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom. A toast to the bride was proposed by Reverend MacDonald, and responded to by the groom, followed by speeches by Mr. William Gillam, grandfather of the groom, the bride's father, and Mr. Angus D. MacIsaac.

The couple left by car on a honeymoon trip to various parts of the Island. For travelling the bride wore a purple suit with matching feather hat and gloves, black shoes and purse. She wore a corsage of red carnations.
